A SUPER CELEBRATION FOR THE RABB

City OK's Water, Sewer, Road For Atlanta's Industrial Park

Four members of the Atlanta Industrial Development Corp. appeared before the City Council Monday night to ask the city to lay water and sewer lines to the newly acquired industrial park north of town, and also to partially finance the paving of a road to the park.

The four included Jay Sterling Clements, Charles Thompson, Scott Anderson and J. B. Parker.

Clements said committees the non-profit corporation was formed several months ago for the purpose of developing an industrial site in Atlanta, and to get industries to locate here.

He said the 18.3 acre located north of town off Holly Street site already had been purchased and cleared.

Clements added the site presently needs utilities and a paved street to serve the entire 18.3 park.

Thompson said a public announcement will be made in the near future concerning the first industry to be located in the industrial park, and he added two or three additional industries will soon move into the park, as well and they also will need all the water and sewer lines.

Clements told the council the total cost of the water and sewer lines would be approximately $10,000.

Mayor Sonny Roark remarked, "Southwestern Electric Power Company has always said if the city came up with a site, they would come up with the industries."

And Thompson replied, "SWEPCO will not move industry to any town that has industrial park, either."

Parker noted the industry should produce at least 35 new families within the next years, and he added, "A industries are looking for pla to locate in this area becau International Paper is here."

Dr. Jesse Brooks then sta that the city carry water sewer to the Atlanta indus park, and his motion seconded by Burr Legwood.

Clements next asked, the city help in any w road?"

And Roark replied, "It w be a city street. Therefore would be obligated to pa third of the cost."

Clements said total cost of road would be approxima $8,000.

Following a discus concerning changing the n of the road from Brick P Road to Industrial Boulev Legwood moved that the pay a third of the cost of pa Industrial Boulevard. Lawaner McKelvey seconded motion.

The vote was unanimous.

DESPITE COLLAPSE OF WATER PLA[illegible]

Production To Begin Dec. 1 At IP Mill

The workforce of construction activities and the countdown to the beginning of production at International Paper Company's new pulp and paper mill near Atlanta is now in high gear, according to C. A. Brady, mill manager.

Brady said the mill is still expected to be in production by the first of December, even though a concrete wall at the mill collapsed Sunday.

Brady explained the wall was part of a rectangular concrete basin, designed to hold water, which is located in the mill's water treating plant.

The mill manager said the basin was in the process of being filled when it collapsed, and one employee jumped from the wall, cracking his heel. Brady reported the injury was not believed to be serious, and no other employees were injured.

He added, "This won't delay our start of production, because we are bypassing the basin while it is being repaired."

Proposed target date for the beginning of production at the mill, which is one of the newest and most modern industries in East Texas, is a month earlier than the previously projected date.

Brady added several hundred construction workers are putting the final touches on the mill, but this type of work will gradually phase out over the next few weeks.

The mill will include a total of approximately 425 permanent employees when it goes to production, and an additional 600 jobs will be created for loggers and pulpwood producers within a 75-mile radius of the mill.

According to Brady, the loggers will not be employees of International Paper, but they will still want to do the mill through wood dealers.

The mill manager added that most of the company's wood will come from the mill's property, but the majority will come from private property. He said IP's Woodlands Department will handle all the company's arrangements concerning the procurement of wood.

International Paper Company manages extensive forest holding in East Texas, as well as in other southern states.

Located about half way between Atlanta and Texarkana, the mill is situated on a hundred-acre site within a 4,000-acre tract of land owned by International Paper Company. The new pulp and paper mill has been under construction since late in 1969.

IP officials say the mill site is an ideal one, even though it is located in a somewhat isolated area. Two major railroads have lines passing almost within the shadow of the mill, Kansas City Southern to the east, and Texas & Pacific on the west. The mill will draw its fresh water supply from Lake Texarkana, just to the west, and the large tract of IP land around the mill offers more than ample acreage for a facilities for treatment of used water.

As the production date nears, Brady reported that virtually all supervisory employees are now on the job and most administrative jobs have been filled.

"Jobs in our manufacturing and operational services areas are presently being filled," he added.

"The manufacturing and operational services departments' new employees have been undergoing intensive training either on the job at the Cass County mill or at other International Paper Company mills, Brady said. Much of the training of key crew members has been at IP's Pine Bluff, Ark., and Moss Point, Miss., mills. The Pine Bluff mill produces coated milk carton base stock, and the Moss Point mill produces sealed folding carton board. Two of the products the Cass County mill will manufacture.

Built at a cost of $52 million, IP's new Cass County plant has two paper machines with a total production capacity of some 314,000 tons annually. The principal products of the first machine will be milk carton and folding carton stock which will be produced at an average rate of approximately 440 tons per day. The second machine will produce bleached pulp at a rate of about 175 tons per day.

The coated board production from the first machine will be used for production of dairy and food packaging, while the bleached pulp from the second machine will be used for the production of consumer tissue and other products.

Company environmentalists have reported the Cass County mill will be a showcase for demonstration of how industry can be wedded to the environment. The mill has incorporated in its design the latest and best facilities available for air and water management to meet federal, state and local environmental regulations, while company officials have already embarked on a long-range program to convert company

Parking Collections Get Council Study

City Manager Joe McConnell and Police Chief Paul Vaughan discussed the downtown parking problem with the members of the Atlanta City Council Monday night.

"The police have carried out their duties," Chief Vaughan told the council. "We have marked tires and issued parking tickets, and many people have paid, but some don't. The police department has no authority to collect the money for those tickets without a court order."

"We discontinued marking tires three or four weeks ago," the chief continued. "Will the court issue an order for us to collect the money? It don't [illegible] to fine some people and not fine all. We must fine everyone, whether they live in Atlanta or not."

Then Chief Vaughan added, "The police department [illegible] blamed for not enforcing parking ordinance, but [illegible] have all we can. I am asking court to issue papers to [illegible] collect the money for parking tickets."

City secretary Charles [illegible] who would issue the [illegible] such were issued, replied, [illegible] were reluctant to issue an [illegible] for an arrest for only a [illegible] ticket."

Vaughan answered, "If tickets aren't paid, then the [illegible] goes on and it's no longer a [illegible] dollar. But then it isn't fair [illegible] to charge a man living in Atl[illegible] and not charge one living [illegible] Queen City, either."

City attorney James [illegible] asked the council [illegible] decision would have to [illegible] them. But it was not a [illegible] decision.

McConnell suggested council either enforce parking ordinance or [illegible] out.

Councilman Burr Legw[illegible] replied, "There should be [illegible] way to enforce the law."

"We've had about 90 per[illegible] cooperation," Vaughan [illegible] "but a few don't pay, and [illegible] word gets around. We had [illegible] who ran up ten to [illegible] ticket fines, and we [illegible] collect any of it until we [illegible] up on another charge. That [illegible] him pay."

Long replied, "I want a [illegible] order from the council before [illegible] an arrest for a violation [illegible] the parking ordinance. I'll [illegible] a man money and not [illegible] Kaggen. If they don't [illegible] them, we can issue a warrant [illegible] the arrest."

Following more discussion [illegible] the subject, it was the consensus of the council [illegible] "think about it" until their next meeting.

City Approves Qualifications For Employees

A list of physical qualifications that must be met before a person can become employed by the City of Atlanta was adopted by the City Council at the meeting Monday night.

Dr. Tom Taylor, city health officer was commissioned the list to the council, told councilmen the city should require each prospective employee to undergo a physical, and guidelines for that are needed.

"The qualifications won't apply to present employees, just to any new ones," the health officer said, adding, "and they can be modified for persons seeking positions with the city other than that of policeman."

Burr Legwood moved the the council accept Dr. Taylor's prepared list, and the motion was seconded by Lawaner McKelvey.

Qualifications on the list include:

Height: 5'8" to 6'3".

Weight: Must be within normal range as defined by Metropolitan Life Insurance Company, plus or minus 10 per cent.
