Could Talk

On May 28, 1999, the last class of the twentieth century graduated from Atlanta High School. This day meant tears of happiness and of melancholy for one hundred and forty-three young adults who had just been released into the "real world." As graduation concluded and the seniors went their separate ways, memories flooded each mind. Remembrance of parties, missed curfews, escape from punishment by one means or another, and classes never to be forgotten weighed heavily on the minds of teachers, students, and parents. Hugs to old friends were innumerable. As the Senior Class of 1999 goes into the real world, one thought prevails: Where do we go from here? The answer to this question, though different for each and every person, has a common root: wherever the world may take us physically, our minds and hearts will never let go of the joys found through the years we spent at Atlanta High School.

(Clockwise, from above) Mattie on Williams shows everyone his abs and he flexing... In a diaper? Jeremy Shaker sits patiently after having loved to the Atlanta 1999. The Senior Olympics will open this year, 2001. It is with an... Jeremy Shaker, Dan Swannick, Amber Sloan, Lindsey Kintoon, Reggie Walker, Romaine Hill and Julie Frost.

On September 2, 1986, approximately 164 Kindergarteners walked into Atlanta Primary School for the very first time. Some walked in crying, holding their mother's hands while others marched proudly to their classroom by themselves. By the end of that first day, everyone felt a little more grown up despite what many first and second graders might have said to the contrary. The year progressed, and many friendships were made. Over the years some of those first students have since left, and new friends have come to our school. Of those first 164, approximately 92 are going to graduate on May 28, 1999, along with at least fifty other students. It is an honor and a privilege to have attended the Atlanta School district for all thirteen years of school. Throughout the years we have come to discover both pros and cons to remaining in the same school District, but no matter what, we will miss Atlanta High after graduation.

The Pros of Staying in One School

1. Everybody knows everyone.
2. We never had to be the "new" guy.
3. Atlanta is a really good school.
4. We have not had to constantly make new friends.
5. We did not have to go to Queen City.

The Cons of Staying in One School

1. Everybody knows everyone and their secrets.
2. If you mess up, everyone knows.
3. There is way too much gossip.
4. We have a narrow perspective of the world.
5. We have to leave everyone for the first time when we graduate.

The Life and Times of the Atlanta Rabbits

Each new year brings new concerns and ideas, activities and sources of boredom, and even a new outlook on life for many students at AHS. The 1998-99 school year is like no other, for it is the last one of the twentieth century. All but the seniors will graduate in the new millenium, which makes them a very unique class. From the very first day of freshmen initiation to the last day of final exams, this year is definitely a memorable one. No one knows what the future will hold. As for now, this is the life and times of the Atlanta Rabbits.

Homecoming

The 1998 Homecoming game was an especially meaningful one to every Atlanta fan. Not only were the alumni of AHS recognized, but it was also the game that the rivalry between the Mighty Rabbs and the Queen City Bulldogs came to its nasty annual uproar. On October 23, 1998, the teams met in Atlanta Rabbit Stadium to "battle it out" for one of the last times in the twentieth century. Before the game began, fans from both cities filled the stands, exceeding the capacity for the large stadium. Play by play, the fans sat on the edge of their seats, wondering who would take home the bragging rights. Tension mounted as the game finally came to an end...the score tied 20-20; the final buzzer sounded, but no one dared to move. Overtime began — the intensity flowed through the stadium like a thick cloud of fog on a dreary morning. Then, like a flash, it was over. Atlanta fans ran onto the field screaming and shouting as they, for the tenth year in a row, could say that their team had beaten QC. The final score, aided in overtime only by a terrific field goal by Senior Brian Frost, was 23-20: The Tradition Continued with Homecoming 1998.

As a reward for winning the annual chain-links class competition, Junior Class President Misti White was allowed to throw a pie in the face of the loser, Freshman Class President Monica Maxie, during the downtown pep rally Thursday afternoon.

▼ Jaci Clements good-naturedly bears the torments of Freshman Initiation Day.

I was standing in the hallway between classes talking to my boyfriend and my friend came up to me and said 'your skirt is falling.' I had on a wrap around skirt that apparently wasn't buttoned. Fortunately for me it didn't fall all the way down, but, however, it did manage to fall open. For the rest of that year I was known as 'skirt' and 'stripper,' and to this day I still can't wear that skirt without having a rude comment made towards me. * Courtney Wall

My most embarrassing moment would have to be the first day of school my sophomore year. I was walking down the hall in front of a group of guys when Amanda Milton came up behind me and pulled my skirt up! So then I tried to look all cool like it didn't happen, but everyone around me was laughing. * Rhiannon Hull

One day I was running down the hall trying to get to my next class on time and someone just opened a door and I ran right into it. *
Daniel Lundy

I was playing basketball in our gym. It was a big game against Queen City. Well, I was just running back down the court, and there was nobody around me and I just fell. The gym was packed with a lot of people... I guess I just tripped over my feet or something. * Britteney Stiger

I accidentally ate shaving cream because I thought it was toothpaste. * Brandon Neal

I was giving a presentation for English and I was leaning against a desk and while I was talking, I didn't notice the desk moving, and it slid out from under me and I fell in front the whole class. ★ Angela Osborn

The most embarrassing so far has been my broken tailbone! Having to carry around a donut everywhere is really embarrassing. ★ Hannah Long

My most embarrassing moment was when I was wrestling Bret Stanley and he pulled my shorts down. ★ Montreal Jacobs

When I was a freshman on the first day of school, a senior made me stand in the middle of the hall, hold Reagan Gles's hand, and sing the Hokey Pokey at the top of my lungs while performing the motions. At the time I was really embarrassed, but now I think it's really funny. ★ Stephanie Smith

At a football game, Mrs. Oliver, on accident (she says), poured Coke all down me. So in retaliation, I did the same, only for her to trip me as I was running away, and I fell all out in the stands. Man, I felt like a stooge. ★ James Brooks

State Champs

Just another season. That's what most people thought as the '98 baseball team began its first practices. But unseen to the average fan's eye was a spark inside each of these players, and as that team won game after game, the spark grew brighter. The Rabbits slowly advanced beyond district, showing no signs of stopping their winning streak, and that spark of something special started to appear more and more. On and on they drove, disappointing each team who was unlucky enough to play Atlanta, until they reached the final showdown between the best and the rest: the state playoffs. As this Atlanta team exploded on the field against Hallettsville and Dripping Springs, the crowd finally realized that what they saw was a rare spark of excellence, and they knew they had just witnessed perfection. Congratulations to the 3A State Champions of 1998, the Atlanta Rabbits.

► The state baseball team: Chad Adcox, Matt Eadsley, Daniel Welch, Brandon Crutcher, Deon Birmingham, Joey Barnes, Dustin Kahlund, T. J. Abraham, Jay Howard, Kenny Smith, Bret Stanley, Keith Whaley, Greg Fouché, Chad Clements. Coaches: Mark Stewart, Randy Raley, Derek Simmons, and Jeff Ward.

▲ Before playing their final game to decide the best 3A team in Texas, the players kneel and take a moment to pray.

► The Disch-Falk scoreboard displays Atlanta's goal as they prepare to play Dripping Springs.

▲ After the Rabbit's victory over Dripping Springs, Coach Randy Raley kisses his daughter Lyndy as she comes to give him a hug of congratulations.

What did the coaches do extra to prepare the boys for the state playoffs?

It was all up to the kids. We could tell them how to do this or how to do that, but it came down to them executing on the field. They were just a special group of kids that wanted to win it all. They made our job easy. —Derek Simmons

Nothing! When a team is as talented and highly motivated as was the 1998 team, nothing is required except equipment and a field on which to play. —Mark Stewart

We talked to the team daily about staying focused on our mission. We also talked about no settling for second place, commitment, and doing their best to be the best that they could possibly be. It was an honor to have worked with the players and coaches during our championship season. The memories of the season, the great win against Hallettsville, and the celebration on the field that followed the State Championship game will forever be etched in my mind. Thanks to everyone. —Randy Raley

What was the most exciting or memorable moment of the state experience to you?

In the semi-final game, we were down 1-0 in the 7th inning. Our freshman, Decori Birmingham, surprisingly got a hit to start the inning. Then T.J. Abraham (Pie Face) bunted him to second base. Then I was up and was so nervous, but I came through and got a hit which knocked in Decori, and I went all the way to 3rd base. Then Keith laid down a suicide squeeze which I scored on to win the game. That's when I knew there was one day left til we were State Champs. —Matt Endsley

The most exciting memorable moment of the state experience was the state game when I could not get a hit. Then Mr. Adcock told me that if I get a hit that he was going to give me a kiss and I got a triple and at the end of the championship game he kissed me in the ear. — T.J. Abraham

► The expressions on the Adcocks' faces say it all as the Rabbits battle for the state title.

▲ Donned in their medals, the Atlanta Rabbits walk off Disch-Falk Field knowing they are the best.

The most memorable part for me, even though I didn't play any, was being on Disch-Falk Field playing for the state championship and having it be my first year on varsity. Also it was the late inning comeback against Hallettsville that got us to the championship game. —Chad Adcock

Being part of Atlanta history and being recognized for something great. Also playing on Disch-Falk —Decori Birmingham

Since I didn't play much I would have to say the most memorable moment of the baseball season would be after the title game when the team was together for the last time, and everyone was saying their goodbye's. —Chad Clements

There really wasn't just one exciting moment. It was all exciting & memorable to me. This is something I will remember forever! —Dustin Kirland

Even though I didn't play much I was very happy and honored to be on varsity as a freshman. But my favorite experience was when our team first stepped onto Disch-Falk and gazed up to the stands and saw what seemed to be thousands of people. Almost instantaneously everyone on the team realized that this was REAL. That was my greatest memory of my championship experience. —Bret Stanley

My most memorable moment was the feeling that ran through me the first time I stepped on Disch-Falk field. —Daniel Welch

My most memorable moment was when I looked up at the Disch-Falk stands and saw all of the devoted Rabbit fans that came to watch us play. —Greg Fouche

All the senior officers demonstrate how quickly they can become organized by piling one on top of another for an balanced, though interesting picture.

After donating her own blood, Brittney Sharrer, along with Rhiannon Hull and Lori Solomon, wait with Trudy Moore. Trudy was quite nervous about giving blood herself.

President Lindsey Johnson and Vice President Rhiannon Hull pose for a quick picture before the annual dress-code fashion show. This show demonstrates how to dress and not to dress.

This is it! The last student council of the twentieth century have embarked on their long journey of meetings. Not to mention all the trials and triumphs of raising money and organizing prom, among their many other duties as senior class officers. The senior class is the role-model for the entire school, and the officers are their leaders.

Senior Council is On Top of the World!

After all their fun and games, Reggie Walker, Rhiannon Hull, Amber Sloan, Lindsey Johnson, Julie Frost, Lori Solomon, and Brittney Sharrer take a serious moment to reflect.

Rhiannon Hull said that the most difficult thing about student council is "Keeping up with everything that the student council does and sponsors."

When asked what her favorite thing about student council was, Lindsey Johnson said: "I'm in charge and get to be the boss. — Just kidding!"

Always a shining personality, Lori Solomon is a good sport about taking a break from her work for a quick snapshot.

In Memory

The senior class remembers two friends lost before they had a chance to live.

Cody Eric McGraw
September 24, 1980-
June 5, 1998

Ronald Ryan Cook
October 12, 1981-
July 9, 1998

*I stood beside your bed last night and I noticed a confusing sight
I saw a silvery stream of white flow down your cheek in pale moon light
I listened hard to clarify, only to hear my name and ask myself why*

*I leaned and whispered in your ear, to hold no sorrow nor shed a tear
For I am with you; always near
I walk beside you every mile
I laugh beside you when you smile
I comfort you when you are sad
I wrap you in my arms when times are bad
I lie beside you when you rest
We fly together at moments best*

*Understand with every tear that falls for me that death is not eternity
I am now surrounded by joy and love of feathered wings as white as doves.*

*Then I dried the tear from your cheek
And lay beside you as you sleep.*

— David Guernsey

*It seems like only yesterday
We were side by side
You were like my brother
Our friendship closely tied
You were there for me
Whenever I was down
When I needed laughter
You'd always come around
You were my best friend
And you'll always be
Close to my heart
You'll love on in me
Now all I have are memories
In me you'll always stay true
Even though I've got many friends
I'll never have a friend as great as you.*

I'll never forget the day you came to us. You were a friend to us all, when we needed friendship. Meeting you was the best thing to happen, for all of us. You always could make us laugh, and you could always make us smile when we tried our hardest not to. I thought of the day we all graduated and how we would all stand in a circle, and tell each other goodbye as we headed off into the real world. Now you'll go into the real world as a part of us, as a part of each and every one of your friends. We'll all keep you close to our hearts forever. Now, wherever you are, you know how much we loved and cared for you. You were like a brother to all of us, and a big part of our family. I know you'll always be with us, to help us out in any way possible. You'll always be a friend to all of us. We'll never forget you, Ronnie! You were the best!

Sophomores have always been considered the nothing grade because they aren't the freshmen who get taunted, and they aren't the seniors who have upcoming graduation. Even the juniors are looked on as more special because they are close to graduating. Sophomores are just in the middle. But this isn't the case for this group of sophomores. Many of them have stood up and made a place for themselves among the large crowd at AHS. And before they know, it will be time for them to be juniors and seniors. Congratulations to all sophomores for surviving the first years and refusing to be just another face.

These two incoming fish were surprised at how much attention the seniors gave them.

The freshmen of 1999 have certainly been different than the other classes. They took enjoyment of wearing trash bags, lipstick, stickers, and horns during the first week of school. They took trays for the seniors, and ran around the cafeteria yelling about the food. The fish proved that not everything is as serious as people try to make it, and their behavior will make everyone curious about what's next to come.

Lindsay Cox gives herself one final glance before she goes to her second period class.

What was the worst thing you had to do your first week of school?

"Run from a lot of seniors."
— Antwyn Falls

"Sizzle like bacon."
— Brandon Oxley

"Class work"
— Crystal Gearlds

"Nothing because I beat up everybody."
— Aaron Webb

SEVENTH GRADE

Sarah Schamberg, Cordairo Thomas, and Tivolie Smith pay complete attention in Mrs. Clement's science class.

The Class of 2004, though they may be stuck in the middle now, will graduate from middle school at the turn of the millennium. They will start Atlanta High School as the first grade to begin their young adult lives in the new century. They will be expected to impress and amaze us, and I know that they won't let us down.

Makenzie Connor swings into action! ▶

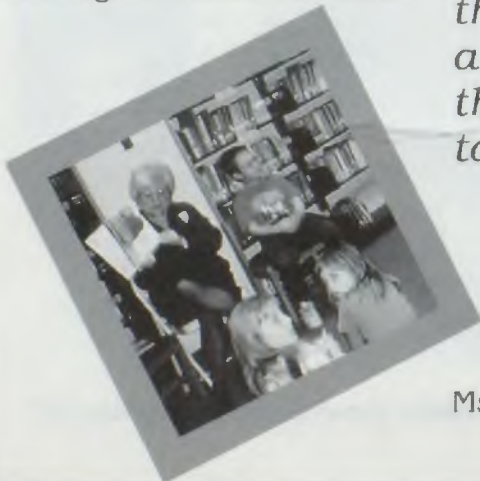

We all remember elementary as a carefree, happy time that we spent playing with our friends on the playgrounds. The third, fourth, and fifth graders of Atlanta Elementary will remember exactly the same thing. Whether they realize it or not, while they are having the time of their lives, they are also learning new things that will help them in the future. They are slowly preparing for the time when they will take over the planet!

It's obvious Sean Kaleh that is thinking hard about his work.

◀ Mrs. McClure reads to the kids in the library.

Ms. Leuba's fifth grade P.E. class has fun playing football. ▶

Elementary students take advantage of the technology around them.

Jessica Savage, Kylie Havard, and Dustin Demoss, are always glad to be at school!

Danielle McNeely, Lottie James, Shanterria Allen, and Carmen Jones have a blast in their P.E. class!

Caleb McCreery is hard at work in the Atlanta Elementary computer lab.

Some of the students in the library pay complete attention to the matter at hand!

GRADE

Fourth grade is a unique place to be in. It kind-of seems like you are never going to see graduation day. This group of kids does not care. They are interested in far more things. No matter if they are learning new definitions or designing art, they are very pleased. One day these wonderful fourth graders will be on top, and this year will not even linger on their minds.

▲Students in Mrs. Robertson's class are determined to find the answers.

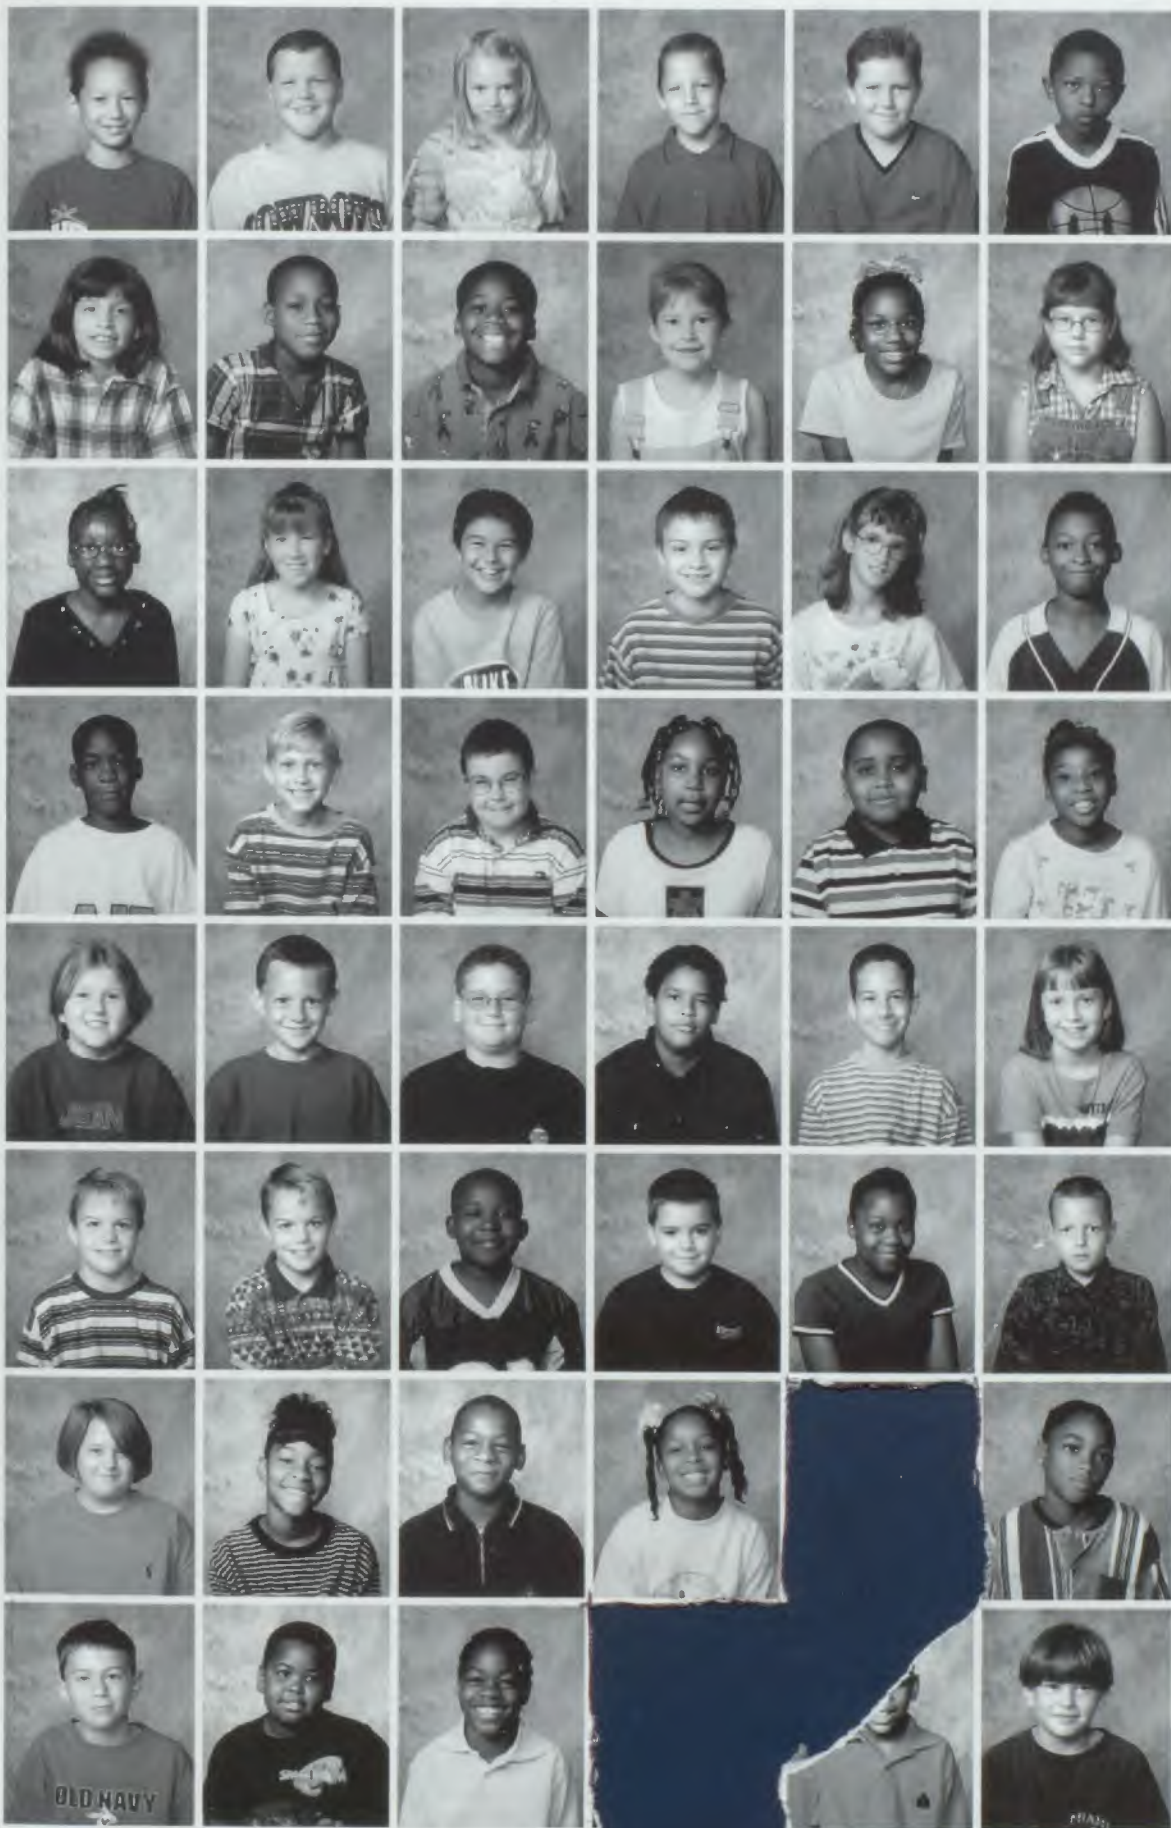

▲R.D. Wilson, Denisha Kirk, and John Baker are in no way interested in the class discussion.

▶ Joseph May, Hannah Butler, Nissa Rhyne, and Jamarcus Simon return to their classes after recess.

Sarah Barr, Emily House, and Ashton Puckett enjoy swingin' on the swings.

It all began four years ago when these students stepped into their classroom and for the first time were in "school", no prefixes or nicknames. For most students, things had gotten pretty routine. They had known the same teachers, seen the same halls, and had the same scenery for three years, but this year was different. On August 10th they moved up in "Planet Rabb" to a new campus with all new teachers, all new halls, and all new scenery.

Hunter Allday selects a new crayon to complete his work.

The future stars of the Atlanta Rabbit football team perfect their game during lunch recess.

The second graders of 1998-1999 will be the last class to leave Atlanta Primary in the twentieth century. Their first three years of school are behind them, and as they enter the new millineum, they will no longer be the rulers of the school. We must give them credit, though, for doing the best they could at Atlanta Primary School.

Second graders line up obediently when the bell rings to announce the end of recess.

Ask the students at Atlanta Primary School their favorite time of day, and they will undoubtedly say "RECESS!"

Joshua Clements checks his watch while other students in Mrs. Stanley's class patiently continue working.

KINDERGARTEN

On August 10, 1998, one hundred forty-five students entered school for the first time. These children began a thirteen year long challenge, each one as eager as the rest. As school took its course, kindergarteners soon realized what it felt like to be a big kid. From learning the ABC's to 1,2,3's, Atlanta Primary's Little Rabbs were able to overcome every obstacle in their Rabbit Patch.

YEARBOOK

The People Behind the Scenes

Sarah Oliver takes a moment out of her busy schedule of taking pictures to swing on the swings at the elementary school.

Yearbook is supposed to be work, isn't it? Kelly Rouse takes a short break for a little fun.

Even though the members of the yearbook staff have given Mrs. Henrico more than a few early gray hairs, she never complains. She has always had a lot of patience with us.

Have you ever stopped and wondered exactly what goes into making a yearbook? Ask any one of the 13 people who help put it together and they'll say, "Tons of hard work!" They all spend many hours drawing page layouts, taking pictures, begging other students for quotes, putting their layouts in the computer, checking to make sure everything is done just right, and on top of all that, selling yearbooks and ads to help raise money to make this yearbook. So the next time you open your yearbook just think about all the time and effort put forth to make it a possibility.

The Awesome Computer Club of AHS

Nobody ever said that there weren't enough clubs at Atlanta High School. There is something for everyone if they are willing to get involved. As if there weren't enough things to join, Atlanta's long list of clubs grew two longer. Mrs. Trumble's senior English classes formed the Phi Theta Alpha Club, also known as Philosophers and Thinkers of Atlanta, and Mrs. Trumble keeps them very busy. Also, Mrs. Farrar's Computer Science students founded the all new "Awesome Computer Club of AHS." Good luck to both clubs.

Middle School

The two mascots Rachel Haydel and Lindsey McGoogan playfully pose at their last football game of the season.

At camp the cheerleaders had just begun to be a squad and work together with anticipation of the months to come, and as football season flew by, these girls grew together to become an excellent team. Facing first the heat of August and then the surprising cold of October and November, they worked on doing their job of cheering for the players and keeping spirit high. Congratulations to the cheerleaders of 98 for the successful year they had.

What instrument do you play and why?

Saxophone: My mom told me to and bought it before I had any say so. —Marla Fedrick

I play the flute, because my mom played the flute, and it is fun to play, and if you REALLY know how to play it, it can sound beautiful. —Heather Caver

I play the flute because it is the one of the very few instruments that you can play and still play good. —Lillian Cowry

I play the Euphonium. I really think it's interesting playing pieces that famous people have written, because you are teaching the audience something. —Jeff Sullivan

I play the clarinet because it's easy and a lot of fun. —Brittany Sanders

The New Arrivals!

At the beginning of the summer, as they came into the bandhall for the first time, Mr. Endel and Mr. Merritt knew that they had a big job ahead of them. With new students to learn and a new band to teach, they set out to make their mark in AMS history. These two directors dedicated the majority of their time to the band and worked as hard as they could. The outstanding job they did shows in the quality of the AMS band this year.

AMS Guard

▲ Lana Frost twirls along to the band during one of the middle school's pep rallies.

▼ Wrapped up to keep warm, the AMS guard heads toward the stands where they will wait until their performance at halftime.

▼ The guard instructor Lori Cullins works hard at every football game to organize the girls and perfect their routines before performance.

▲ While trying to keep warm at the middle school's last football game, the drum majors Tabitha Kennedy and Jacy Dowd discuss the upcoming halftime.

Nerves were high as the majorettes and flags stepped out onto the football field each home game to perform in front of stands full of Rabbit fans, but each guard member felt confident that they knew exactly what to do and how to put on a game-stopping halftime show. From camp until the last football game the guard worked hard with their instructor Lori Cullins to perfect their flawless show, but when they heard all the applause from the audience, the guard knew that it was all worth it.

▲ The AMS band voted Tabitha Kennedy as the band sweetheart for 1998/99.

A-Town Football

The Tradition Continues.....

▲ T.J. Abraham leads the way as the Mighty Rabbits break through the run through sign.

"Who ya with? A-town!!" That was the cry heard throughout the 1998 football season in Rabbitland. The season started with a prediction of 4th in District, but the mighty Rabbits ended the regular season undefeated in district play. Atlanta Rabbit Football carried on the tradition of being loved by few, disliked by many, but RESPECTED BY ALL!! The Rabbits ended the season 9-3. They carried the titles of District Champions and Bi-District Champions. They played hard and never let their spirits fall. The 1998 Atlanta Football team was a team to be proud of. Congratulations on a Great Season!

A-town Baseball!

After a dynamic season in '98, the Atlanta baseball team earned a reputation for excellence and hard work. For their great effort and for winning the title of state champs, the Atlanta team now has a new baseball field and a team picture hanging in the high school. But each player and coach knows that with the beginning of each season comes a new team and a fresh start. Will the team win State again? Only the future can tell, but as these players come to practice each day with new dedication, we can be sure that winning is in their hearts.

▲ As congratulations for winning the state championship last year, the ISD placed a picture of the state team with their medals and trophy in the main hall of the high school.

BABY ADS

You finally learned to hop on one foot — Now you have to learn to fly like an eagle.

You're what makes our world go 'round.

*Love,
Mom and Dad*

Dear Son
One of the greatest joys in life
That one can ever know,
is to have a tiny precious son
And watch that small child grow.
From frogs kept in your pockets,
to bruised knees that brought tears;
Son, our pride in you have grown
As we've watched you through the years.
And now that you have reached manhood
And we must let you go;
Remember that we love you, Son,
more than you'll ever know.

*Love,
Mom, Dad, and Shelley*

"For I know the plans I have for you, declares the Lord, plans to prosper you and not to harm you, plans to give you hope and a future."

— Jeremiah 29:11

Congratulations! You've come a long way and you're one step closer to being a game warden. We know you'll make it.

Love,
Mom and Dad

*Lori,
You are a shining example of what a daughter can be,
loving, compassionate,
beautiful, good, honest,
determined,
independent, sensitive,
and intelligent.*

There are watercolour ponies
On my refrigerator door,
And the shape of something I don't really recognize;
Brushed with careful little fingers
And put proudly on display,
A reminder to us all of how time flies.

Seems an endless mound of laundry
And a stairway laced with toys,
Gives a blow by blow reminder of the war
That we fight for their well being.
For their greater understanding.
To impart a holy reverence for the Lord.

But baby, what will we do
When it comes back to me and you?
They look a little less like little girls every day.
Oh, the pleasure of watching our children grow is mixed with a bitter cup
Of knowin' the watercolour ponies will one day —
one day ride away.

Our love, our hearts and our prayers shall follow you forever as you pursue your dreams.
Let your light shine before men, that they may see your good works and bring glory to your Father in Heaven.

We thank the Lord for the most precious gift of you!

FAMILIES ARE FOREVER!

Brandon,

It seems like only yesterday God blessed our family by bringing you into our lives. Now, 18 years later, you have become a special young man. You have blessed us with so many memories. We are so proud of what you have done with your life.

Always be yourself and resist the pressures all around you. You should never let yourself be governed by others because you will surely lose your uniqueness.

The world will offer you places to go, things to see, people to meet, and much to learn. Always remember who you are and the fact that wisdom lies in what you have learned and experienced. Preserving your identity by always remembering your roots is one of life's precious goals.

As your family, we couldn't love you more or give you better advice than Proverbs 3:5-6.

Trust in the Lord with all thine heart; and lean not with thine own understanding. In all thy ways acknowledge Him and He shall direct thy paths."

Love,
Dad, Mom and Bret

Casey —

These past eighteen years have passed so quickly. You started them out a Cowboy, but as you grew, you became the Cowman! We are so proud of all your accomplishments, the many wins in the show arena, the awards received, and the offices you've held. Most of all, we are very proud of your high standards, your integrity, and your dedication to education. Casey, you will go far in life, and always remember we love you and will always be here supporting you.

Love,

Shelly,

We are so proud of you, not only for your accomplishments, but also for the beautiful person that you have become. We love you more than life dear, and you always have our love and support. Nothing worthwhile ever comes without hard work. You have proven that! Keep up the hard work, Shelly; you won't regret it. Twenty years from now, you will be more disappointed by the things you didn't do than the things you did do. So catch the wind in your sails and Explore, Dream, and Discover!!! We look forward to the next chapter of your life.

What is a son? A genetic mix of parental and ancestral DNA. Fond hopes and dreams of the future of the family name, another branch of the tree reaching out into the next millennia. Wonderful boyish years of teaching, training, and parenting, with hopes of a successful life and new family, closely intertwined with the grace and guiding light of the Heavenly Father. That is the son we have received from Him, truly a fisher of men.

Blake, we are very proud of your dreams and accomplishments, and they are many. You've touched so many people already in your eighteen years with your Christian witness and your leadership skills, debating, preaching, singing, and playing your guitar, all with one supreme goal - to expose people around you to the gospel of Jesus Christ, asking even your own parents to open their eyes, so that we may see the will of God in our own lives, to let the Creator deliver us from the shackles and bonds that keep our thinking earthbound. Thanks, Blake, for your continuous crusade, you've been blessed with the

It is hard to believe that the time has come for you to start a new phase in your life. It seems only yesterday that God blessed us with your presence. You came into this life with a drive and determination that has carried you to many successes but you have never given up on things that you have wanted. We can still remember the adventuresome little boy that kept you outside and into many things that you were not supposed to be in. As we reflect on your life of 18 years, we are very proud of your accomplishments, rejoice with you in all your successes, and loved you when things seemed to go wrong. We have watched through the years as you played soccer, baseball, football, run cross-country, and track and felt a momentary sadness that we will not get to see you do these things again, but look forward to seeing you accomplish new successes and have new adventures in your future with the Navy and whatever you decide to become as an adult. As you enter this phase in your life remember always that God is your guide and protector. Your faith in God will be your strength through all your endeavors. You have been a blessing to us from day one and will continue to be a blessing in the future. God guide you and direct your path through life.

We knew the day you were born that with God's grace this moment would come; we just didn't realize how soon. You are a precious gift from God to us and an answer to our prayers. We've shared laughter, tears, and many special times together. Because of our deep love for you, we will do everything within our power to help you accomplish the goals you set for yourself. After all we are your "biggest fans".

High school graduation is only one of the many exciting events to take place in your life, savour and enjoy it. The whole world is before you and we trust that as you venture out into it, you will allow God to direct you.

Because of your sweet spirit, your love and compassion for others, and your passionate love of life, you bless all whose lives you touch. Stay the same sweet, wonderful young lady you are and you will succeed in all you do. We're always here for you and will always love you. No matter how old you are, you will forever be our "little girl".

Robert,

We are so very proud of you and all that you have accomplished, the choices you have made, and what a fine young man you are. Keep your focus on the Lord and continue to walk daily with Him. We love you and know you will be very successful in all that you do.

Children are a gift from the Lord, and we thank Him for you. You have been a blessing to us. Now we pray the Lord will continue to bless you and we pray Proverbs 3:1-4 for you personally:

"Oh, Lord, may Robert never forget Your teaching. Let his heart keep Your commandments. Then Lord, You will give Robert many more days and years to his life and You will add peace to his life.

"May kindness and truth never leave him. Lord, may he bind them around his neck and write them on his heart.

Then Lord, You will give him favor and a good reputation both with You and man."

Katy,

Life has been full of joy for us the last eighteen years as we have watched you grow.

The first time we held you in our arms we knew that you were God's special blessing to us. From that moment until now we have always been very proud of you. We are so thankful that you have given your life to the Lord, and we know that your many accomplishments are a reflection of your desire to do your best for Him.

As you begin a new stage of your life, we are excited with you because we know that God has a wonderful future planned for you.

We could not ask for a better daughter or sister.

Steven,
Eighteen years ago, God blessed us with you. What an incredible blessing you have been to our lives. From kindergarten on you have always successfully embraced every challenge you have encountered. Words cannot describe the pride we have felt to watch you strive for and reach your goals in everything from pee-wee ball to UIL State Meets. I thank God for giving you the courage to follow your heart to AHS and also for your stand as a Christian young man. My prayer, as you know, is that you will always follow where God leads you and that you will always be in His hands. Our love for you will always be absolute and unconditional.

Time goes by so quickly. How blessed we are as parents to be able to have watched our daughter grow from a small child into a beautiful young woman about to enter into a new phase of life. To look at the achievements in your life and the high standards and goals that you made for yourself and met only makes us more proud than you'll ever know. Thank you for being the daughter that we've always dreamed of and the person we always knew you would be. Keep our blessed Lord close to your heart and the new goals you have set for yourself well within a hand's reach. The last eighteen years have been a pleasure and a blessing; we're so looking forward to the next eighteen.
