Foreword

The purpose of this document is to provide a clear
and concise summary of the key findings and conclusions of the study. It is intended to be read by those who are interested
in the subject matter
and who do not have time to read the entire report. The document is organized
into several sections,
each of which deals
with a different aspect of the study. The first section provides an overview of the study and its objectives.
The second section
describes the methods
used in the study and the data that were collected. The third section presents the results of the study
and discusses their implications. The fourth section
concludes the study
and provides some recommendations for future research.

A Message from our Superintendent

So often we are by our school days and school opportunities as we are by our friends, that is, we do not fully appreciate them until they are gone.

You whose pictures are contained herein will very soon be the men and women of this or some other community. The kind of a society, and the kind of a community this will be, will depend upon the kind of individuals you develop into. We as teachers, and you as students, owe a debt of gratitude to those who have gone before us in building the citizenship of this community. We can pay the debt only by rendering service to their posterity.

This service can best be rendered by those who are best prepared. Our schools are primarily for the purpose of better preparing you for that service. The question comes: Are you, and each of you, taking advantage of that opportunity? We as teachers, and all concerned, stand willing and ready to assist you in making that preparation.

Yours truly,

D. H. Boon

A brief history of the Senior Class

That beautiful, sunny morning in September 1943, was just like any other opening day of school. The assembly hall was filled--with dignified Seniors, haughty Juniors, sophisticated Sophomores, and 55 bewildered Freshmen. But the mysteries of painful initiations, room numbers, locker numbers, and "Why can't I have that class that period?" were soon solved and those Freshmen settled back in their desks full-fledged high school students. In many ways this Senior Class was like any other Senior Class. Its members never studied too hard but always enough to make the grade; they had the regular round of parties and dances--probably more than many Senior Classes; they took part in every activity of the school at large, at times by their efforts making successes of failures; and even though they didn't like everything about it always defended good old Linden High; they had the same class officers as any other class and conducted business in much the same way--with probably a little more noise of yeas and nays than was necessary. These officers were: Presidents: Jewel Daughety, Freshman year; Merry Ruth Wood, Sophomore year; Franklyn Hamilton, Junior year; and Edward Stanford, Senior year. Thomas George had the rare honor of being Vice-President every year. Secretaries were Martha Whitenberg, Frances Wells, Jane Harris and Merry Ruth Wood.

But there was something that made this Senior Class different from other Senior Classes. For one thing fully 25% of its members were "A" students, 75% "B" or above. Too, it was always "on the ball"--up-to-date in everything it planned and did. However, the thing that made this Senior Class different from others was probably this: From September 1943, when it was the Freshman Class until today, it has always been known and praised for its friendliness--the friendly attitude of its members toward fellow-students, toward school work and toward class business.

Of the 55 students who enrolled as Freshmen in 1943, 33 have completed four years of work. Five students have transferred from other schools to Linden, and two young men this year returned from the service to complete their high school work, making the total who will graduate in May, 40. Of the 22 who didn't make it nine boys went into the service, three girls married, seven students moved from Linden, one fell behind because of prolonged illness, one is unaccounted for, and one died.

Doubtless in the future Linden and other towns and cities will progress upward as a result of the influence and work of these 40 students--the Senior Class of Linden High School--1947.

The next ten pages of "Tiger Tracks" contain the pictures of these 40 Seniors. Beside each Senior is a list showing his nickname, birth date, ambition, and favorite song.

The History of the Bank of America

The Bank of America was founded in 1784 by John Overton, a merchant and politician from North Carolina. Overton's vision was to create a financial institution that would serve the needs of the young nation, particularly in the South. The bank's initial capital was provided by Overton and other prominent merchants of the region. Over the years, the bank has grown significantly, becoming one of the largest and most influential financial institutions in the United States. It has played a crucial role in the development of the American economy, providing capital for various industries and supporting the growth of the nation. The bank's history is a testament to the resilience and vision of its founders and the enduring impact of its services on the American people.

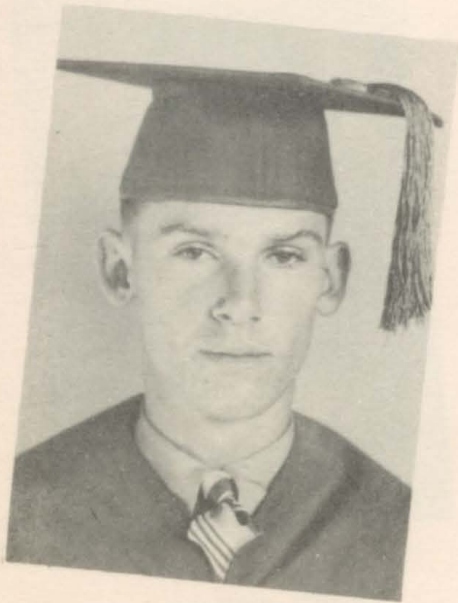

The bank's early years were marked by challenges, including the War of 1812, which disrupted trade and led to a period of financial instability. Despite these difficulties, the bank persevered and emerged as a stronger institution. It continued to expand its operations, opening branches in major cities across the country. The bank's commitment to service and innovation has been a key factor in its success. It has adapted to changing economic conditions and technological advancements, ensuring its relevance in a rapidly evolving financial landscape. The bank's history is a story of growth, resilience, and a commitment to the American dream.

In the 19th century, the bank played a pivotal role in the westward expansion of the United States. It provided the capital and financial support necessary for the construction of railroads and the settlement of new territories. The bank's services were instrumental in the development of the American West, helping to build a strong and prosperous nation. The bank's history is a testament to the power of financial institutions in shaping the course of a nation's development. It has been a constant presence in the lives of Americans, providing the financial foundation for their dreams and aspirations.

The Bank of America has a rich and storied history that spans over two centuries. It has weathered numerous challenges and emerged as a global leader in financial services. The bank's commitment to excellence and its dedication to the American people have been the cornerstones of its success. As the world continues to evolve, the Bank of America remains committed to providing innovative solutions and supporting the growth of the American economy. Its history is a source of pride and inspiration for all who are part of its legacy.

Parent-Teachers Association

"Building Firm Foundations" is the theme for the year 1946-47 for the Linden Parent Teachers Association. Interesting talks are given at each monthly meeting by various local speakers.

The reception for the teachers held at the American Legion Hall was well attended. The P. T. A. sponsored the Hallowe'en Carnival; also a Teachers Banquet at the Methodist Church.

A project is under way to secure hot lunches for the children of the Linden Schools. This will prove beneficial in many ways, especially for undernourished children.

THE Joy OF BEING ON THE Staff

JEWEL DAUGHETY
Editor-in-Chief
"Tiger Tracks--1947"

When a member of the staff looks through his Annual he sees much more than the average reader. For he and his fellow members personally selected, designed and worded every page. Regardless of his official title he had a part in collecting every picture, collecting and checking on every name; he saw to it that meetings were called to choose class favorites and got a fitting picture of each of those favorites; he helped collect snapshots and arranged attractive pages of them; he sold advertisements and assisted with every activity that had as its motive - money for the Annual. To meet deadlines he missed classes, parties, movies; he lost sleep thinking for new page ideas and for ways of making money. An Annual like any other business enterprise has its troubles and problems - - too many of them. The staff member took his share of the troubles and problems; tried to laugh off the troubles and helped solve the problems. For almost an entire school year his thoughts often wandered to the Annual, its advancement and its being completed.

But there was something that made a staff member love his job, even though trouble and problems were a large part of it. He felt the honor of being chosen by the entire student body to be a member of the staff. He was a part of an important business organization and acted the role of business executive to the best of his ability. He worked in harmony with his fellow staff members, suggesting ideas and ways of doing things, objecting when he thought necessary; but with the benefit of the Annual always foremost in his thinking. Through social and business contacts required by the Annual he made friends of people he hardly knew existed. He had an experience that he will always remember. His was the rare privilege, the honor, the JOY of being on the staff.

On Thanksgiving Day November 27, 1946, Linden completed its second successful football season under the coaching of N. S. Ward. The Tigers with only three starters from their 1945 squad showed plenty of fight and determination in downing five conference foes for undisputed third place in District 19-A.

WHAT DOES IT MEAN TO BE A TIGER?

What does it mean to be a Tiger?
I'll tell you what it means.
To give the game all you have
Fighting hard, but fair and clean.
To learn your plays with all your heart
Perfecting your timing for each little part.
And when a Tiger goes on the field
He has but one thought, to win the game;
Resolved to be just in victory,
Or in defeat unashamed.
To uphold the glory of Linden High,
That's what it means to be a Tiger!

CHRISTMAS DANCE

THANK YOU MRS. FINLEY

THE SOTT CLUB

The Sott Club was organized at exactly 12:00 Midnight New Year's Day, 1947, under the sponsorship of Mrs. Tom Finley. Mrs. Finley suggested the formation of such a club and assisted seven "charter members" in organizing the Sott's and in writing a club code of laws. The club meets every Friday night in the home of a member for several hours of dancing, eating and just having a good time. A new member is admitted only after his becoming a Sott is approved by every club member. Today the club has a membership of 16. Officers are: Jewel Daugherty, President; Charles Allen, Vice-President; Ann Lester, Secretary.

Reuben and Rachel are "Solid Chicks"
They are seen together everywhere
Reuben thinks Rachel is mighty "Slick"
While Rachel thinks Reuben is passing fair

So Reuben and Rachel make "a clic k"
And their affection is ever mounting

Treasured Memories

Your yearbook is a store of treasured memories. The oft repeated thrill of recollection which accompanies each new search through its pages will many times repay you for the care and consideration which has gone into its creation.

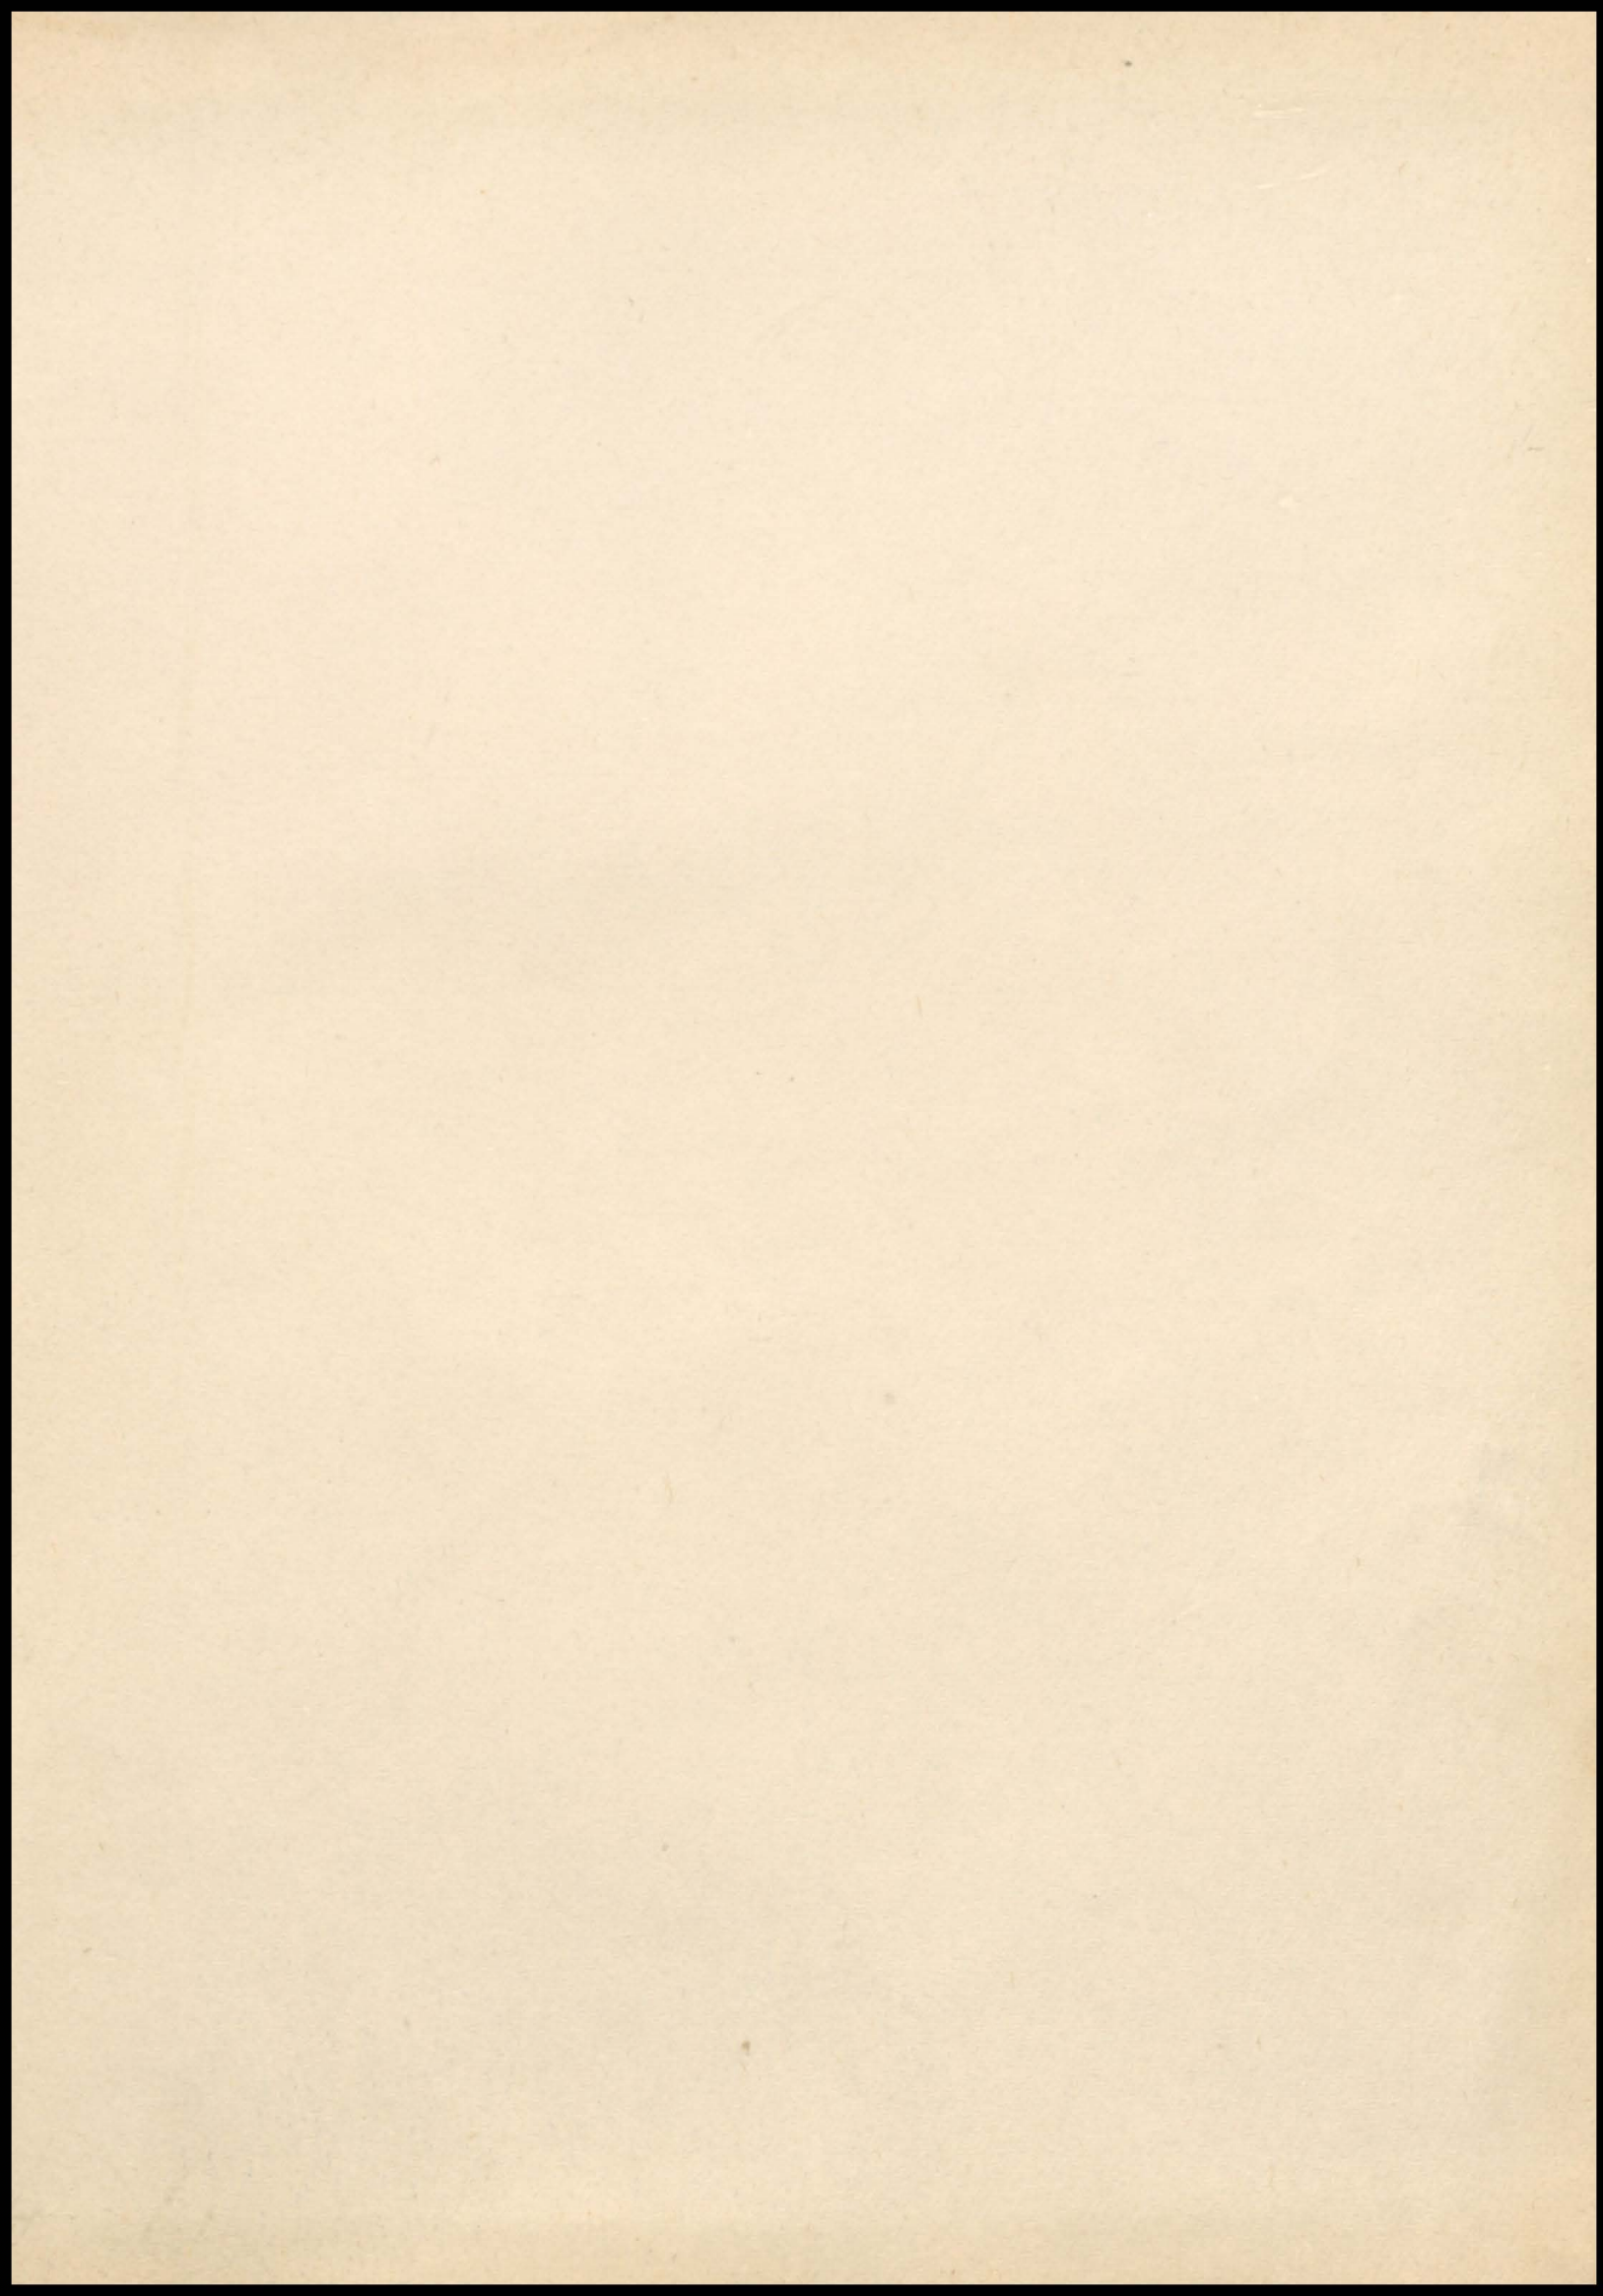

We are proud of the part we have had in the production of this book. It indicates the wealth of ideas and ability which have made possible the long record of our school annual achievement.
