Varsity Cheerleaders "Build That Spirit Up" at a pep rally.

Varsity Bulldogs put in extra hours after school.

Larry Halbert seems more interested in the action in the hallway than in history class.

Pride And Spirit Highlight Year

From the frantic decorating of the halls for Spirit Week to the procession of graduation ceremonies, a feeling of pride and spirit was present.

We screamed as though at a Loverboy concert when the band played the last note of "Eye of the Tiger," and held our breath as flags trimmed with streamers were tossed into the air and caught again.

Week after week, the cheerleaders fought to keep up the spirit as the Bulldogs courageously faced each opposing team. It was a rough season but neither the team nor loyal fans gave up hope for victory.

Most of us were addicted to at least one aspect of the activities as QCHS and many were involved in non-school activities too. Jobs took up the spare time of some students, but others spent time watching TV, seeing movies or just "cruising the loop."

No matter how students spent their time away from school, they could always come back to their familiar activities and view the others in action from the sidelines.

Clowns Abound On Dress-up Day

For many students there are only a few times in their high school years they allow themselves to just clown around or act a little silly, and dress-up days provide the perfect times for this.

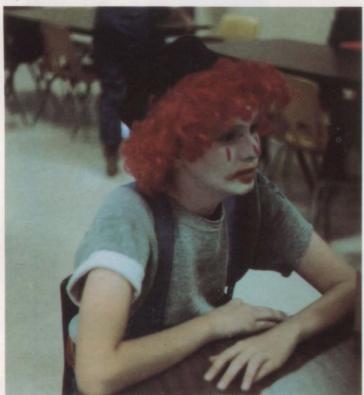

Shy people can express their craziness without people staring and even the faculty can have fun by wearing strange clothes.

Although students must stay within the dress code, they still dream up all sorts of odd people or things to dress as. Clowns, hobos and Orientals can all be seen strolling down the halls of QCHS.

Along with the traditional Halloween dress-up day, also comes the just as famed "wrapping of Mrs. Purtle's room." At least once, usually more, during the week of Halloween, several students find some excuse to stay in her English room after she leaves, only to drape it in toilet paper. After she slips on the lights and the look of confusion leaves her face, most students willingly help clean it up.

Yelling, Clapping Mean Pep Rallies

Hands clapping, students yelling, the band cranks up the fight song and a Bulldog pep rally has begun.

Colorful signs and streamers add to the spirit as the cheerleaders lead the pep squad, student body, faculty and fans in chants and cheers.

Skits were performed by various classes, clubs and the cheerleaders during the 10 pep rallies. Some of these included "visiting homecoming nominees" and blindfolded football players in the "Kiss the Cheerleader Contest" where they actually kissed their mothers.

The flag corps performed to the beat of songs played by the Bulldog Band, which also had many feature tunes.

Pep rallies ended with the band playing the fight song again and the football team forming its traditional huddle in the center of the gym.

Tracy Hayman Named Queen

Tracy Hayman was crowned 1983 Homecoming Queen Oct. 21 by Autumn Smith the 1982 queen.

Tracy was escorted by her father, Larry Hayman, and was presented with a trophy and bouquet of roses by Student Council President Kippie Barnwell.

Members of the Homecoming Court were Belinda Easley, Carla Turbeville Teague and Susan Chamblee. Also presented at Homecoming ceremonies were Football Sweetheart Autumn Smith, Band Sweetheart Terry McAlexander, and Band Beau Tony Cauthorn.

Homecoming, which was sponsored by the Student council, had a change made in its nomination procedures. For the first time, only senior girls were eligible to be nominated.

Each member of the court was presented a single rose and a trophy. The sweethearts and beau was presented with a gift and trophy.

Sophomores Demonstrate Most Spirit To Win Contest

"Sophomores back the Bulldogs!" This was proven by the Sophomore class members when they won Spirit Week.

The purpose of Spirit Week, which was sponsored by the varsity cheerleaders, was to promote school pride and spirit for the football teams.

Signs, posters and streamers displayed the spirit of the student body on doors, lockers, and in the hallways. Although it was against school rules to use tape on the walls, each class pitched in money to buy putty to hang their signs, which were plastered from one end of the hallways to the other.

Many hours were spent after school during Spirit Week to buy supplies, paint signs, and try to find an empty spot on the walls to hang them. Some students even resorted to taping their signs to the floors and a few managed to get theirs on the ceiling.

Along with the winning class of Spirit Week was also the losing class. The Sophomres were presented the "Whoopee Stick" for their winning effort, and the Junior class was presented the "Lazy Stick" for their lack of effort.

Area Experiences White Christmas

Christmas '83 wasn't quite like Christmases past.

For starters, East Texas experienced its first White Christmas in 20 years. In some areas, the white stuff accumulated up to 10 inches.

Sure, the snow was pretty, but it also created quite a few problems.

On the Friday before exams, the snow and ice combined to make the roads virtually impassable, resulting in the closing of school for the day.

Then, while students and teachers were sleeping late and taking it easy during the holidays, Pipes over the lab burst causing the school to flood.

But the school wasn't the only thing to experience problems. Many students were without electricity and water for several days at home.

The week before school let out for the holidays, DECA held its annual door-decorating contest. As usual, most teachers waited until the last minute to get their doors decorated with help from students — or should it be the students decorated the doors with help from the teachers?

But no matter who helped whom, typing instructor Roberta Hagan and her students won first place with their Yuletide typewriter.

Speaker, Awards Highlight Banquet

Guest speaker for the football banquet, held January 7, was Ralph "Sporty" Carpenter, the football coach at Henderson State College.

In the awards part of the banquet, Jerry Childs was voted by his coaches as the outstanding offensive back. Theoutstanding offensive lineman award was a tie between Steve Raines and Troy Ashmore. Tommy Cullins was awarded the outstanding defensive lineman award. Outstanding defensive back award went to Tracy Stovall.

Certificates and jackets were awarded to varsity lettermen and managers. Junior varsity team members also received certificates.

DAR Good Citizen

Maybe it's becoming a family tradition. Senior Tracy Hayman was chosen DAR (Daughters of the American Revolution) Good Citizen for QCHS. When her mother, Dorothy Hayman, was in high school, she, too, was chosen as Good Citizen of her school.

DAR Good Citizen can be a boy or girl, and is chosen on the qualities of leadership, dependability, service and patriotism by the high school faculty.

"I was surprised," said Tracy. "I never even knew what it stood for until I was elected."

Tracy attended a tea and meeting of the DAR with her mother in November where she received a pin and a certificate.

Girls' State Delegate

Lisa Jester was selected by the high school faculty as the delegate to Bluebonnet Girls' State.

Lisa was chosen on basis of citizenship and attended Girls' State in Sequin in June of 1983.

While in Sequin, Lisa was elected to a State committee and received a certificate and a pin of recognition.

"It was wonderful," said Lisa. "The experience of meeting all of those people and learning about government was fascinating."

Girls' State may also be a family tradition in the Jester family. Sandra Jester, Lisa's sister, attended the event in 1978 prior to her Senior year.

Practice Often Makes Perfect

Practice makes perfect.

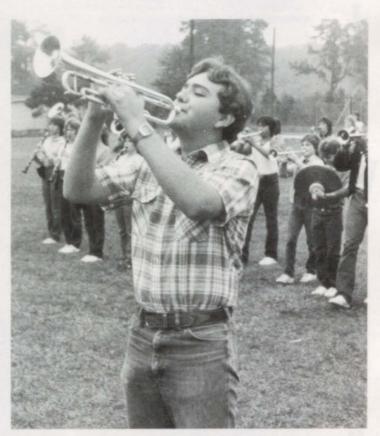

The marching band enjoyed serving as an example of this old saying. With the flag corps practicing all summer and the band starting in August, most band members would still agree that their hours spent were not wasted.

Even after school started the practices didn't become fewer. The band could be seen and heard every morning on the practice field at 8:30 with rolled-up jeans and old shoes to combat the dew still on the grass.

The feeling of pride that swept through the band as it received a standing ovation at the end of a halftime performance probably made every pair of wet socks and shoes worthwhile.

Although the band may easily agree with the old adage about practice making perfection, the varsity football team probably had a little more difficulty in also agreeing.

Though the team members went without a win all season, their dedication to the sport and desire to still have a victory reappeared week after week as they faced yet another opposing team. Their long, hard, extra hours spent on the practice field were evident when they ran on the game field each Friday night with the enthusiasm of a winning team.

Three Make It All The Way

QCHS students won five first place medals and placed in the top three 12 times en route to wining the district academic-literary mett over Daingerfield held March 29 at QCHS.

Journalism students led the QC charge as they racked up 80 of QC's 135 total points.

This was the best UIL season we've had in the six years I've been teaching," journalism advisor Jean Stow said.

The UIL season then continued two weeks after district as nine students traveled to Commerce for the region meet. John Bridges, Jeff Griffin and Laura Nickerson then won the right to advance to state competition by placing in the top three in their respective region contests. Kippie Barnwell placed in a tie for third in the accounting contest, but since this event was a pilot program, no state level competition was held.

At the state meet held April 27, in Austin, Griffin placed fourth in headline writing and Bridges and Nickerson placed fifth in editorial and news writing, respectively.

"This is the first time we've had three state winners in journalism," Stow said, "and I'm extremely pleased about that."

Alternate Slot Goes To One-Act Play Cast

Queen City High School thespians brought home three individual awards as well as the alternate position from the district 14-AAA one-act play competition March 23 at Paul Pewitt performing William Gleason's "Louder, I Can't Hear You."

Randy McCasland won the best actor award in his portrayal of Oscar, the father of the Brown family.

His on-stage wife, Autumn Smith was named as an honorable mention to the all-star cast, and Jeff Griffin was named to the all-star cast for his portrayal of their son, Junior.

All three of the above performers are seniors and, according to Queen City play director Jacky Purtle, will be hard to replace next year.

Comprising the rest of the cast and crew were John Bridges, Robbie Hobbs, Tammy Shelton, Tina Barrington and Lisa Adcock.

"I am so proud of all of them because they've really worked hard for this," Purtle said.

Bark Wins Statewide ILPC Honors

Queen City High School journalists brought home two statewide awards in addition to four other awards from the 57th Interscholastic League Press Conference held March 16-17 in Austin.

Their weekly school newspaper, the Bulldog Bark, which is published every Sunday in the Citizens Journal, won "Tops in Division." This means the Bark was rated better than any other high school newspaper which is published in a local paper.

"Tops in Divison is what we've been shooting for all year," journalism advisor Jean Stow said.

The Bark also received an award of Distinguished Merit, the highest rating a high school paper can receive. Only three other papers in the "local paper" division received this distinction, and this is the fourth consecutive year that the Bark has been given this rating.

Individually, Bark staffers won three awards, and the QCHS yearbook staff won one.

Bark editor John Bridges took first place in the spot news photo category among 3-A schools, and then was awarded Tops in Texas for the same photograph. Tops in Texas means this photo was the best spot news photo in the state, regardless of school size.

This was the only Tops in Texas award won by a 3-A school. The other top awards went to 4-A and 5-A schools.

Bridges and fellow staffer Laura Nickerson teamed up to win third place in the in-depth news-feature category among 3-A schools. Then the yearbook staff took a second place award in advertising for the Citizens Journal's ad in the 1983 QC Bulldog yearbook.

Thriller Theme of Jr.-Sr. Prom

Dead trees adorned with Spanish moss, lightning bolts and a coffin complete with a skeleton and a tombstone were the setting for the 1984 junior-senior prom, "Thriller."

Guests were served punch, cookies, finger sandwiches, chips, dip and cake by sophomore hostesses Amanda Thomas and Lori McDuff.

Cheryl Young and Robert Banks, dancing to the music played by disc jockey John Sheldon, won the dance contest and were awarded t-shirts.

Approximately 77 students and sponsors attended the event.

Athletes Honored

High School Athletes were honored Monday, May 7 at the annual Spring Sports Banquet.

New Athletic Director Maxie Hayes was the speaker and he told the athletes his theory of athletic success - pride, discipline and a positive attitude. "Our greatest threat is lack of pride and discipline," he said.

Awards and 142 letters were handed out by various coaches. Principal Luke Nickerson was master of ceremonies.

Band Goes To Florida

Tornadoes and dust storms didn't stop the two chartered Trailways from reaching their destination, and although the estimated 18 hour drive actually took 23, the Bulldog Band finally made it to Orlando, Fla. on May 3.

The next morning the band was up for breakfast and on the buses by 9:00 to leave for a day at Disneyworld. After visiting Cinderella's castle, riding Space Mountain, and seeing other attractions, tired band members and sponsors went back to the International Inn.

Sea World and the band concert were on the next day's agenda. After playing in the hot sun, members had the balance of the day to tour Sea World and see the shows. That smae night Rosie O'Grady's was the attraction.

The following day everyone repacked their suitcases and left for a full day at Disney World's EPCOT center. After riding through the World of Motion, playing games with computers, and seeing other attractions, members and sponsors boarded the Trailways for the long trip home.

Medicine to Mortician Studied on Career Day

Career day kept students busy for three class periods on March 7 with sessions on topics ranging from medicine to mortician.

Some of the most popular sessions included martial arts, fashion merchandising and journalism.

Danny Shearin, the martial arts speaker, demonstrated techniques such as hanging a board from a rope and kicking it into three pieces. He also "chopped" seven bricks in half with his hand, "I'm glad he didn't use me as an example for the judo roll," said senior Tracy Stovall. "He was tough."

Speaking on fashion merchandising was Katherine Stubbs. She discussed the different aspects of buying clothes from market for a business. "It was pretty interesting," said Tracy Hayman, senior. "I found out some things I didn't know about buying clothes."

Presenting the journalism session was Robert Davis, education reporter for the Texarkana Gazette. He discussed various schools of journalism and career opportunities. Davis also answered questions from the audience. "I really enjoyed it and I'm looking forward to next year," Danny Douglas, freshman journalism student, said.

Senior Kippie Barnwell said, "It was the best career day I've been to since I've been in high school.

Seniors Prepare for Graduation

That last hour felt as if it was growing near by most seniors when they began taking the final steps to make preparations for graduation ceremonies.

Ordering announcements and getting measured for caps and gowns were only a small part of each senior's year. Along with taking care of this business was ordering senior pictures and selling M & M's to finance the senior trip.

Seniors also purchased tassels, name cards and memory books for teachers and friends to sign. The books had enough room to write all of the fashions, fads and favorite music of their senior year, too.

Although it took time and patience to fill out the order forms, it was considered just another yard marker in the countdown to that final hour.

Fin and Feather Site of Sr. Trip

Fin and Feather resort on Lake Tenkiller was the site of the 1984 Senior Class Trip.

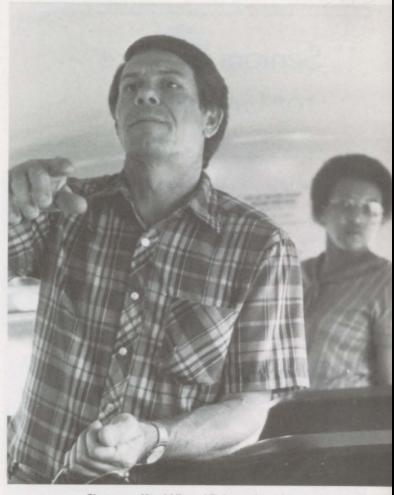

Seniors and Sponsors left for their destination to Gore, Okla, on the morning of May 18. After checking into their cabins that afternoon, they had the choices of a volleyball game, skating, swimming, playing video games, or relaxing in their rooms to occupy their time.

After a buffet meal at the Fin and Feather Restaurant, the Seniors enjoyed a dance and later a movie with students from other schools.

The next morning, Seniors and Sponsors alike were up early preparing for the seven mile canoe trip down the Illinois River. Although te trip got postponed until the afternoon due to rain, the seniors were still looking forward to it. They left at 1 p.m. with sunshine, but while canoeing down the river, it started pouring again.

After returning to the resort and putting on dry clohtes, the Seniors went to another dance and movie.

It rained the next morning and most of the trip home, but it didn't dampen the spirits of the Seniors as they anxiously looked forward to graduation two days later.

Fifty-Nine Graduate

Fifty-nine seniors graduated from Queen City High School Tuesday, May 22, in exercises held at Smith-Wall Stadium.

Keynote speaker DeLorias Milam encouraged the graduates to pick goals and strive for them in her graduation address.

Valedictorian John Bridges told his classmates that every generation has faced challenges.

"To another generation it was a World War, and to another, an unsettled peace," Bridges said. "In the 60s our parents witnessed a massive upheaval in the traditional values of society and the 70s brough about an unsettling change in our economy. The 1980s are no different; they too present challenges. But the major difference is that we are the generation who is to be challenged."

Bridges encouraged his classmates to be positive, to be educationally up-to-date, to be responsible.

"The highest honor that we could pay those who have loved and nurtured us is to dedicate ourselves to the virtues of honesty, integrity, thrift, hard work and personal excellence."

Salutatorian Kippie Barnwell read a poem written for the occasion.

"It's been real and it's been fun/but to tell you the truth, I'm glad it's done," Barnwell's opening stanza read.

School's Journey Both Smooth, Bumpy

There is a child in everyone's heart reaching out to understand life and anxiously looking to the future. As we journey through school, the road is both smooth and bumpy. Yet our desire to complete school and walk across the stage with a diploma in our hand encourages us to make the road through school enjoyable.

School is where the people know us best, care for us the most, and miss us when we are gone. Our families also feel this way, but many students spend more time at school than at home.

Although we often have problems in class, the counsel of good friends, good teachers, and good families help us realize that we do have brains. The learning process which occurs daily at Queen City is just another brick in the road leading to our future and success.

The students are involved in almost every aspect of school during their twelve years of learning and growing. Teachers and families are involved too, but their connections to the activities are through the students. They help us in our journey through school, but mainly, they watch us grow from the sidelines.

Seniors Break 12-Year Habit

Warning!

The Surgeon General has found that attending school for long periods of time can be habit-forming. No group can testify to this more than the seniors.

For 12 years they've gotten up about the same time every morning, driven the same route to school each day and have rushed into the building trying to get to class before the dreaded tardy bell rings. Twelve years of the same routine can be a hard habit to break.

When they received their diplomas late in May, it was time finally time to break that habit. It was also time to loosen some of the bonds that developed over the years.

It was also a time to meet their futures face to face. They had to decide just what they would do in the years to come.

Of course, their decisions were not easy ones to make, but it was a little easier since they did have 12 years of schooling behind them.

Seniors Must Decide

How many decisions can there be to make? The Seniors found that there was a constant demand to make decisions, many of which would affect the rest of their lives.

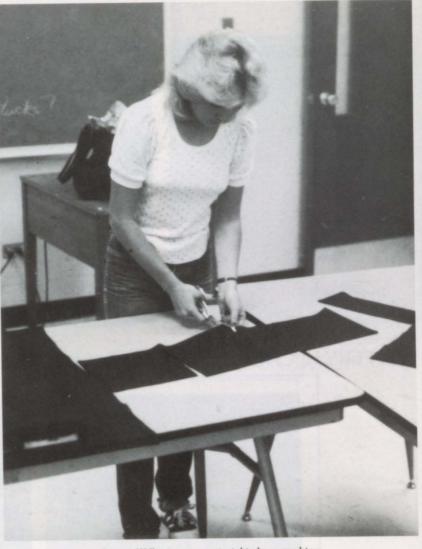

Where will we go to college? Or will we go to college? Are we going to work all summer and prepare for our futures? Or are we going to be lazy and go to the lake everyday?

These decisions may have been easy for some and difficult for others, yet we all learned responsibility - to make a commitment and keep it, no matter how much time and dedication it required.

Being A Junior Time For Fun

The junior class had its share of fun as many of its members participated in the different clubs and organizations.

Several juniors served on the student council, others served as officers for clubs or organizations.

The juniors joined in the fun of dress up days and class competition.

The juniors also worked on a fund raiser. To start off raising money for their senior trip, the juniors sold Christmas ornaments.

An annual event the juniors also enjoyed was ordering their class rings and then awaiting their arrival.

Sophomore Life Its Work, But Fun

The life of a Sophomore is a lot of hard work but it's also a lot of fun. After a long and fun-filled weekend has gone by, Monday comes too soon. A long day of assignments and other activities has already been planned out.

After second period, they already know what kind of day it

- classwork: sheet; homework, page 292-93, 1-36.

English — classwork: do spelling words and sentences; homework: finish sentences and read 100 pages in your novel.

World Geography - classwork: three study sheets; homework: study for Chapter 5 test.

Biology - classwork: type blood; homework: chapter 10 and 11 notes and work on heredity reports.

Lunch is about the only time one can really talk about things with friends. "Doug and I went to Texarkana. Then we came back to Queen City and went to Skateworld and then to the Dairy Queen," a sophomore might say. Then the rest of the conversation is gossip.

After five days of straight homework, its the weekend again and the routine starts over.

The sophomore class won the spirit stick for being the most spirited class during football season. They also donated the most canned goods during a canned goods donation project sponsored by the Student Council in December.

Freshman Life Is New, Scary

Meeting new friends, taking new courses and being scared to death are just a few of the things freshman experience when moving from jr. high to high school.

The first day is the worst. You arrive extra early to make an entrance, only to discover that the upperclassmen get there just before the tardy bell rings.

So much for your big entrance. You proceed to look for your classrooms. This should be easy enough, right? Not without your schedule. After dumping your purse out on a table in search of it, you remember you left it at home on your TV.

You go to the office, (to get another schedule), and hear the seniors planning, "Be cruel to Freshman Week."

You try not to think about how hard those senior rings can be and how it'll feel to bow down to a senior.

If you're in band, then school started three weeks ago for you. After all of those hours of marching, you've gotten to know most of the upperclassmen pretty well. You've picked your favorites and the seniors have picked their "peons." Don't let them fool you though, peon means slave, not "be-

Commencement Held Thursday, May 24

The middle school commencement exercises were held Thursday, May 24, in the elementary school cafetorium.

Following the procession played by Terry McAlexander, the invocation was given by Laurie Cruson.

The class song was sung preceding the salutatory address given by Belinda Jones.

Diana Mouser then gave the valedictory speech, and Supt. A. C. Newsome awarded diplomas to the graduates.

Honor graduates, in addition to Mouser and Jones, included Laurie Cruson, Heather Thurman, Karen Winberly, Rene Healan, Dana Russell, Marty Lawrence, Catherine Finley, John Tilmon, Dan Parr, and Sherri Savage.

Belinda Jones, Laurie Cruson, and Sherri Savage prepare to receive their diplomas at the Junior High Graduation.

Eighth graders anxiously await the presentation of their diplomas.

Clubs Lead Students In Positive Direction

For some it was band or student council. For others, it was a sport or two. At times we were worn down, but we always struggled to keep a constant pace.

Participants discovered a non-stop will that kept us going in a positive direction.

We practiced whenever and wherever possible — always moving forward. The mental concentration and physical abuse reached new heights. We were all striving for a similiar goal — personal and overall perfection; to be better than ever before.

There were others, of course, who chose to be less involved in school. There were the ones who played the part of the dedicated employees. They worked long hours, received slave pay, but nevertheless, had a good time.

Still there were times when no one could be categorized. The times were those when we all gathered for a celebration, for a special picture, or for the lack of anything better to do.

On occasions like these, we learned about each other, we grew together, we made memories, and we enjoyed the year from the sidelines.

New Constitution Written By Council

Organizing homecoming, changing the Bulldog sign, selling Val-O-Grams, and writing its own constitution were just a few activities of the student council this year.

"We're a student government that tries to get the student body involved in various fun and worthwhile projects," council president Kippie Barnwell said.

The student council's main goal this year was to get an active council going so it will become a major part of the student body in future years, according to Barnwell.

At the end of the year, the council organized elections for new officers for next year and helped get the new group organized.

Journalism Consists of Bark, Yearbook

The Journalism Department consists of the Bark Staff and the Yearbook Staff. Both have won awards at ILPC meets and have worked hard to make the Yearbook and the Bulldog Bark the best that they can be.

The Journalism staffs went to see the Citizens Journal printed at the Caddo Citizen Print Shop in Vivian, La. during the school year. This showed the Bark Staff how their part of the Citizens Journal is printed.

The Bark staff also competed in and won two practice meets this year - one in Sulphur Springs and one at Paris Junior College.

Editors of the Bark are John Bridges, with Laura Nickerson serving as assistant editor.

Editors of the Yearbook are Tracy Hayman and Hondo Stovall. Journalism instructor is Jean Stow.

Enjoying themselves after the field trip are John Bridges, Tracy Hayman, Terry McAlexander, Mary Alexander, Karen Steward, Henri Jo Velekei, Dottie Allen, Carrie Dee Moore, Tonya May and Julie Mayo.

Touring the Caddo Citizen Offset where the Citizens Journal and Bulldog Bark are printed are Carrie Dee Moore, Tracy Davis, Beverly Hollis, Darlene Finley, John Bridges, Henri Jo Velekei, George Bridges, Danny Douglas and Tina Barrington.

Quill and Scroll Now In Third Year

Quill and Scroll is an international honorary society for high school journalists and the Queen City chapter is currently in its third year.

Students must be juniors or seniors to be eligible for membership. They also must be in the upper third of their class, and have done superior work in some phase of journalism, and be recommended by the school's journalism advisor.

The QC chapter currently has 16 members, eight of whom are on the yearbook staff and eight on the Bark Staff.

John Bridges is president, and Honda Stovall serves as vice-president.

Sponsor of the group is Jean Stow.

Bark Staffers Publish School News Weekly

Every week, Bulldog Bark staffers write, edit and publish the school paper which appears in the Sunday edition of the Citizens Journal.

Seeing staff members running around looking for ideas and trying to interview sources just hours before their Wednesday deadline, it's pretty easy to surmise that from Monday 'til deadline, life for Bark reporters can be quite hectic.

For their efforts, the staffers brought home number of awards from the Interscholastic League Press Conference which was held in Austin in March.

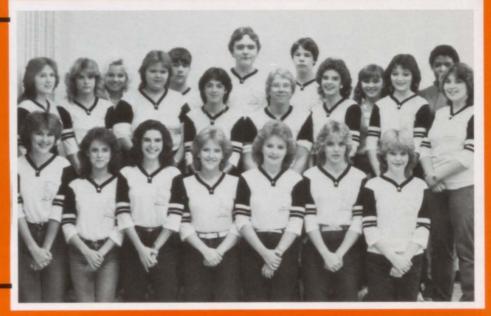

Needless to say, sophomore George Bridges enjoys his position on the Bark Staff.

Editor John Bridges and assistant editor Laura Nickerso edit a story by a Bark staffer before the final copy is sent t the presses for the next edition of the paper.

Reflecting Year Is Staff's Job

The purpose of the yearbook staff is to produce a yearbook that reflects the activities and spirit of the school year.

A theme is created by the nine-person staff and developed throughout the book.

Staff members are eligible to compete for Interscholastic League Press Conference awards and for membership in Quill and Scroll, the national honorary society for high school journalism students.

The nine members were selected from recommendations from the faculty on basis of trustworthiness, dependability and grades.

Editors are Tracy Hayman and Honda Stovall and the advisor is Jean Stow.

Activities Begin With Installation

FHA members started off their activities with an installation of officers and new members in September.

FHAers attended the State Fair in Dallas on Oct.

In November FHAers along with FFAers held a country auction and a stew cook-off. They also helped raise money for Cystic Fibrosis by selling ballons at the Cullen Baker Fair.

FHAers raised money for Toys for Tots in December. They also sponsored a demonstration which was entitled "Christmas All Around The House."

They attended the area meet at Tyler Junior College on Feb. 10.

February 12-19 was National FHA Week, which was also observed locally.

FHA sponsors are Pam Shirley and Shirley Washington.

Greenhands Learn What FFA Is About

Learning to become proper future farmers is what the Greenhand Chapter of the Future Farmers of America is all about.

Parliamentary procedure, the rules and guidelines on all degrees of FFA, mechanics, and cattle judging are also a part of being a Greenhand.

They competed in local meets in quiz and conducting contests. At the Houston Livestock Show and Rodeo, Greenhand competed in dairy judging.

This is where all true Future Farmers start.

FFA Competes, Sponsors Auction

The Chapter Farmer degree is the second degree in the Future Farmers of America.

Chapter farmers competed in quiz and conducting contests and some attended the Houston Livestock Show and Rodeos. They competed in the poultry show and livestock judging competition.

The FFA sponsored a country auction to raise money for an agriculture scholarship. This year they raised $5,000 for this cause.

There was also an ag banquet. Here, all recognition and award giving was done.

This is only a step in the process of becoming a proper Future Farmer.

Hard Work Pays

Hard work not only paid off for the band by earning a trip to Florida, it also earned many members chairs in the All-District, All-Senior and Four-States Honor Bands.

Making the All-District band were Becky Stewart, Sharon McGee, Honda Stovall, Donna Jones, Kippie Barnwell and Debra Jones.

Seated in the All-Senior Honor band held at East Texas State University were Laura Buzbee, Donna Jones, Kippie Barnwell and Debra Jones.

Those making the Four-States Honor band were Jeff Griffin and Laura Buzbee in the jazz band; Kippie Barnwell, Donna Jones and Debra Jones in the symphonic band; and Lisa Jester and Rob Rankin in the concert band.

All Three Judges Rate Band No. 1

"Straight ones! We finally did it!" For the first time in history of the marching band, they received first division ratings from all three judges at the UIL Marching Contest in Longview.

Not only did the Bulldog Band succeed at UIL, they also received straight ones at the Ashdown Invitational Contest. Along with the band receiving ones, Drum Major Terry McAlexander, the flag corps and the percussion section also received top ratings in Ashdown.

The band also competed in the Four States Invitational Marching Contest held in Texarkana prior to both other contests. Although the band as a whole received a second division rating, the flag corps won "Outstanding Auxiliary" for the second consecutive year.

Even though most fans probably do not think of halftime at football games as being a contest, most band members do. They feel as if they're competing against the opposing team's band for the unspoken award of winning the halftime, and as far as Terry McAlexander, drum major, is concerned, "We won every one."

Cheerleaders Fight for Worthy Cause

The 1983-84 varsity cheerleaders and pep squad fought long and hard for a worthy cause - The spirit of our team, fans, and school.

Cheerleaders and pep squad enjoyed some activities they sponsored, such as two dress up days, several class competitions and weekly pep rallies.

Although it seems the cheerleaders receive all the glory, the pep squad played a big role in this year's school pep as they put goodies in the player's lockers and helped the cheerleaders decorate the gymnasium for each Friday's festivities.

Just as the mighty Bulldog teams never gave up, the cheerleaders and pep squad never said "die" either.

The cheerleaders put away the uniforms on dress-up day and led the pep rally wearing their unusual costumes.

Helping to build up the spirit are members of the pep squad as well as other students.

Pep squad members clap to the beat of a performance by the band.

Pyramids were just some of the stunts the cheerleaders performed to get the Bulldog spirit across.

Jr. High Pep Rallies Now in Second Year

Although this was only the second year for junior high pep rallies to be in existence, the cheerleaders came up with many good ideas to entertain the student body and boost spirit for the football teams.

Along with skits, cheers and chants, were performances by the pep squad and songs played by the band.

This was the first year for the band and pep squad to actively participate in the pep rallies. Les Pack was the band director and Arla Kay Hines and Charlie Ruth Richardson were the pep squad sponsors.

Members of the junior high pep squad include Becca Wood, Rene Healan, Laurie Cruson, Diane Thornberry, Tammy Carroll, Michelle Couglas, Johnna Greene, Dee Dee Hipp and Wendy Barnwell Also, Leanne Velekei, Terri Blaylock, Jennifer Corban, Elizabeth Blaylock, Tracy Arterbury, Debbie Perkins, Leanna Whatley and Chrissy Benson.

Woodworking Means Working on Projects

Shelves, clocks, bread boxes and other various things made from wood may all be seen in the woodworking shop.

Woodworking I, II and III are offered as electives and taught by Kenneth Mills. Students are required to complete a number of projects and can also work on their own projects at their own pace.

Three class periods offer Woodworking I and it seems to be popular. "When I first got in the class," said senior Carla Teague, "I didn't think I'd like it, but I really enjoy it a lot."

Drafting is also taught by Mills. This class provides instruction and information on technical drafting techniques from fundamental skills to computer graphics. It is intended to help the students develop basic drafting skills as well as the advanced techniques used by industry.

Band Presents Concert

Outstanding band students were announced Tuesday, May 15, at the annual Spring Concert.

Rob Rankin, who was chosen by high school band members, received the John Phillip Sousa award.

Winning the eighth grade outstanding band student award was Catherine Finley and Lori Easley received the seventh grade honor.

In the beginner's sixth grade band, Kristen Tarver was announced as the outstanding member.

All three bands played several selections for a packed house.

Work, School Part of DECA

DECA is a club in which students work while going to school and still receive credits. The club has taken part in many fund raising activities including rose and carnation sales and stuffed animal sales for Valentine's Day. It also sponsored a Christmas door decorating contest entitled DECA THE HALLS."

Members of DECA competed at the Piney Woods Divi-sion Practice Meet held in Longview, at the Kilgore College. The positions and names of the winners are Lisa Jester, first in Petroleum Marketing; Will Hill, third in Business Management; Wayne Durmon, fifth in Advertising; and Derek Hutchison, Janet Huddleston and Darlene Stover, second, third, and fourth respectively, in Pre-Employment

Top winners from the practice meet went to the area Career Development Conference held in Dallas. There they competed with all students from Area 2. Winners at this conference include Rob Rankin, Entrepeneurship Series; Wayne Durmon, Advertising Series; Derek Hutchison, Pre-Employment Lab; and Will Hill, Loretta Barrett, Bettie Parris, Kathy Dunlap and Sandra Owens in display

The state Career Development Conference was held in San Antonio. Attending this conference were Loretta Barrett, Wayne Durmon, Will Hill, Derek Hutchison and Rob Rankin. One state winner evolved here. Will Hill took second place with an automotive accessories display. Chaperoning all events was Becky Collom, sponsor.

OEA officers are Bernice Gamble, vicepresident; Alphonso Blaylock, reporter; Carolyn Lightsey, historian; Tracy Hayman, secretary; Stacy Merritt, treasurer; Diana Woodruff, student council representative; Marie Banks, president; and Shirley Braudaway, parliamentarian.

Roberta Hagan enjoys teaching her business classes.

Business Department Grows to Fit Needs

With the addition of two Commodore CB word processors, the business department expanded to meet even more of the students needs.

Primarily using the new learning aids were members of Roberta Hagan's Vocational Office Education I and II

In addition to her VOE courses, Hagen also instructs two typing and two accounting courses as well as serving as the head of the business department.

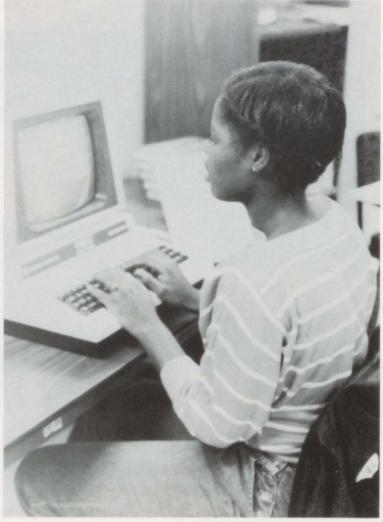

Her VOE classes also make up the membership of the local Office Education Association chapter. To be admitted to OEA, the students must first be enrolled in VOE classes.

In VOE students are prepared for entry level office jobs. Students work on improving their typing skills, and they learn to operate calculators, transcribing machines, stencil duplicators, electronic typewriters, and this year, word

Accounting students learn the complete accounting cycle from recording the opening entry to the preparation of the financial statements at the end of the fiscal period.

In the two typing classes, students are taught the master key locations and learn correct typing techniques and how to type letters and manuscripts to improve their speed and number of errors.

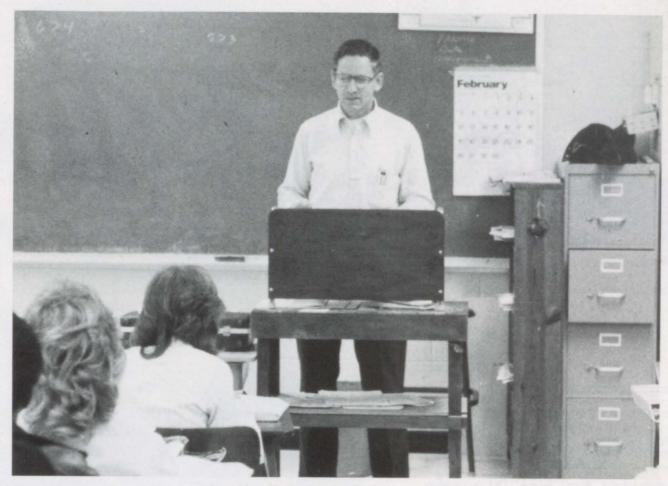

In shorthand, which is taught by Lyn Farless, students learn the basics of shorthand in the first semester and try to master transcribing and build speed during the second semester.

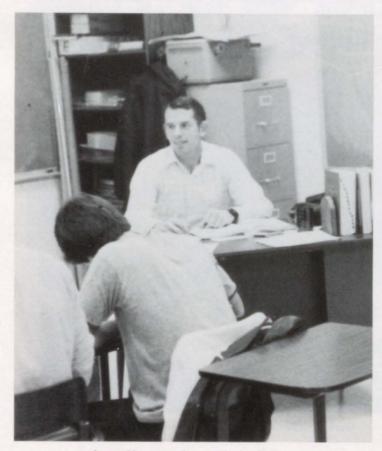

Carolyn Lightsey learns to use one of the new Commodore CB word processors.

Working on her VOE assignment is Tonya Hamilton.

Larry Hagan lectures to one of his geometry classes.

Lonny Hagan teaches an Algebra II class.

Senior John Bridges works on a computer program.

Linda Mills teaches fundamentals of math, introduction to algebra and business math.

Eight Maths Taught

Many different math classes are taught at QCHS, both required and elective courses. Coach Lonny Hagan teaches Fundamentals of Math II, geometry, and Algebra I and II.

Linda Mills teaches FOM I, Introductory to Algebra, FOM II, and business math class, while Gary Upchurch teaches computer math.

FOM I and II are merely the basics of math that people use in everyday life.

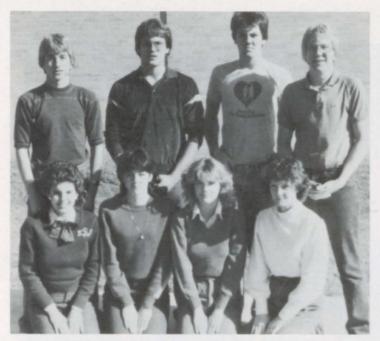

Algebra I and II deal with basics of polynomial manipulation, and use of radicals as well as quadratic functions, while computer math introduces the student to the world of computers, with a short history of them and operation of Apple computers with programming in microsoft basics.

Geometry deals with the fundamentals of circles, proofs, equivalents, and many other methods to find the right angles to difficult problems in math.

Business math is a course that teaches the math required in businesses, much like accounting.

Working hard on their assignment are freshmen in Linda Mills' class.

Science club officers are front row, Karen Reardon, secretary; Laura Nickerson, reporter; Charlotte Barrett, Student Council representative; Georgianna Jones, program chairperson; back row, Kevin Gerber, treasurer; Troy Ashmore, president; Michael Boules, Student Council representative; and John Bridges, vice president.

Sophomore Karen Reardon tastes litmus paper in a biology experiment.

Field Trips Part of Science Dept.

Purpose of the science club is to make money for lab equipment and to go on field trips of scientific interest. Any student currently enrolled in a science class and passing all classes is eligible for membership.

Physical science and biology are the only two required sciences for graduation, but physics and chemistry are offered every other year as electives. This was the year for chemistry to be offered.

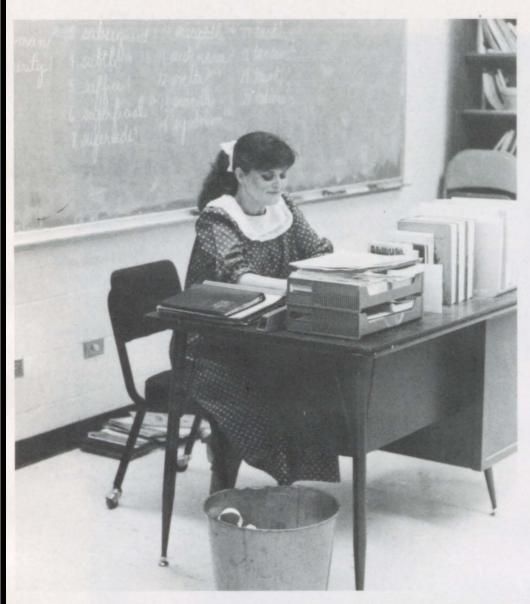

Studied in physical science are matter, atoms, molecules and forms of energy. Teaching these courses are Larry Parnell and Martin Bass.

Biology is the study of living things and students of these classes are required to complete various projects such as leaf collections and flower collections. Delores Hendrick and John Briscoe teach these courses.

In chemistry the students study elements, atoms and gas laws. Hendrick teaches this class.

Working hard on his lab experiment is junior Chris Jones.

Karen Steward, sophomore, recites her required speech from Julius Caesar in Lynn Farless' English II class.

Jacky Purtle enjoys reading one of the stories that her English students are required to write using ten of their vocabulary words.

Lyn Farless grades her English classes test papers.

English Covers Grammar, Novels

For graduation three years of English are required, along with English IV as an elective.

English I, taught by Debra Crawford, covers basic grammar, with spelling and vocabulary tests each week. Students are required to read six novels during the year. Literature, short stories, drama and poetry are covered. This year one of the dramas covered was "Romeo and Juliet". The students also worked on poetry notebooks along with keeping a journal.

English II, taught by Lyn Farless, is a class that stresses the fundamentals of grammar, the eight parts of speech and good sentence structure. A novel or book report is assigned each six weeks. "Julius Caesar," a film seen by the class, was one of the main dramas focused on this year, along with critical reviews given on biographies and autobiographies presented by each individual person.

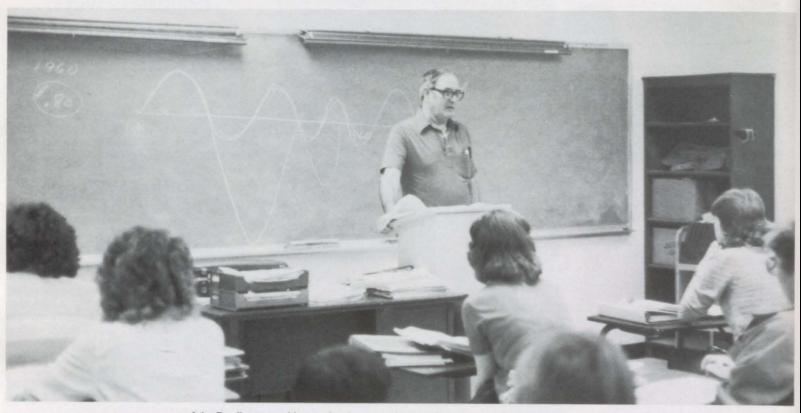

Jacky Purtle, who teaches English III and IV, places emphasis on literature and grammar, along with novels. Research papers were written by both English III and IV students on a number of topics. English IV, while not required now, may be next year.

English students take the TABS test.

Three Teach Social Studies

Students are required to complete three years of social studies in order to graduate.

American History is taught by John Prudhomme. This subject covers the history of America and how it came about, from the Civil War until present time.

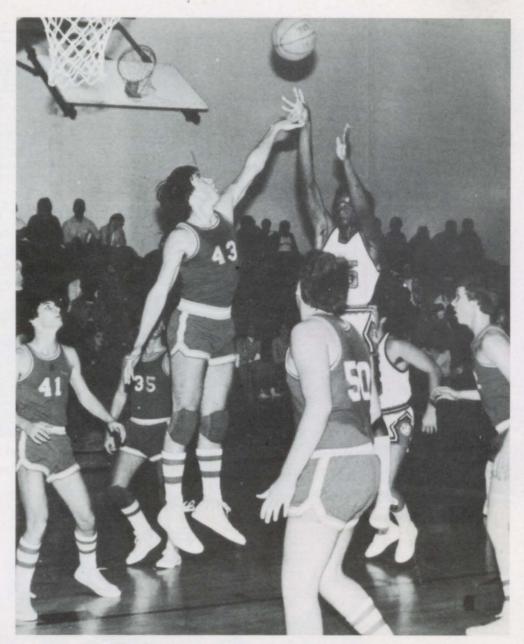

Donna Bird teaches, world history and world geography. In world history students cover ancient civilizations through modern times, while world geography covers different people of the world and where they live.

Government classes are taught by Jean Stow. This class deals with the study of our nation's government, how it works, the history of it, its branches of government, state, and local governments and how all of this came about. The classes also studied states and their capitals.

The students listen as John Prudhomme explains the day's assignment.

SPORTS

Darrell Geralds, Doyle Potts and Tracy Stovall try for a rebound along with two players from Hooks.

Non-Quitting Athletes Demonstrate Courage

Although our athletes often dreaded the long grueling workouts and sometimes even the games that they knew would be almost impossible to win, they never gave up.

They may not have won all of the games, or may even have lost by a long way, but still they displayed courage in every sport.

Along with the determined athletes came the coaches. If the coaches had given up, it would have been easy for the players to do the same. But with a lot of hope for a winning season, our coaches worked just as hard as the athletes.

Other schools in this area often consider us to be extremely weak, but the determination of our athletes and coaches prove us to be strong. It takes just as much courage to accept a loss, as it does to win every game.

Although our win-loss records may have shown us to have had "losing" seasons, our enthusiasm and pride should have been proof to everyone that we are competitors. Having the courage to be that, makes us a winning team. We are strong in every sport, and not just viewing other schools from the sidelines.

Record Doesn't Tell Whole Story

1983-84 Varsity football team finished the season with a record 0-10, but their record doesn't tell the whole story.

"This year has taught them to never give up and to keep on trying," Larry Hagan, head coach and athletic director, said.

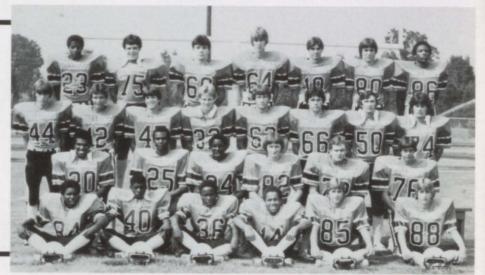

Although this wasn't a winning season the Bulldogs accomplished something most teams spend years trying to do. They learned what it's going to take to live in the real world, according to Hagan.

"Next year I'll know what it's going to take to win. We've already accomplished the hardest part," said junior, Chris Jones. "In time we'll master it all."

Football coaches are Andy Farless, Martin Bass, Danny Henderson, Larry Parnell, Larry Hagan, John Briscoe and Lonny Hagan

JV Football Has Winning Year

The junior varsity football team ended the year with a winning record, and the freshmen team won several games but finished with more losses than wins.

But in the eyes of the coaches, both teams were successful because, "The players on both teams gave their very best at all times," according to coach Larry Hagan.

"No matter what the score of the game was or whether they were ahead or behind, they never gave up," he said. "This is all that can be asked of anyone."

Hagan said that with this attitude, football at QCHS is going to get better and better. "They are successful right now with their attitude, which makes their teams successful regardless of their win-loss record."

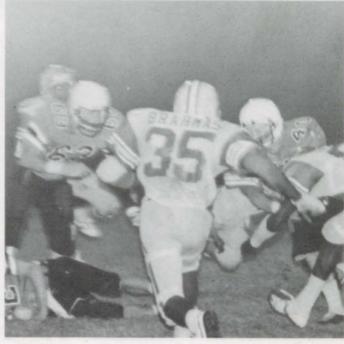

Jerry Childs receives a pass.

Volleyball New to Queen City

Volleyball is new to Queen City, so naturally some didn't know how to take it.

The teams had their "downs and downs," but they learned a lot. The experience and closeness of the team was really the only "up."

Unfortunately, they didn't win a match. They did win a game though.

Coaching the team was Andy Farless.

Paulette Johnson serves against DeKalb.

Basketball Boys Beat Two Teams

Varsity basketball boys had a record of 2-18. Those two games won were against Hooks and Dekalb.

"They were both very close games but we wanted them," said junior player Chris Jones.

This year's team consisted of four seniors, Tommy Cullins, Doyle Potts, Tracy Stovall and Kelley Mills; three juniors, Michael Epps, Chris Jones and Darrell Geralds; and one sophomore, Scott Solley.

Solley stopped, Hooks' top scorer, one of the best in the district, from scoring more than four points.

Seniors this year contributed greatly to the team. "These guys hadn't played basketball in years, but seeing them this year you'd say that they had," said Coach John Briscoe.

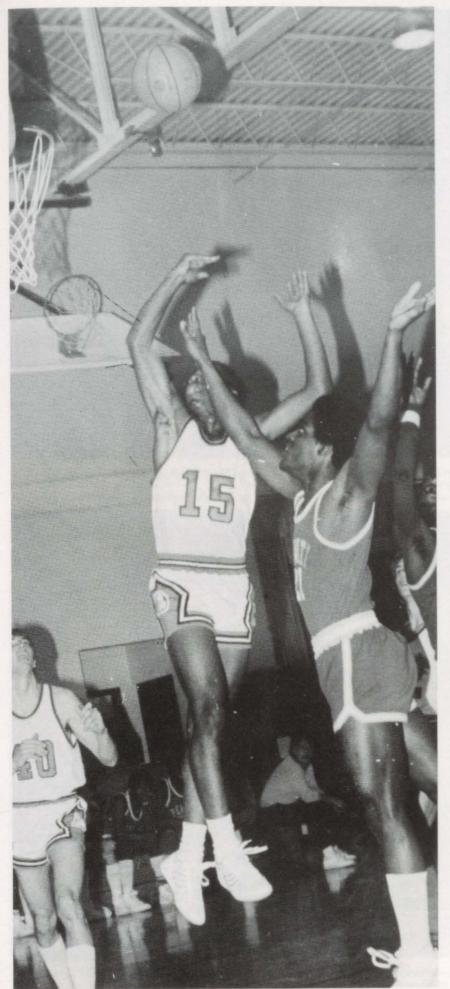

"Even though things seemed pretty rough at times, the senior stuck in there and pushed the rest of us," said Michael Epps.

Jones, Potts and Cullins lead the team in rebounds.

According to Coach Briscoe, "There should be a big difference in the boys next year, more competitive spirits and better attitudes about the program."

Varsity Girls Rank Fourth

Varsity basketball girls finished the year ranking fourth in the district with a record of 11-15.

The team was lead by one senior, Autumn Smith, who received honorable mention in the past All-District elections.

Others who received honors were Laura Nickerson and Donna Beard, both juniors, who were chosen for first team All-District.

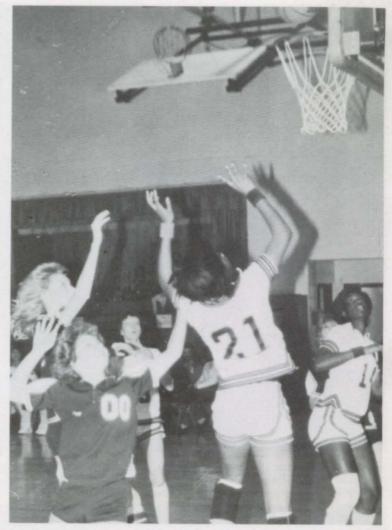

Beverly Hollis, sophomore, Cheryl Young, junior, and Georgiana Jones, junior, were chosen honorable mentions.

This year girls' baketball teams consisted of one freshman, Stephanie Hollis; two sophomores, Beverly Hollis, Paulette Johnson; five juniors, Laura Nickerson, Donna Beard, Tharessa James, Tammy Shelton, and Lisa Adcock; and one senior, Autumn Smith.

"We were really a young team this year but next year I'll have more leadership," said John Briscoe, boys' and girls' coach.

According to the team there are no longer chumps in Queen City. It's champs now. They've proved that with what they have put out in sports this year.

"Next year we'll be ready for what ever comes our way," said Beverly Hollis. "After all, have you ever known a champ to turn down a challenge?"

Laura Nickerson, Cheryl Young and Georgianna Jones get ready for the rebound.

Girls Track Third In District

Girls' track team finished third in district with six qualifying for regional and one going on to state.

The six competing in the regional meet were Cheryl Young, Marilyn Childs, Georgianna Jones, Tharessa James, Paula Young, and Kathy Belford.

Young went on to state and received third. She has qualified for regional three straight years.

"I've worked harder this year than I've ever worked," said Young. "It really paid off."

According to John Briscoe, girl's track coach, this year's tracksters wre much stronger than in the past.

"I hope to see more great seasons in track in the future," said Georgianna Jones. "We've got a lot to grow on."

Cheryl Young strives to beat her competitors at the long jump.

Varsity Baseball Finishes Fourth

Varsity baseball boys finished fourth in conference and had a record of 4-10.

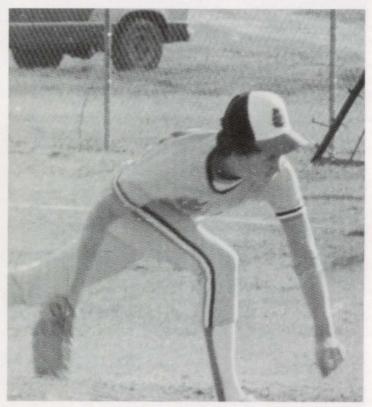

There were four seniors, Mike Moore, Tracy Stovall, Tommy Cullins, and John Coats.

Mike Moore was named most valuable player.

"They're going to be tough to replace," said Coach

According to Bass, the team has got a lot of young people that will step in and help next year.

"This year's team played well, but didn't get the breaks to come out with a winning season," added Bass, "but next year we hope to have that winning season."

Advertisers Make Yearbook Possible

Publishing this yearbook would have been an impossibility had it not been for our advertisers who contributed over half of the needed $10,000 to print it.

Not only do these businesses give financial support to the yearbook, many of them also employ Queen City students or provde places of recreation. These businesses are where we get our hair cut, buy groceries, earn extra money and socialize with our friends.

Some of the owners of these businesses are parents of QC students who also support us by attending our activities and always cheering us on.

To all of these businesses, owners and parents, the yearbook staff and students of Queen City say thank you for buying advertisements to help pay for this book and for always supporting us from the sidelines.

By JOHN BRIDGES

FOR UT ADMISSION

No Hope For Juniors

Queen City juniors probably won't be able to attend the University of Texas at Austin after graduation.
This isn't the result of a new state law, nor is it because of a new clause in the student handbook.
Instead, it's due to the fact that as of 1985 UT will be toughening its admission standards to require prospective students to have completed two years of a foreign language in high school.
Since QC juniors have only one year to take two years of foreign anguage, it is reasonable to assume that none will meet UT's requirements.

Spanish was offered at QCHS up until last year when it was dropped roun the curriculum due to lack of interest.

This year a small amount of interest was exhibited by students, but eachers were needed in the required subjects as again it was not offered. Principal Luke Nickerson said the high school will try to have Spanish eat year if interest is shown by enough students.

In addition to helping students at college, Spanish is quickly becoming limost necessary to communicate in this part of the country because the spanish-speaking poulation is steadily growing.

Spanish will no doubt be listed on the choice aheets in the spring, and 's up to students as to whether the course will be offered next year. But even if Spanish is offered next year, it still won't help this year's unions get into UT at Austin.

pear though year though the pear though year though and to catch up." Bird said.

The reason for this problem and others is that only 50 students graduated last spring and 130 freshmen arrived this fall giving the high school a total enrollment of 300—that's 70 mere students bun last year. But what really causes problems is that only 22 teachers are gengloyed this year, whereas 34 were teaching last year.

It's a fact that more than 9 out of every 10 people looking for a home recognize the familiar brown and gold CENTURY 21' sign. lamiliar brown and gold CENTURY 21 Sign.
It is so widely recognized that every day over 1.600 homes are sold by CENTURY 21 people from coast to coast. In 1979 alone, that resulted in a staggering 579,000 closings.
Wouldn't you rather list your house with the organization that more people have put their trust in?

Just call your CENTURY 21 Neighborhood
