Once Upon A Time...

We walked into school arms loaded down with cameras, name tag stickers and plenty of ideas.

We had argued our side the year before to continue the tradition of freshman initiating, succeeding by agreeing to initiate only the 'fish' whom they and their parents did not mind.

On the first day of school we waited impatiently for the 'fish' to walk through the point of no return — High School. Like the sign read when they first walked through the doors: "No Mommies Past This Point."

As the year progressed, we and/or our parents shelled out money left and right to buy long awaited cap and gowns, graduation announcements, senior portrait pictures, Junior Senior Banquet tickets; Prom tickets, tuxes and prom dresses. Plus the tell-tale baby ads from our parents.

We cherish the memories made throughout the year. Pep rallies, sports events, bonfires, UIL meets, school dances. Not to mention the memories made in class with teachers and friends.

We are and were the Atlanta High School Class of 1998 and it all happened . . .

As part of the initiation, the freshmen opted to be initiated into the Junior-Senior Union by the freshmen.

Lindsey McLean and Leanne Taylor painted the Senior "No Mommies" sign.

Once Upon A Time . . .

The seniors show their signs during the pep rally at the first pep rally.

Two hours of planning in the school hallway with a few dead ends. The students and teachers worked hard to make a memorable event for the school. The event was a success.

ASPECTS OF RABBIT LIFE

Daniel Hazelwood and Janie Sellers smile for the camera as Stephen Smith yells, "I AM NOT LYING!!!"

Lies escape everyone's mouth at one time or another. They have become a refuge for us teens that need a quick "get out of trouble free" card.

Students at Atlanta High School are no exception. Some hilarious — and not rarely unbelievable — stories have been made up in order to cover a missed curfew, a new dent in the family car, or a day of school mysteriously missed with no parents' note.

But the stumbling-block in all teenagers' cover-ups is that no matter how great the stories sound in our heads, they always seem so dumb when they clash with the impassable lie-detector force field that surrounds the parents. It eats our lies up and spits them back at us with two weeks without the car, our friends, or that beloved instrument that has become as close as a third ear. It's just not fair! We need answers!

So here, in the first-ever unscientific tally of lies in AHS, students tell all. But don't believe anything on these two pages — the "Pinocchio effect" begins now...

To lie or not to lie? Brooke Dawkins ponders the question.

Alaina Roraback and Carrie Miller give their best "Come on, Mom! We're not lying" look.

Remember eighth grade graduation? All of us, arms thrown around each other's necks, while forming a huge circle in the middle of the high school cafeteria, with smiles wide enough to crack our faces, sang "Anytime you need a friend" so loudly we drowned out Mariah Carey, and silently made a vow never to grow apart from our childhood friends. However, we all did, even if unconsciously, and it took us four years in high school to grow close again. How could you not give a slow smile or shed a sentimental tear while remembering all the experience we collected over the years? Who could forget standing on an "X" for Mrs. Knox or only getting to talk during the green light in the cafeteria? What about playing in Connect Four tournaments with Mr. "D" or all those crazy fashion fads we invented? (ponytails on just one side, T-Shirt ties, splatter painted everything, and slap bracelets, of course!) Junior high was a whole new world of lockers, changing classes, a teacher who sang that unforgettable song "Happy Friday," and first football games and band performances. While in high school, the class of 1998 acquired a spirit for not only our school but for one another, and it is that spirit that brought us close again. Even the members of the faculty surprisingly commented concerning how they have never seen a class work so hard WITH one another to pull off such an original, successful Junior/Senior Banquet. Not to mention all the times we met to paint cars, halls, and each other to support our school, and when we all sacrificed our early mornings and after school time to help with the latest fundraiser. We all have memories; each of us has our own special one. But no matter what your memory is, add that 8th grade graduation moment to it. That pure feeling of togetherness we all felt is one to hold in our hearts for all time.

Until the End...

If the yearbook staff requested a short answer to the question, "What is a friend?" to all the members of Atlanta High School, we would most likely receive as many different opinions as there are students, all unique yet true. In a nutshell, a friend is simply always there for you, no matter what the consequences or circumstances. To get more specific, most would probably agree that a friend is the person who risks weekend punishment when you wake up their house at 1:00 a.m. simply because you just couldn't sleep and had to talk. Or what about that best friend who laughs every time you tell your favorite joke to a group of people, although the punchline hardly cracks a smile? A true friend thinks nothing of it to lend you their last dollar, because they know without a doubt you'd do the same. (Especially when the circumstance involves an automobile, a carload of people, and no money for gas!) Whether it be our first morning of kindergarten or that anticipated evening of graduation, a friend is someone who will always be there to lend a shoulder.

Joey Barnes and Kristy Laster show school spirit by wearing matching hats on "Hat Day" during Homecoming Spirit Week.

Lindsey Elder, Joanne Cothren, Joni Weathersby, and Susan Flippo share a little birthday cake on Joanne's 18th birthday.

Senior Student Council behind it all

The Senior Student Council. They're the ones who are willing to do everything in their power simply to give a great prom. No matter what the cost, the seven members of this club realize how important that one night is, and go the extra mile to pull it off.

Along with the help of other dedicated Seniors, the student council organized new, original, and successful fundraisers, even going as far as to get up an hour earlier to sit at the high school and collect aluminum cans. And they were willing to give up what could have been hours of fun on Halloween for hours of selling Neon Glow Rings to trick-or-treaters in downtown Atlanta!

They pestered you until you bought a Rabbit Gram pronouncing your love to your girlfriend, and convinced you to buy not only a Rabbit T-shirt, but matching towels, umbrellas, watches, and even a milestone pin for your grandmother. But they did it all for you.

And prom was a blast, don't you think?

If you were a character in a fairy tale, who would you be and why?

"I would like to be Cinderella because even though her stepsisters did her bad, she still kept her self-confidence. Cinderella is also very beautiful inside and out. She inspired me to not let anyone get me down no matter what and that's the self-esteem and self-confidence that every person should have." — Shamika Thomas

"I would be Cinderella, because her dreams come true. In the beginning, she is a poor girl, then her fairy god mother helps her out, and she ends up with the prince - happily ever after." — Alaina Roraback

"I would want to be the wolf on The Three Little Pigs. Then I could eat one of them rascals because I hate the pigs." — Keith Whatley

'I would be Snow White so the prince could kiss me!' — Amy McAlexander

April Boswell

'Prince Charming, he gets to kiss all of the fine women, marry them and live happily ever after.' — Joey Barnes

Once upon a time...

Jack climbed up a beanstalk to reach the castle in the sky.

He was courageous and adventurous and achieved his dreams. Although we cannot always tell what might hide behind every cloud, we know with the right education and background, we can slay all "I can slay that giant, I know I can."

our giants. The underclassmen at Atlanta are being prepared to slay their giants, and hopefully, with determination, courage, and an adventurous spirit, they, too, will find their castle in the sky.

Atlanta's School Board members include: Veloria Nanze, Tom Granberry, Tim O'Kelly, Mike Giesler, Kathleen Verscholytle, Daryl Frost, and Lee Stanley.

One STUDENT sits at a desk. She listens to her TEACHER and smiles at her PRINCIPAL in the halls. At noon she goes to the cafeteria to eat lunch. She takes a tray from one of the CAFETERIA LADIES and goes to sit down. After lunch, the little girl goes outside for recess and passes a CUSTODIAN mopping the floor. At 3:30, the bell sounded and she headed for the bus. The BUS DRIVER greeted her arrival. Once the driver let the last kid off the bus, he headed for the bus pen where a member of MAINTENANCE was going to change the oil in his bus.

The Many Faces of the Class Of 2000

"It's just another year," was heard constantly by the new sophomore class of 1997-98 at the beginning of the school year. But as the seasons changed, so did the attitudes of the class of 2000, and they began to realize the advantages of moving up to a higher level of education; they actually received some respect! There was no more carrying trays or following orders from seniors this year; sophomores were able to enjoy the benefits of their 10th year, such as receiving a drivers license or going out on a first date. Sophomores, your high school career is now officially half-way over; I hope the second half will hold as many memories as the first.

I have to give it to the freshmen class of 1997-1998, they've endured their year as fish better than any group in the past. No matter what the spirit day was, members of the freshmen class were sure to show up clad in colored hair, pajamas, or hats that touched the ceiling. By showing such dedication to one another and to their school, this year's freshmen class made the year for all the seniors memorable, and will carry those crazy memories with them until they receive their diplomas in the year 2001.

A LEADER IS A PERSON

who is able to overcome pressure, withstand hard times, and still outshine others along the way. Just as the Pied Piper led millions of children out of Hamelin in the fairy tale, the leaders of Atlanta High School shine to the top with the formations of numerous clubs. Organizations

"I enjoy being in a lot of different clubs because it gives me something to do with my free time." — Rhiannon Hull, Spanish Club President ranging from work-related activities to classroom duties to hobby-affiliated get-togethers are open to students from their freshman year until their graduation. Fund-raisers, dances, and organized meetings are considered "the norm" for a member of any club. Teacher-sponsored but student-led, these organizations recognize the leaders — those who are willing to go the extra mile with their interests.

The fairy tale starts here...

Editor Heather Dickey takes her job very seriously: "Yes, people! Your layouts were due yesterday!!!"

Senior Joanne Cothren sorts the sophomore's pictures as she prepares her layout.

A smile and a wave come from Rhiannon Hull, who is a first-year member of the yearbook staff.

Every member of Atlanta ISD — the students, the staff, the parents — waits for every year to slowly end for one reason: the next volume of the Atlanta High School Yearbook. The pictures that captured what a million words couldn't describe, the quotes that say what a million pictures couldn't catch on film. Memories are captured, preserved, and mounted on the glossy pages of the book that so many have come to love. But who creates this masterpiece, this priceless work of art? This year, twelve AHS students and one strong-willed English teacher spent countless hours bent over blank layout pages and then even more in front of the blinding computer screen trying to meet the standards of what has become AISD's most beloved production. The outcome? A splendid seventy-fourth volume of the Atlanta High School Maroon.

"I like yearbook because we get to see it before everyone else does." — Julie Frost

STATISTICS PRE-CAL CALCULUS

Brandi Ouzts (left), a statistics class member, and Catherine Clayton, a calculus survivor, smile for the camera as they go home to face all of Coach White's exasperating homework.

Out of a class of one hundred and twenty-five students, only six were strong enough to face Coach White's infamous calculus class. From left are LaDrunekia Henderson, Kristy Laster, Matt Walls, and Catherine Clayton. Not pictured are John Burba and Joey Barnes.

Missy Moore and Lindsey Johnson show what pre-cal is all about by reading newspapers and talking to friends.

Cheerleaders

The Spirit Behind the Games

With Lindsay Johnson in the lead, the Varsity cheerleaders run the Atlanta flags down the field to rally spirit at the Linden game. These flags were donated to the squad and have become a tradition at football games.

Cheerleaders — ditzzy airheads? I don't think so! Hard-working athletes? Definitely! From running miles and doing the same cheers and stunts for hours at practice to cheering and stunting all four quarters of a football game to decorating the school until 9:00 at night, it could easily be said that cheerleading is an all-around tough job. The cheerleaders are the girls behind the scenes, responsible for the hall signs, the pep rallies, and the bonfires. It takes a lot of dedication and stamina to be a cheerleader. The faint of heart need not apply!!

The junior varsity cheerleaders are all smiles as they take a quick break after a hard day at camp.

Lay-out and design by Rhiannon Hull

During lunch after a hard work-out at camp, Julie Drake and Joni Weathersby take a quick pose for the camera. The two have been good friends for a long time and are often seen together.

The Varsity squad flashes those smiles as they face the freezing temperatures to cheer the Atlanta football team on against the Linden Tigers. Nerves were high because many knew this might be their last high school game.

Andi Thompson cheers on the JV football team at one of their many games. The JV cheerleaders had double duty from cheering for the 9th grade and JV football.

Mascot, Ashlee Shaddy, struts her stuff in one of Atlanta's pep rallies. Ashlee won many awards at camp for her creative skits.

Once upon a time...

Just as John Henry used strength and determination, so do the sports teams at AHS.

Practice makes perfect. Sports players at Atlanta know these words ring true because they live them. Sweat, determination, blood, and tears are the ingredients to each person who wears the infamous Atlanta uniforms to any sporting event. When others see the maroon and white players, they know to beware. AHS has created a reputation of winning, just as John Henry beat the locomotive with his bare hands. Any player wearing the Atlanta colors should feel proud...they are among the few who deserve to do so.

Basketball is a sport in which integrity, mixed with a little pride, a lot of heart, and occasionally some tears, accepts only those who are willing to give it everything they've got. The 1997-1998 Runnin' Rabbs proved themselves worthy of any and all bragging rights this season, especially after the 70-40 win over Linden.....it was a way Atlanta could redeem itself after football season. But no matter if the scoreboard showed a Rabbit win or loss, the T-shirts worn by the team year round summed it up — "Who you with? A-Town!"

CROSS COUNTRY

A New Tradition Begins... While an Old One Continues

HIGHLIGHTS

1. Sarah Haydel dominated the district race.
2. Guys swept the district race, winning the 11th consecutive district title
3. Girls captured first-ever district title.
4. Haydel edged out victory in the region race with time of 12:05.
5. Plagued with horrible running conditions and up against more experienced runners, Haydel won 8th at the state meet.

The Girls

The AHS 1997 Girls Cross Country Team started a new tradition by capturing the district title. Led by Sarah Haydel, the team went on to region where they fell to more experienced teams; however, Haydel did win the regional race — making her the first Atlanta athlete to do so. Haydel then went on to the state meet where she won 8th place.

The Guys

The 1997 AHS Cross Country team continued a long tradition at AHS by once again capturing the district title. It was a year to remember, filled with fun and competition with the highlight of sweeping the district meet. The team then traveled to region where Timothy Davis led them to a fifth place team win.

eight graders it's second star to the right and straight on toward High School. For all the students in Atlanta AMS these years have been and will be an experience never to be forgotten. All their Captain Hook battles and all their Tinkerbell moments will be cherished for all time.

Eighth Grade

Rulers of the School

THE BOYS! Blake Crow, Thad Robison, Eric Lummus, Bo Price, Nate McWilliams, Marcus Coats, and Cody Giesler pose for a quick shot on their way outside at lunch.

BALANCE! To show off their balancing skill, Michelle Dillon, Lynlee Manley, Megan Christensen, Katherine Endsley, Amanda Gmy, Amy Bergt, Brooke Ward, and Anne Fruge build a pyramid for the camera.

SMILE! Johnny Madlock flashes his pearly whites as he makes his way toward the tennis courts.

The eighth grade year is a year for leaving old traditions and preparing for new adventures. In the beginning the students breathe a sigh of relief because finally they are the "seniors" of the school and can show seniority over all the other grades. The days are soon filled with class work, homework, pep rallies, football games, and spending time with friends. Time seems to fly, and suddenly the students realize they are experiencing their final days at AMS. They have their last middle school Atlanta/Queen City football game, their last ABBIT assembly, and their last band concert. These eighth graders know that they are saying "goodbye" to all of the things of the middle school, but they will always treasure the memories made at Atlanta Middle School as they embrace their new life as freshmen at Atlanta High School.

SURPRISE! Hollee Byers is caught by the camera as she escapes into the library for peace and quiet during her lunch.

Seventh Grade: Stuck In The Middle

Robert Stubbs, Bradley Coats, and Lucas Wilson enjoy the fun and festivities at the Forest Festival.

The seventh grade class returned to AMS no longer being the lowest ones on the ladder. They still had not quite made it to the top either, which made this a year in the middle. As some prepared for their first football game, others prepared to lead the school by closely watching the eighth graders. For most, if not all, this year in the middle was a year of change.

Josh Hawley in deep thought: "Now what's my combination?"

These girls are happy to smile for the camera—they will do almost anything to escape P.E.

Sixth Grade

▼ John David Attaway turns to say hello before heading to class.

The 1997-98 school year was a time of new adventures for the class of 2004. For the first time in their lives, these sixth graders experienced the true joy of lockers and a different teacher every 45 minutes. On the downside, they also encountered nine-week tests and only one recess. Some students learned to play a musical instrument in band while others received music education in a music class. For the first time, these students went to both P.E. and a music class everyday. The class of 2004 is now ready to become seventh graders at Atlanta Middle School and help the class of 2005 through the same experiences.

The Middle School Student Council is an organization of the leaders of the school. These students were elected to this organization by their peers. The Student Council also helps their community and school in several ways. At Christmas time, they sponsor a food drive to collect food for the needy families in the area. The Student Council buys flags for the school to replace ones that have been worn out, they deliver gifts to students on campus, and they escort visitors around the school. These students stay busy with the various projects sponsored by their organization.

Cheerleaders

Being a cheerleader takes hard work, dedication, and a positive attitude. The cheerleaders have to take time out of an already busy schedule to make time for practices, competitions, and games. They also have to keep up the spirits of both the teams and fans even when things aren't going so well. It isn't easy to be a cheerleader, but those who choose to be one are taught a lot about responsibility and themselves.

Josh Hogan and D'Marcus Hamilton work on their experiment in science class.

Fifth Grade . . . a time for learning, a time for playing, and a time to begin planning for the upcoming years. Some parents think that their little fifth grader is very dependant on others, when in fact these young adults have minds of their own. Although these youth are small in size, they are quite capable of making most of their decisions. They know right from wrong, and they know when enough is enough. These future sixth-graders know that now is the time to begin planning their future.

Mrs. Washington and Mrs. Cullins discuss the homework they assigned their classes to do.

D R I H T G R A D E

Summer was officially over. On August 11th, 1997 the third graders of the 1997-98 school year walked through the doors of Atlanta Elementary for the first time. Their short summer was over, and they were back for another nine months of school. This meant new teachers, a new principal and more friends. They looked forward to the upcoming school year with anticipation. After all, school is basically fun and games, right?

Alise Perkins, Kayla Heard, Ashala Fields, and Tamara Richardson take a minute to smile for the camera.

What do you like the most about school?

"I like the teachers."
— Steven Dodder

"I like to play."
— Jordan Murphy

"I like Mrs. Asher because she gives us candy."
— Sheridan Garner

This year the third graders will change class for the first time. Mrs. Welch's class lines up quietly for the "Big Switch."

Work and Play

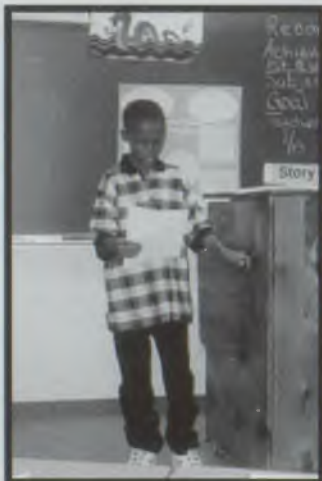

▲Melissa Endsley reaches the sky at recess.

►Fourth grade students take turns at the microphone in their Christmas play.

▼A group of fourth graders prepare to sing in the chorus.

The school year is always a mixture of work and of play. At Atlanta Elementary School, there is no exception. Students here juggle their classwork, like reports and reading books, with their fun time, such as recess and class plays. This balance helps to make going to school both challenging and entertaining. This year, the fourth grade put on a play called "The Elves' Impersonator." At practice and the dress performance, members of the chorus, as well as 'Elfis' himself, sang their hearts out. They all put in a lot of work to make the Christmas play that no one will soon forget.

▲Lyndo Jones, an AES fifth grader, gives a report to his class.

▲Fourth graders at AES rehearse for the production of their play, "The Elves' Impersonator."

Once Upon A Time...

There was a little girl named Thumbelina who stood out among others because of her extra large heart. Just as Thumbelina stood out for her kindness so do our students in the Primary. The students at the Primary may be the smallest members of our school, but they are still able to stand out. Like Thum-

"No," answered father,
"she's the apple of my eye,
and I wouldn't sell her for all the gold in the world"

belina, these students have large hearts and are quick to share their crayons, their favorite snack, or their friendship with others. Atlanta Primary students should be proud of their large hearts as well as their accomplishments through the year and never lose their giving nature.

LaTarshua,

You have given us seventeen years of wonderful memories. We have watched you grow from a beautiful little girl to a very lovely young lady, who we are proud of.
 You have really worked hard in all that you've accomplished and overcome. Set your goals for the future and always strive hard to achieve them. Tarshua, remember
 God and I will always be here for you.

Thinking back over the years has made us realize what a short time we have with our children. You have been a joy from the time you were born, lots of dark brown hair, dark eyes and a big smile. We are very proud to have had the joy of watching you grow into the young woman you are today. Place your trust in God and walk with Him everyday and He will be there to guide you. We are very proud of you and the goals you have set and accomplished.

The months have turned to years.
We've shared your love
in times of joy,
And times that brought us tears.

Watching you grow so quickly,
It's hard to comprehend,
You used to be our
baby girl,
Still... you'll be that 'till the end!

We love you!

Having you as part of the family, has been an experience that none of us will soon forget. Though we've all done some growing up together through the years, we made decisions we thought were best. Your graduation will always hold a special place in my heart; but keep in mind there's many more accomplishments you can achieve with that Never Give Up On What You Want Attitude!! Always let God be the wind beneath your wings, he will fly you in all the right directions.

Matthew —

We were blessed when God gave you to us. Congratulations to a wonderful son and brother. We love you and are very proud of you.

Dad, Mom, Amy, Paul, and Waldo

“The Lord is my light and my salvation; whom shall I fear? The Lord is the stronghold of my life; of whom shall I be afraid?”
Psalms 27:1

Matt:

We are so grateful to God each day for blessing us with a son like you. When we named you Matthew how little did we know that your life would truly fulfill the definition of the name, “Gift of God.” Continue to let God guide your life’s pathways and your future will shine before you with unending promise and hope. We love you very much and are the proudest of families.

A twirler with big brown eyes, Loving and always giving to others. Singer and Performer, Ballet and Tap Dancer, who loves to swim. Drum Major, saxophone player, and twirling teacher. Secretary of Key Club and a member of Yearbook Staff. Computer whiz and Algebra tutor. Spanish literate and English proficient. God's servant — ready, willing, and able.

Forever loved.

We cannot believe this day is here. The time has truly passed quickly. You have always been such a blessing to us. We thank God for giving us a daughter like you. Just to be able to look into your innocent face and see your beautiful smile and big brown eyes has brought us so much joy! Please don't ever stop smiling. When you were five or six months old, you and your daddy always had a special trick. He would let you stand in the palm of his hand. Both of you were so proud of your accomplishment. You have always been so easy to please and satisfy. No matter what happened, everything was always, "O.K." You could also be described as an inquisitive child. We remember when you would climb onto the top of the counter, up the microwave, and on top of the refrigerator.

Then you would hold up your hands as if to say "Look what I've done!" You have your mother's determination and your daddy's strong will to succeed. We remember in first grade when you came home upset because you had made 96 on a paper. We know that you will accomplish anything you set out to do. You have always amazed us with your ability to reason through problems and think logically even at an early age. You are very generous to others. Remember when we were looking for the tire tool to change the tire on the car and found out that you at the age of four had given it to the neighbors? By the age of thirteen, you could be considered a world traveler. In second grade, with a broken leg, you made a trip to New York City. Your mother pushed you all over the city in a wheel chair. The only problem occurred when the wheel managed to be caught in a crack in the cement. Your mother kept pushing and out you went onto the cement in front of the art museum. From out of nowhere came people everywhere to help you back into the wheelchair. You have been extremely fortunate to have had excellent teachers who always encouraged you to do your best. I know Mr. and Mrs. Sutton's influence cannot be measured. We are so proud of you and all you have accomplished. If I could sit down and write exactly what I want in a daughter, it would be exactly like you. Remember in all situations to put God first in your life and let Him lead you! I know He has a very special plan for your life. We love you with all our hearts!

Always in the future, we thought this time would be,
 But look now how you've grown and we're so proud of what we see.
 You made it through the good times, and through the rough you held on tight.
 The Lord was always faithful to sustain you with His might!
 You are the best big sister, and a real good "mother hen,"
 We always could depend on you... now, as way back then.
 So now this is your time to shine like a beautiful shining star-
 You are the very best, and we are proud of who you are!

We Love You!

Best Aunt and Only Brother

What's up in Germany?

Our Dearest Kasi,

Thank you so much for "18" wonderful and sometimes "wild" years. You and your brother are the most precious things that we ever dreamed of having in our life. We have always wanted only the best for both of you- maybe there have been times that we have felt like we failed but you have to remember that Kids Don't Come With Instructions! But all in all you will probably never know how much pride and happiness you have brought us. Your Dad and I hope that you have a wonderful future that is "Rich in Love and Fulfilling to all your Dreams!" We have had the joy of watching you grow from "Barbie's" and your imaginary friend "Crackie" to proms and boyfriends and looking forward to college. Now that time is almost here for you to leave us and begin a career. It is with a mixture of "Sadness" and "Pride" combined for us to know that we will miss your wonderful smile every day, your great sense of humor, your messy room, and the laughter and giggles of you and your friends coming down the hall, but we want you to experience a new beginning. Just remember that you will always be close to our hearts but we do want you to have the opportunity to spread your "Wings" and "Fly" and we know that whatever you choose to do you will "Soar like a Rocket through the Sky."

Look how far you have come - Aren't we "Lucky!"

Best Looking Couple for 97-98
Kasi & Luke

How lucky we have been to have had to worry, encourage, discipline, spend money, wait up for curfews and sometimes "yell" and "complain" because if not for that we would have had nothing to do at all!

It is so wonderful to have such a beautiful, smart, intelligent and well-rounded daughter but don't let "All That" go to your head!

We Love You So Much!
Dad, Mom, and Bubba

Dear Misty,

From the day that we first held you in our arms till now has been such a short time. We watched you from the time that you were just a shaky "duckling" to the prima ballerina and a wonderful young lady that you are today. The minutes, hours, days, and years have gone by so fast!!!

The best advice that we can give you, as you prepare to spread your wings, is to "BELIEVE." Believe in God and in yourself and all things will be possible. We love you with all of our hearts.

Love,
Me
Mommy, Daddy, and Marcus Sr. "05"

Justin,

We reflect on the past 13 years and wonder how we will be able to handle the loneliness after you are gone; After all there will be no more:

- talking to teachers about you
- room mothering
- providing last minute food for parties, etc.
- trombone lessons
- visits to principals & counselors
- booster club work
- early morning practice
- tennis lessons
- chaperoning games, trips, & dances
- camps

$$$$$$$$ for:

- computer #1, #2, & #3
- camps
- trombones
- phone lines
- computer magazines
- club dues
- tennis rackets & shoes
- business expenses
- faster modem & more RAM
- food

On second thought, it's got to be easier & CHEAPER to send you to A & M.....But we love you,

MOM & DAD

PS: Call before you come home; we may be out enjoying the freedom.

SARA LYN,

You have always been "Someone Special", who has brought us much joy and happiness. We will miss you next year when you leave for SFA. Remember the best is yet to come!

We love you,
Momma, Mark, Keri, Joe, Juli,
David, and Lara

EVERYTIME I THINK OF YOU I THANK MY GOD.

Kristy Evangeline Laster

Kristy you have not only been trained by your father and I but the Lord has lightened your path. You are truly a blessing from God. Behold by child you are a heritage from the Lord. Whatever you do in life, do it not only to make us proud, but do it to glorify the Lord Jesus Christ. For you are climbing the mountain of success, so soar to it like an eagle. For on the peak of this mountain the hand of the Lord will rest. For his hands have fashioned and designed you that you may give back to this universe what he has so preciously created for you to live in.

Kel-Mel-

I have been so proud of you from the very day you were born. I am still so very proud of you and I know I will always be!

You have always been a "special" individual with a lot of talents. Use your talents wisely.

Remember, we are always here and praying for you.

I Love You—
MOM

Thank you for putting exclamation marks in our life!

Brad, some sons walk away, ride away, drive away, sail away. They always have. But the steel-strong, web-fine links that bind them to those who love them and whom they love in turn, cannot be broken — Ever!

There has always been a comfortable relationship between us - It has seemed to have a mysterious understanding — as we catch each other's eyes, and grin! Sons are linked to home by invisible unbreakable threads — Forever!

Brad, when you were very small we told you that there was a gold cord that held our family together and that whatever happened it could never snap or fray. It would always be there! Though sometimes very hard to see. It can stretch clear over any horizon to any point in time. A lifeline, a reassurance, when and if you ever need it. That gold cord will always be our gift to you — where ever you are!

When you were a little boy there was always something in your pocket. Usually a frog or a fish and many fishing lures. You dressed in camouflaged and smelled like fish. Remember the week we had to take you to the hospital, not once but twice to have the doctor cut fishing lures from your skin. You sometimes wore a little grin...making us wonder what you'd been in. But you'd give us a hug. And we'd forget about the broken window you'd shot out with one of your many B-B guns! And that first deer you killed at age 7! You were so proud and we were too! The fishing tournament you won at age 4 — you took the $50.00 and bought another fishing rod! We knew God loved to talk to little boys while they're fishin'. That seemed to be the time you listened best, therefore we were not afraid to let you go to the pond at such an early age!

We can't believe those years are gone! You actually stay clean now. You have grown from a fish smelling little boy to the "Most Handsome" of your Senior class. And that grin that's still on your face, means something different somehow. It means to us that all we hoped has come true! Watching you grow from a precious baby to a handsome young man has been a memorable journey. We are extremely proud of what you have done, and we take pride in the direction you are headed. We trust God will continue to guide you and we know you will continue to listen to Him just as you always have!

You're a wonderful son in every way — and very much loved too!!!

We love you!!!!!!
Mom, Dad & Blake

Here is where the road divides
Here is where we realize the sculpting of the Father's great design.

Thru times you've been a friend to me

But time is now the enemy.
I wish we didn't have to say goodbye.

And I know the road He chose for me is not the road He chose for you.

But through it all the hardest part of love is letting go.
But there's a greater love that holds us

Painted on a tapestry
We see the way it has to be weaving through the laughter and the tears.

Our love will be the tie that binds us to the time we leave behind.

Memories will be our souvenirs.
Pray for me and I'll pray for you.

Pray that we will keep the common ground
and someday love will bring us back around.

Joanne

Susan

From day one, you were our greatest gift, labeled the "LITTLE PRINCESS," our beautiful fragile flower -

HEATHER RENEE

From the first overalls you wore to help Daddy under the house, the many bouquet of flowers you picked or the bucket of seashells you would find. Even in the emergency room for stitches in your head. Cherished memories of baking cookies, Christmas goodies or playing school. Endless hours of Mother Goose, Dr. Seuss and Baby Animals on the Farm - Oh! All those books we read!

From the first of the grandkids, to the best big sister, cousin and friend. You are admired by your peers and an inspiration to your family. It is with great pride and pleasure that we have watched you grow into a beautiful young woman.

From your hard work, effort, strong commitment and dedication you have achieved and earned many awards. We are so very proud of you, grateful and honored to be your parents. We will Always be here for you.

Stay true to yourself and strong in your faith that God will forever walk with you. You will always have a key to the house and a special place in our hearts.

Thanks for being our daughter!
We love you,
Dad, Mom & Jordan

...And they all lived happily ever after

In memory of

*Jacobie
Quinn*

February 28, 1998

To every thing there is a season, and a time to every purpose
under the heaven:

A time to be born, and a time to die; a time to plant, and a time to pluck up that which is planted;

A time to kill, and a time to heal; a time to break down,
and a time to build up;

A time to weep, and a time to laugh; a time to mourn, and a time to dance;

A time to cast away stones, and a time to gather stones together; a time to embrace, and a time to refrain from embracing;

A time to get, and a time to lose; a time to keep, and a time to cast away;

A time to rend, and a time to sew; a time to keep silent,
and a time to speak;

A time to love, and a time to hate; a time of war, and a time of peace.

Ecclesiastes 3:1-8
