

MAROON

seventy-five

ALMA MATER

Hail, Alma Mater.

Hail, ATLANTA HIGH.

Give a cheer now

For our high school

For the school we love so well.

Hail, Alma Mater.

Ours till we die.

We will always remember

Our ATLANTA HIGH.

TOMMY LAVIN

1975 MAROON

Atlanta, Texas

1975

The 1975 MAROON Staff would like to express our sincere thanks for the cooperation of the students and faculty of Atlanta High. Without you this MAROON would not have been possible.

Our special thanks go to our sponsors: Mrs. Aldridge, Mrs. Caudle, and Mrs. Ellis. They have spent many hours helping and coaxing us.

We also wish to thank Mr. Al Dickerson, our photographer, for his time rendered. Our thanks goes to Mr. Bill Turner for the use of many of the Citizen's Journal's pictures and to Miss Jean Johnson and the VOE department for the use of machines, stencils, and correction fluid. We gratefully appreciate all of the teachers who let us out of classes to work on the annual.

This is your 1975 MAROON. We hope that you will enjoy it for many years to come.

THANK YOU, Kay Heath

In years to come, as I look back, how will I remember? Will I remember the year as it was or as I had wished it to be? Will I remember only the happy time or the disappointments we also shared?

Did I express myself to the fullest extent and yet keep an open mind which welcomes the thoughts and opinions of others?

Did I utilize the days and the months to form lasting friendships with others?
Or will the experiences we shared be lost forever with the closing of this book, never to be of benefit to me in a more serious later life?

Will I recall the good times of shared laughter that came from the simple things? Was I alone or was I a real part of them?

This is the beginning of a new day. God has given me this day to use as I will. I can waste it or use it for good.

*What I do today is important because I'm exchanging a day of my life for it. When tomorrow comes,
this day will be gone forever,
leaving in its place something that I have traded for it. I want it to be gain not loss, good not evil, success not failure, living not just existing; in order that I shall not regret the price I paid for it.*

On the Wall of a Cellar in Cologne

I believe in the sun, even when it is not shining;
I believe in love, even when I feel it not;
I believe in God, even when He is silent.

- Anonymous -

A President's Prayer

Let us go forth to lead the land we love, asking His blessing and His help, but knowing that here on earth
God's work must truly be our own.

IP Sets $155 Million Expansion Program

Tentative plans for a $155 million expansion of International Paper Company's Cass County pulp and paper mill, contingent on acquiring the necessary environmental permits, were announced Tuesday.

The announcement was made simultaneously by Gov. Dolph Briscoe in Austin and in Texasarkana by E. E. Ellis Jr., IP vice-president and general manager of its Southern Kraft Division.

According to the announcement, International Paper Company's board of directors met Tuesday in New York City and authorized plans for the major addition, subject to the company's acquiring the necessary environmental permits.

The proposed expansion, which would include modern equipment to protect the environment, would more than double the mill's capacity to produce specialty market pulp and bleached packaging board to meet growing market demand for these products, a company spokesman said.

Scheduled for completion in early 1978, plans call for additions to the mill's wood handling system, primary manufacturing and finished products areas. An estimated 250 new jobs would be created in IP's Cass County operations, as well as an additional 1,500 jobs in woodlands, transportation, other supporting businesses and employee services in East Texas and Southwest Arkansas.

When implemented, the proposed expansion will increase the mill's productive capacity to 330,000 tons per year, and will involve the addition of a 300-inch fourdrinier machine to produce bleached packaging board used to make milk cartons, food and other consumer packaging, along with "Supersoft," a specialty purified pulp used in disposable diapers.

The Cass County mill, which began operations in November 1972, is the newest and most modern of International Paper's 18 U.S. primary pulp and paper mills. It cost $72 million to construct and features some of the most modern equipment and process controls in the pulp and paper industry.

C. A. Brady, manager of the Cass County mill, said the proposed expansion in Cass County is a vote of confidence in the skills and cooperation of IP employees in the Cass County area, and in the business climate of the State of Texas.

The Cass County mill "currently has approximately 470 employees and our employment has remained stable during the two years we have been operating," Brady said. "The expansion will add another 250 jobs to our work force at the mill for a total of about 720 permanent employees. Presently, our annual payroll, including benefits, amounts to some $7 million and this will increase by $3 million for a total of about $10 million when the project is complete."

The IP official added that construction on the new facilities is expected to begin within the next few months, but the necessary environmental permits must be granted first. After these permits are received, IP's engineering group will establish a timetable for the expansion program.

Brady estimated that present IP facilities have created about 2,000 jobs for independent loggers, pulpwood producers and other supporting business and employee service.

"When the proposed expansion is completed, this number should be increased by some 1,500 for a total of 4,300 jobs that will exist outside of the mill proper in the adjacent area in East Texas and Southwest Arkansas," Brady explained.

"Of course with the increase in production there will also be an increase in wood purchase and consumption," he said.

The Cass County mill "currently purchases about 100,000 cubic feet of wood a year," he said.

program amounts to $155 million. That is more than double the original mill investment," Ellis said.

"Much of that increased cost can be attributed to the inflationary trend which we are all experiencing. A commitment to invest $155 million is not made hastily. All of the ramifications and possibilities must be taken into consideration before a final decision is made."

"Our nation's mills, factories and offices form the sinews of a strong and vital economy. These facilities exist solely to serve the needs and wants of customers and in doing so provide jobs for thousands of people. Our ability to make such massive investments depends upon the expectation of earning and adequate and just return on that investment. Our ability to do that depends on a great complexity of know-how, resources and more importantly public and political understanding."

"Certainly this is so for the expansion we are announcing today. For example, we must continue to have raw materials to supply this mill. Yet, we must also be able to supply the raw materials by proposed expansion."

IP EXPANDING—E. E. Ellis, left, and C. A. Brady tell of coming expansion of IP mill in Cass County at Tuesday news conference in Texasarkana.

Trustees Air Two Problems

A pair of problem areas, both involving safety of Atlanta students, caught the attention of the school board at a regular meeting here Tuesday night.

The first involved a recent alarming increase in the number of drivers passing school buses. The other concerned the danger of children walking in front of the junior high school on the main street area during the winter months. Immediate action was requested on both situations.

Ass. Richard Johnson, driver who had passed a stopped bus had been arrested in the past few days, but he said, "we need some way to stop this kind of thing before a tragedy happens."

He suggested a committee be appointed to meet with parents when necessary not only on situations involving safety of the children, but also on the school's rules about student behavior on buses.

However, board members said they felt the entire board would meet on any problem involving the safety of children or the school's policies on buses.

Johnson said he had asked all bus drivers to take down license numbers of persons driving past stopped school buses. "We are going to let the law know about it," he said.

On the other problem, the danger involved in children walking in the street from junior high during noon hour, the board was told that an announcement had been made to students stating that any child stopped by police would be brought to school and parents notified of the danger.

"We have no control over children after they leave the campus," Supt. George Haggard said. "But we can notify their parents if police bring them to us when they are endangering themselves or others."

Board members said another way to control the problem would be to go to a "closed campus" policy which would not allow children to leave the school during school hours.

Consensus was that if the recent announcement to students did not improve the situation, the board would "seriously consider" the closed campus policy for junior high at its December meeting.

In other discussion, the board accepted the annual audit report, noting that the only deficiency reported was the amount of bond set up for the tax collector. Supt. Haggard said the present $10,000 bond would be increased immediately to meet requirements and coincide with the amount of money being handled on busset days in the tax office.

Details of the audit will be reported in Sunday's Journal.

The board also agreed to put the school

Local Grocery Hit By Armed Bandits

A trio of hoodlums took an undisclosed sum of money from the Fifi-A-Bil No. 2 grocery on West Main in an armed robbery that took place Friday night while the store was open for business.

According to Mrs. Ralph Higgs, who with her husband manages the grocery, her husband was alone in the store when three black people, two men and one woman, entered the store at 8:30 p.m. Friday.

Mrs. Higgs reported the woman entered the store first and made sure no customers were there, then gave an okay sign to the men waiting outside. Both of the men had guns, she said, adding that she was at the bank of the building when the trio entered and pulled a gun on her husband. Mrs. Higgs then entered the store from the back while the robbery was in progress and the bandits also pulled a gun on her.

One of the men held a gun to the back of my head and forced me to back room," Mrs. Higgs said, telling me, "One crooked little I'll blow your damn head off."

Mrs. Higgs added that her own entrance from the back of the store surprised the trio and created confusion.

The two who remained in the front took all the money from the register, a fled on foot toward Walnut Street, which runs beside the grocery store.

Mrs. Higgs said they didn't even call the man who was holding the gun on her but he too, fled in foot moments later. The store owners surmised the bandits had a getaway car parked on the side street. They added that they had no descriptions of the bandits except that the woman was carrying a large bag.

The Atlanta Police Department investigated the robbery, and Chief Charles Wisdom reported Tuesday no arrests had been made but the case was still under investigation.

McLEOD PRINCIPAL'S OFFICE

A Woman Occupies It

BY BETH TAYLOR

With schools being sent to the principal's office can be a traumatic experience to the life of an elementary school child, while to the other hand there are some schools where it can be considered a great, and possibly an opportunity to take over some difficult situations in both private and school life.

Such is probably the case at McLeod Elementary school, where the principal is a strikingly attractive 29-year-old blonde Atlanta woman, Marilyn Felkins, who is usually the only female school administrator in the Cass County School System.

Marilyn possesses all the charm and poise one might expect to find in a Miss

Atlanta candidate, combined with a love for children, and a dedication to their scholastic training.

"I must confess my desire to teach began practically when I was in diapers," the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Travis Pritchard of Atlanta said. "Mother was a teacher, she started teaching when she was 17-years-old before she got her degree, and now teaches in the open classroom second grade at Atlanta Primary School."

Following her graduation from Atlanta High School, Marilyn attended Texasarkana College and East Texas State University at Commerce, where she received her bachelor's and masters degrees with very little time out for what she referred to as "nonsense."

"I started teaching at McLeod in the fall of 1967," she said, "where I taught remedial reading for five years. When I went into the regular fifth and sixth grade classroom in the 1973-74 school year, I also was chosen as principal of the elementary school."

She modestly takes no particular credit for having been promoted to the administrative position despite her youth.

"The job was there to be done, and I wanted to do it," she said. "Even though I was younger in years than some of the other female teachers, I had more teaching seniority at the school, and I imagine this was one of the contributing factors."

How does she handle severe discipline problems? "Oddly enough," she replied, "we hardly have any serious discipline problems. But I do spend a lot of time in and out of class talking to my students as a friend instead of a disciplinarian and authoritative figure. I encourage my student's to care about one another. And more significantly, I try to teach them that people are more important than things. When you can impress upon a child that selfishness plays a useful part in his future, you can make a better adult out of him, I think," she added.

Mrs. Felkins also says she has a close relationship with her mother, and so can keep in contact with another school system which is much larger than the McLeod system.

"When I learn about some of the totally different sorts of problems larger schools are confronted with, I see that my problems are practically nil compared to what they could be. They never look very big to me, and I keep constantly reminding myself, 'you have it good kid.'"

There are advantages, as well as disadvantages, to teaching in a small school, according to Mrs. Felkins.

"Probably in my instance, the greatest advantage I have is the cooperation I have with the three teachers and the aide under my supervision," she said. Mrs. Emma Gabbard is the first and second grade teacher, Mrs. Lattie Jones teaches the third and fourth grades, Jewell Allen teaches social studies, and in addition to her principalship, Mrs. Felkins is fifth
