Summer Goodness

*This is a good place
to be*

*Among pine trees
in a cool shade*

*With white clouds
under blue skies,*

*Brown rolls of hay
on green meadows,*

*And a clear pond
beyond pink mimosa blossoms.*

*Oh, this is a good place
to be*

*Among pine trees
in a cool shade*

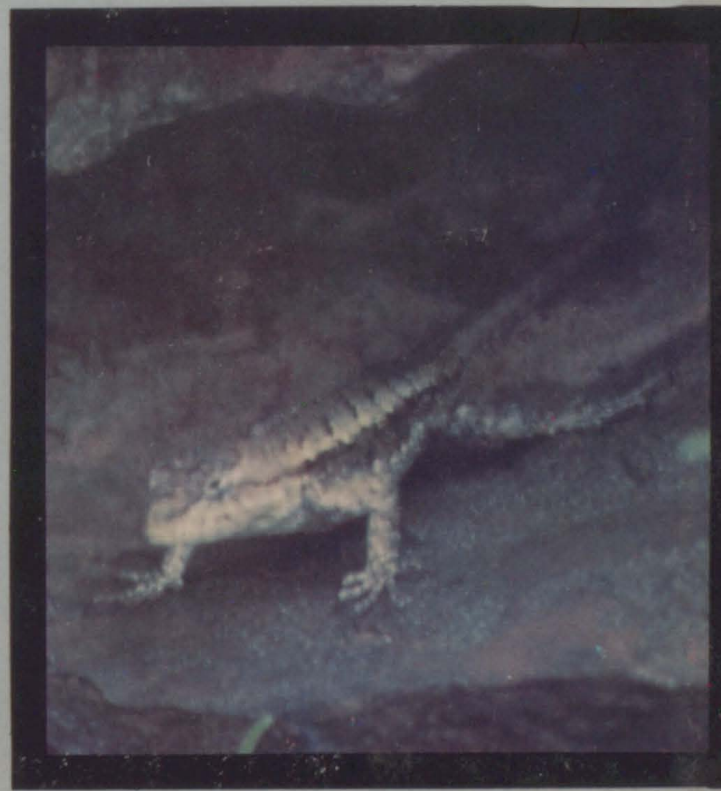

With my dreams.

Reflections of Summer

1981 Maroon

ATLANTA HIGH SCHOOL

*Atlanta Independent School District
Atlanta, Texas*

At last, after eight months of work, we, the 1981 Maroon Staff, present to you this year's edition. Much time, effort and hard work has been put into this single publication set forth for your enjoyment.

Special thanks go to our sponsors, Mrs. Caudle and Mrs. Pratt. Thanks must also be given to the administration, faculty, students and local townspeople.

Nineteen eighty-one has been a special year for those of us at Atlanta High. Therefore, it is the staff's wish that the following pages have recorded special moments from the past year.

And now, we present to you — the 1981 Maroon.

PEOPLE

Elizabeth Caudle . . .

Her pursuance of excellence and refusal to accept less than the student's best followed from her own example. Perhaps, more than anything else, she stressed responsibility, a disciplined approach to problems that goes beyond the classroom. She taught us not only how to speak, read, and write good English, but also what it means to struggle, to refuse to give in to difficulties. She believed in order, knowing that effective expression is best nurtured within that climate. She taught us respect for authority for one's fellow, and for one's self. Like Socrates' gad-fly, she refused to let go, to compromise her own best principles and because of that we return our love and respect to a woman who is Teacher, in the truest sense of that word.

Rachel, are you always smiling?

Next step, championship wrestling:

Got a tiger by the head.

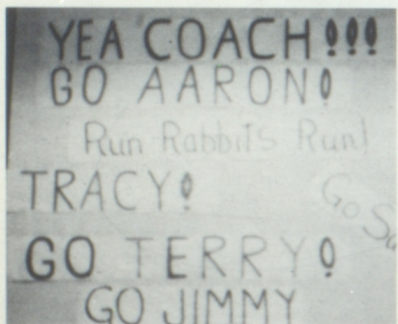

What? Show you my underalls???

You saw Steve with WHO?

Don't believe everything you read!

Go Team!!

Help me Charles!!

Hey, Charlotte, it's the 1980's.

Cindy, do not read me any more dirty parts.

I am not working today!

I am not doing anything

I like what I see!

Hey Man!!

Since when did you take over the class, Sherita?

Fifth period is actually working!!

Looking at Lisa, again?

Algebra is such a laugh!

I must keep the girls in annual in line!

Don't fall asleep, MaryAnn!

Together again . . .

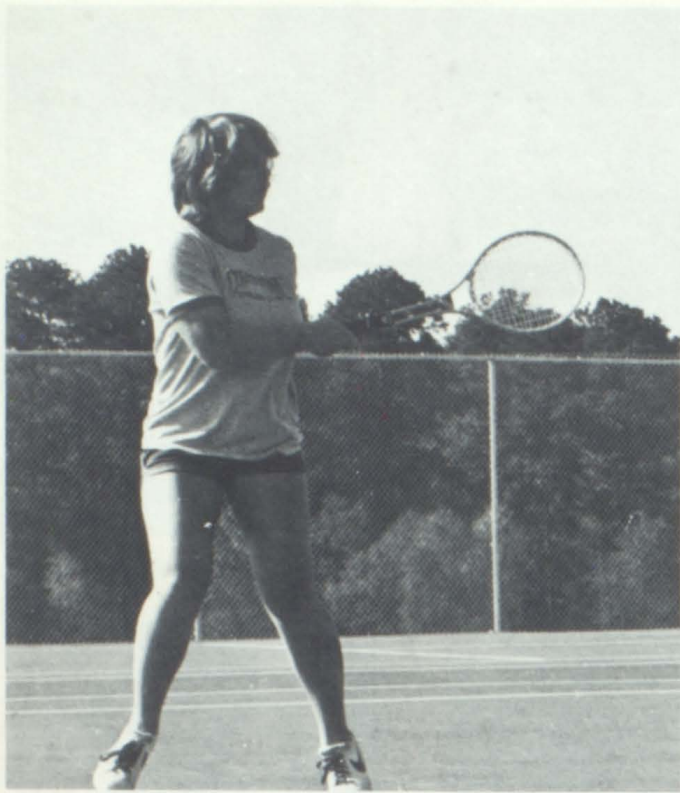

Always Studying!

That was our point!!

Caught you this time!

Hit it hard, Cindy!!!

If I were you . . . I would not worry.

Small people have brains too!!!

Early to rise . . .

I don't understand?

I do not think I would type that!!

I am so tired of this class.

Sorry, Winnie, it is all mine!!

Only thinking of Judith . . .

Finger licking good!!!

What are you telling NOW?

Cry on my shoulder.

Sleeping Beauty . . .

Do not tell me that!

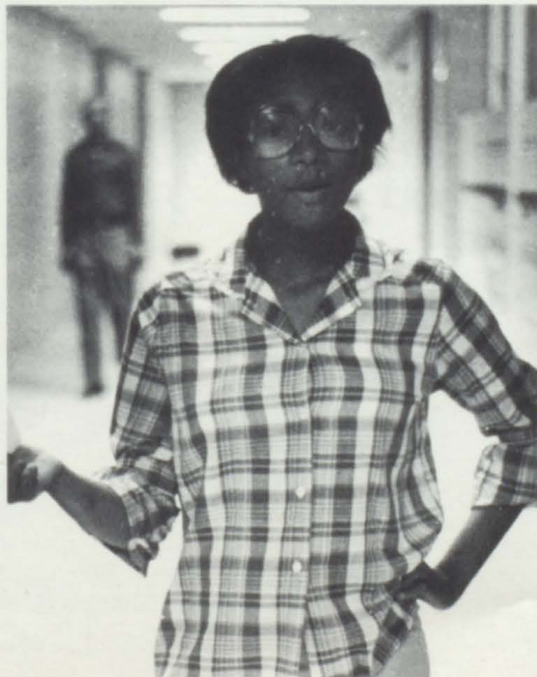

I did not do anything!

New SENIOR dance!!!

I heard the news!

Well, it goes like this . . .

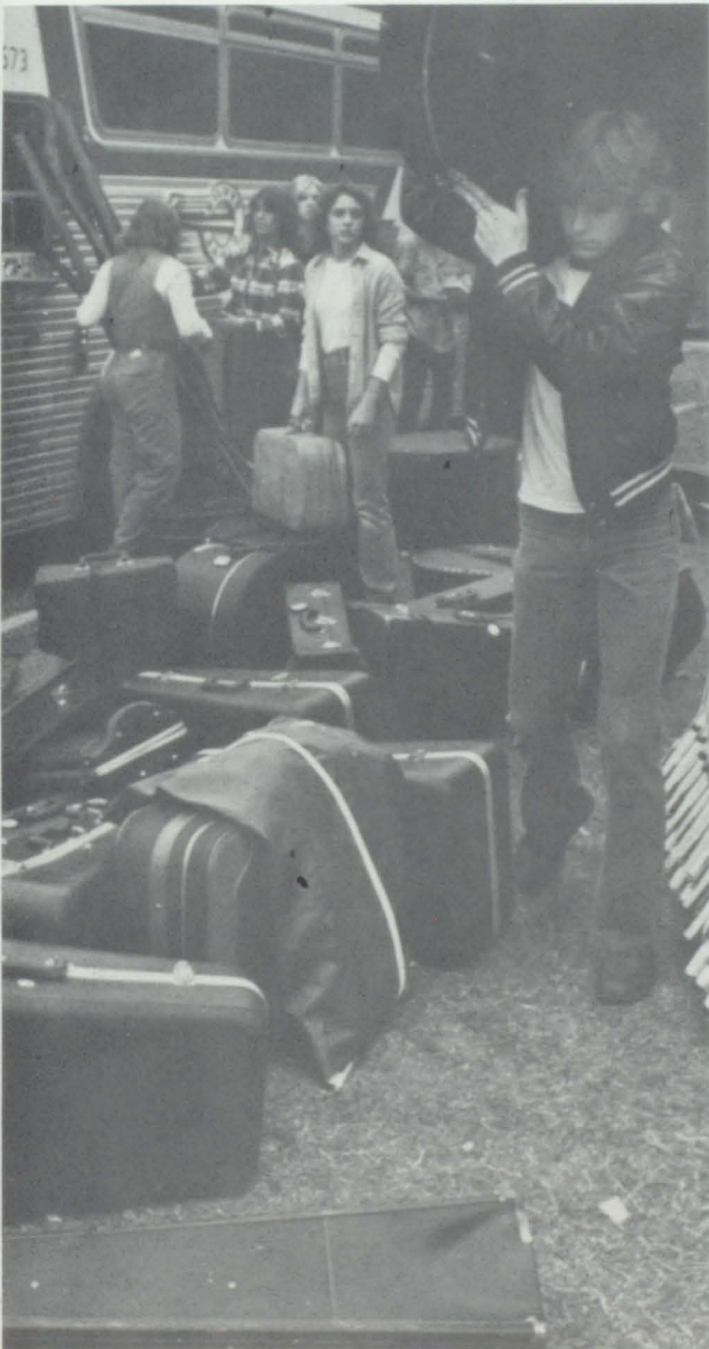

I know that I am right!

Sweet dreams!

Life Is A Stairway to Death

Life is a stairway to death
that holds a door at the end.
Not know when it comes,
or if, or when.

But there will be a day
when the door will come,
and it wouldn't matter
if you're young or old.

It don't ask questions
and has no replies,
for you have no sayso,
for if you live or die.

Band Contest Planned In Camden, Ark. Nov. 1

The Big Bad Band from Rabbitsland will travel to Camden, Ark. Saturday, Nov. 1, to compete in the Camden Invitational Marching Contest. The band has been practicing hard every day during band and on Monday nights in hopes that they will receive a first division—and from there, on to a sweepstakes. This summer while everyone else was lying in bed in a cool house, the band was out sweating on the practice field getting ready for the first ballgame, weeks away. They practiced from 8:30 a.m. until around 11:30 a.m. a few weeks before school started.

When school started, they practiced Monday and Thursday nights from 6:30 to 8 until they learned the drill pretty well, and now they only practice on Monday nights.

During school hours while the band members are in class, Charles Herring, AHS band director, is working hard to make the drill look nicer to the fans and most importantly to the judges.

Bob Chapman, junior high band director, is the color guard coordinator and if you are wondering what color guard is, it's just the corps style of saying flags and rifles.

In size, the band has slightly decreased by about six members.

The band consists of around 106 instrument players, 10 majorettes, 22 flags and, of course, the two drum majors.

The drum majors went to camp this summer to learn the basics of leading a corps style band among other things.

Now you know what goes into being one of the best—a lot of hard work, sweat, practice and that special ingredient—pride.

Heath Is A 'Winner'

CURTIS HEATH was the best dressed 'girl' during the 'Greenhand' initiation Monday night. His prize was the return of his $6 membership dues.

Greenhand Initiation Draws 'Pretty Girls'

By ANDY RUSHING

With the Feminist Movement constantly turning women onto men's clothes and ways, it is not often that the situation is reversed.

The Atlanta Future Farmers of America decided to do an about-face Monday night when the annual 'Greenhand' initiation featured a mock beauty pageant with all male contestants dressed in women's clothing.

The 'best dressed' of the first-year agriculture students was Curtis Heath who, as grand prize winner, had his $6 membership dues returned.

Two females, Katie Randolph and Susan Savage, participated by dressing as clowns with the judges calling a tie and returning both girl's dues.

The 40 contestants were marched in groups of 10 before the second- and third-year FFA members who acted as judges.

Presiding over the first chapter meeting of the year were officers Timmy Pennington, president; Todd Elliot, vice president; Chuck Rawlings, secretary; Steve Wiley, treasurer; Todd Griffin, sentinel; and Timmy Wiley, reporter.

"Overall, the initiation went well," said Pennington, who also mentioned that the first official meeting is to be held in three weeks.

Brotherly 'Love'

By LAUREN RICE

It's Christmas morning as I jovially leap down the stairs of our 3-story house. I was 5 years old when I took those flights of stairs to see what Santa Claus had bestowed under our aluminum tree. Like most 5-year-olds, I believed in Santa Claus.

Sure, everyone knows that having two older brothers one can expect the usual teasing and practical jokes. Well, it just so happened that as I finally reached the bottom, I ran to see what I had long awaited for during the holidays.

To my surprise there sat a large bag of switches that seemed to distract from the snickers that came from my "loving" brothers. As I stared dumbfoundedly at the monstrosity, it suddenly dawned on me that I had been a good girl and this "present" was not a gift from St. Nick, but from Phil and Chuck.

I was always the guinea pig of their tricks. As a child, I obtained the nickname "Lulu" only because they couldn't pronounce Lauren.

I'll NEVER forget the day I entered the "Winter Olympics." As my brothers) threw as close to me as possible without puncturing my wrists or other parts of my anatomy.

The act was postponed though as my hysterical mother ran out of the house and halted the performance over the objections of all the neighborhood kids. Then my brothers actually had the gall to ask me to refund the audiences' money!

THEN THERE was the time I was recruited, or shall I say "drafted" into the army. They were engaged in a B.B. gun war with the kids up the street.

The "war" consisted of many mock battles with numerous window panes being shot out of every family's house. This resulted in my mother getting involved as a peacemaker.

So to stop an all-out war resulting in "nuclear attack" we decided the final battle would take place in a vacant lot behind our house. I was appointed as "assistant catapult launcher." (My job consisted of loading our catapult...which was a mimosa limb with a paint rollerbrush container, filled with nails, attached in case my brother Chuck was felled by enemy fire.)

I was scared of having my eye shot out by a stray B.B. but Phil quickly

Summer Goodness

*This is a good place
to be*

*Among pine trees
in a cool shade*

*With white clouds
under blue skies,*

*Brown rolls of hay
on green meadows,*

*And a clear pond
beyond pink mimosa blossoms.*

*Oh, this is a good place
to be*

*Among pine trees
in a cool shade*

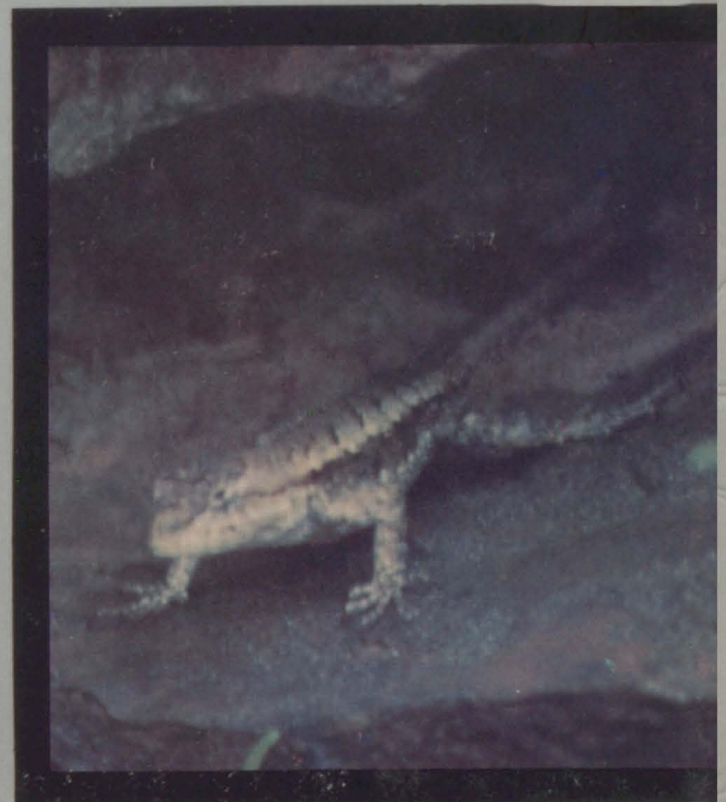

With my dreams.
