Charlotte,
 I haven't really known you for a long time. But I'm glad I got a chance to meet you. You are a real sweet & nice, but ~~crazy~~ person. We only had 1 class together this year but may be next year we will have more.
 C-ya in the summer.
 I'll a great summer
 Love,
 Bini
 Dr. Clair

Charlotte,
 I didn't have the real privilege of meeting you this year, I still think you're one sweet and understanding person.
 Sorry I didn't get next to you this time, but I'll catch up with you later.
 Friends for now - but love always

Read,

This has been a great year for me and knowing you had been a great part of it. There were a lot of things I could say but space is limited, I know we've had our ups and downs but somehow we managed to get over them and come back smiling. I would like to wish you much luck and happiness in the future

Love ya!

Lisa Cleonette '79"

In our years at Texas High, we learned many things besides how to find logarithms, the difference between a participle and a gerund, and the diagonal rule of electron configuration.

We remember learning the value of true friends, the joy of true love, and the pain of growing up.

The friends we made, the good times we had, and many more things go to make up beautiful memories of our years at Texas High. And with memories like these, we'll never be lonely.

Dreams of president materialize

"To accomplish great things we must not only act but also dream; not only plan but also believe."

Julie Reeves, our 1976-77 Student Council President, strove to make each student's dream become a reality.

She made no spectacular changes throughout the year but rather made each activity a little stronger with her support.

Julie attended school board meetings, and selected committees for different school events and helped in the office.

Julie was a member of Future Teachers of America, Allied Youth, Debate Club, National Honor Society and Girl's State.

“Good morning.”

Rob Williams has worked very hard in fulfilling his duties as 1976-77 Student Council Vice-President.

Along with making the morning announcements, Rob changed the marquee, helped with junior rings and senior invitations and also helped Julie in any way he could.

Rob was President of National Honor Society, and a member of Key Club, FCA, and Latin Club.

He was a member of the THS Tiger football team. He loved watching and playing all sports and meeting new people.

Homecoming '77

"Candy Coated Memories" was this year's Homecoming theme. The week long festivities began on Monday with the announcement of Homecoming Royalty. The pep rally was held at Tiger Gym. It was at the pep rally that the Queen and her court were presented. The rest of the festivities were rained out, but it did not dampen the memories.

Editors worked hard to make the year a success

As this year's Tiger yearbook editor, Leslie Brown had the job of organizing the yearbook, assigning pages, choosing the cover design and making sure all deadlines were met. Leslie, along with the rest of the yearbook staff, worked hard to make the yearbook a success.

Boo Mitchell served as the '76-'77 Tiger Times editor. He organized coverage of school news, wrote editorials, directed the staff in design of the cover, and approved headlines and copy written by staff members. Boo was a member of several clubs. He also served on the Student Council and was organizer of the long awaited 42-minute lunch period.

Gymnastics was introduced on a full-scale basis for the first time this year at THS. Coach Guinn was the new coach and he was excellent with the girls and guys on the team.

The school funds bought a trampoline, mats, uneven bars, balance beam, and vault. The equipment was all regulation size.

The team was made up of girls and guys from THS, junior high, and elementary schools. The members worked long and hard hours.

The team practiced after school in the THS gym. Coach Guinn trained them by having them run around the track and by doing warm-up exercises before practice.

Mary McKinney instructed the girls in ballet and dance movements. She assisted Coach Guinn on individual help and worked with groups of girls on these techniques.

Lazy summer days found students everywhere

THS students could be found in various places this summer. The local lakes, skating rink, movie theatres, pizza parlors, shopping centers, and so on. Some students could even be found here at THS during summer school. Others had summer jobs at local area businesses.

The cheerleaders, pep captains, and Trochia attended a workshop at Stephen F. Austin. Four senior girls and four senior boys attended Girls' and Boys' State in Texas cities.

1. Steve Hesley clowns around with Martha Cook at a local pool. 2. Teri Brown and her horse, Honey, enjoy a lazy summer day. 3. Greta Lundgaard, Prissy Steenborg, Ann Burch, Laura Lowe, and Cindy Young at a local motel's pool.

Participants boosted spirit during Spirit Week

The week of September 7-10 was designated as Spirit Week at THS. Students and teachers alike participated in the week long activities during school.

Each day of the week had a special theme. Tuesday was 50's Day, Wednesday was Western Day, Thursday was Witch Day, and Friday was Color Day for spirit.

Many teachers participated in wearing costumes. Western Day was the most popular day. Witch Day produced the strangest and most elaborate costumes.

1. Robin Choate, Carla Cobb and Lori Moody lunch in the school cafeteria during Western Day. 2. Michelle Peek stands bewitchingly by her locker during Witch Day. 3. Mrs. Hubbard wears her western gear on Western Day.

Activities galore filled September's brim

September was the first full month of school. Most students were still getting used to getting up early and homework.

The AHS vs THS game was on the 10th of this month. The annual egg fights took place on the eve of the game. The only bad thing that happened to Texas High was that the tiger on the marquis mysteriously disappeared.

The campus clubs organized during the month, the Four States Fair came, and THS students adjusted to school.

2. FTA members listen attentively to a guest speaker.
3. Pep squad practicing cheers.

October brought happiness and unity to THS

▲1

▲4

October was our Homecoming month. The pep rally was October 28. The queen and her court were presented. The game was the next night and we won. The parade was rained out, but spirits were still up for the dance that night.

The Student Council, THS disc jockeys, and the first report cards appeared for the first time.

1. Spirited pep squad adds pep to the rally. 2. Jana Atchison adds finishing touches to the Rosebud Homecoming float. 3. These Tiger fans faced any weather to see our guys play. 4. The queen, Martha Cook, and the Maid of Honor, Rhonda Penton, reigned over the Homecoming festivities.

November was the month for "Thanksgiving"

Many things happened in November. The days were much cooler. The first quarter ended and we had a three day week. The Thanksgiving holidays also came with another three day week, and students returned anticipating the Christmas holidays.

1. A busy student studies for a final. 2. Melissa Crenshaw feeds the ducks at Springlake Park. 3. Key Club member, Jeff Harlow, helps in locker clean out.

Christmas, peace, and love seemed to ring through the THS halls during this month. It was a good time for brotherhood and unity. Besides, students received a ten day holiday that ran into January. The art students did an extra nice job on the window paintings.

Seniors began their research papers and had their mock convention. Then came the holidays and these hallowed halls were quiet for a short time.

Brotherhood for all thrived during December

1. Santa's elves pass out candy on the last day before the Christmas holidays. 2. Jon Northam participates in the All Language Festival. 3. Dana Knight, Sara Burns, and Natalie Wright admire their new senior rings.

January brought a new and exciting year

Students returned from the holidays, some gladly, some sadly. The hardest freeze that Texarkana had ever known hit the night before classes were begun. Later in the month a snowstorm hit leaving the ground covered with about five inches of the white blanket and students had a day off.

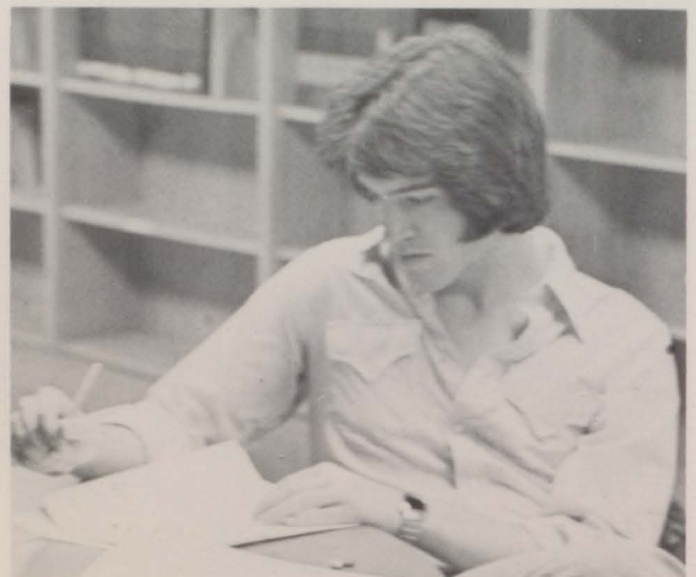

The United States saw the inauguration of a new president and a new administration for the people of this country.

1. Students enjoy the snow. 2. Clyde Washington "preaches" to his Bible mini-course class while Sonja Walker and Vicki Sanders look on. 3. Hoby Beasley works on his research paper rough draft. 4. Mr. Nance "hitches" Kari Kennedy and David Bailes at the Sadie Hawkins dance in January.

The sweetest month of the year came to THS. Valentine's Day made love blossom here and the AY Club sold their carnations once more. The Rosebud Dance was held and the school sweethearts were presented at this social.

The last of the yearbook was sent in for final printing. Many clubs took trips and attended contests. The second quarter ended meaning only one remained.

Loving memories blossomed during February

Pep rallies helped prompt spirit for THS

Thursday night at 7:00 was pep rally time. The stands were almost always filled. The band played "b-o-o-g-i-e" sounds and the stands rocked with students. The cheerleaders led cheers, presented skits, and danced. The pep squad kept spirit alive and their yelling could be heard outside the gym.

The Awskys added cheer to school functions

Senior male students made up this on-campus organization. Their purpose was to try to add cheer and life to the school activities.

They attended all sports activities, pep rallies, and dances. They were active in clubs and school functions. They were also active in the community. Their meeting nights were Fridays and Saturdays. Their usual meeting place was the Safeway parking lot or some other public place, where the public was welcomed. Although it was not an organized club, the Awskys had officers:

President, Scott Crowe; 1st vice-president, Keith Henry; 2nd vice-president, Jimmy Link; 3rd vice-president, Tom Young; secretary, Jeff Elliot; treasurer, Jeff Harlow; parliamentarian, Jay Patterson; sergeant-at-arms, Tim McMichael; historian, Bobby Brosin; refreshment chairman, Robert Bunch; assistant refreshment chairman, Mark Icenhower; advisor, Mike Calhoun; committee leaders, Hoby Beasley, Jon Northam, and Joe Knight; and critic, Jerry Erie.

"Parlez-vous français" and more was learned

French classes this year were taught customs and helpful items that the French use. In class, the students learned to tell time, shake hands, and speak the language. They studied from workbooks, tapes, films, and headsets. Marc Junet, from Geneva, Switzerland visited the classes often to tell them about the customs he knew.

Se habla español aquí

"Uno, dos, tres, cuatro . . ." were a part of every Spanish I and Spanish II class.

Spanish I students were concerned with forming a basic Spanish vocabulary along with conjugating verbs.

Spanish II worked on dialogues and studied to build their vocabulary. They also worked on verb conjugations as well as increased their hearing, speaking, reading and writing skills. They also listened to tapes and worked with filmstrips.

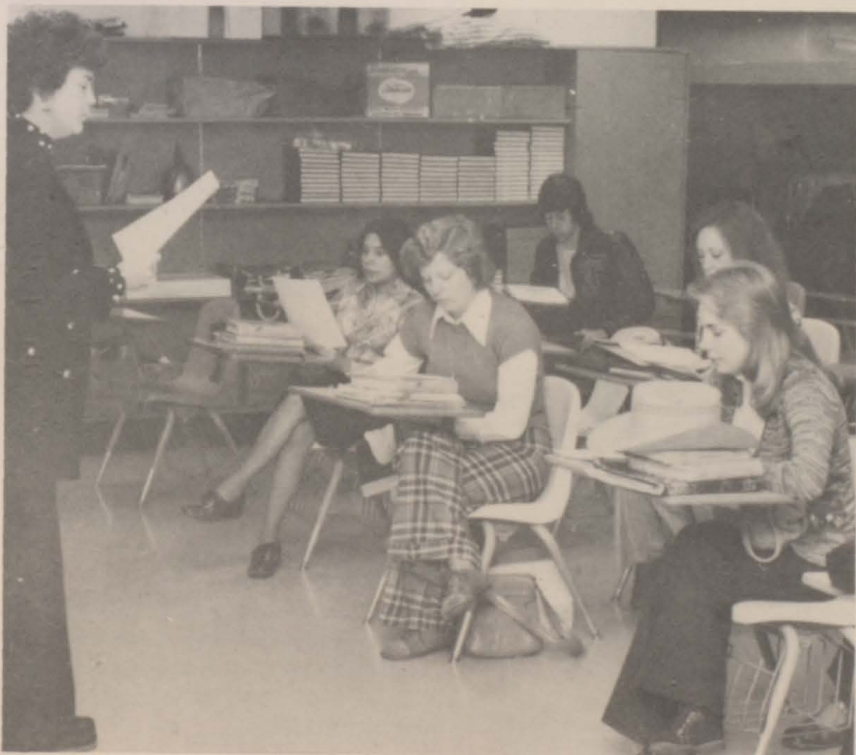

Spanish III continued to expand their range of oral and written expression and increased their skills of listening comprehension and correct pronunciation. They also studied letter writing in Spanish, which consisted of writing pen pals from South America.

Guten Tag! Wie geht's?

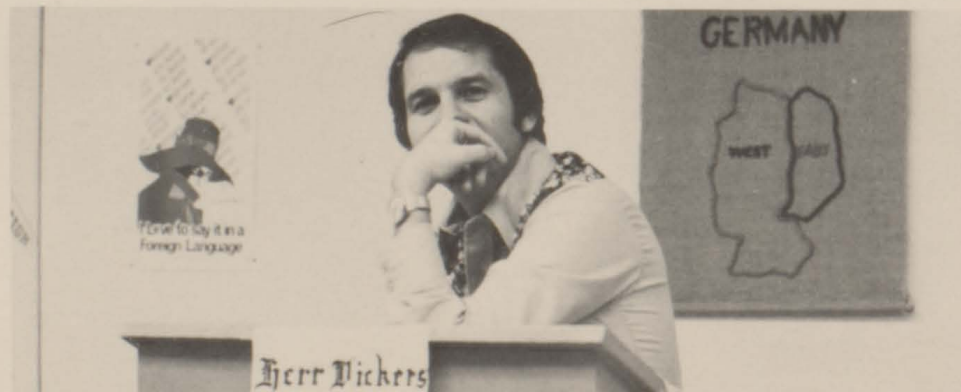

Those were the sounds of German heard most throughout the corridors at THS. Students eagerly learned new dialogues and structure, as well as slang expressions, in order to communicate better in their choice of foreign languages, German.

"'Ubungstag'" was a favorite day of German students. This was a day during which they played games, sang songs, and generally had a good time while practicing their German.

The German classes were especially fortunate this year to have exchange students from Germany for the first time. They were invaluable in aiding students to learn more about Germany, its people, its customs, and its language.

Latin — a basic part of English language

▲3

1. Junior Terry Schestead studies in Latin class. 2. Mrs. Hamilton addresses her Latin II class. 3. Paul Turner, Rob Williams and Nina Alexander study Latin III together.

Latin, taught by Mrs. M. Hamilton, helped many students in their English classes. Although Latin is considered a dead language, it is recognized as the basis for our English language. It is alive and well here at T.H.S.

First year students learned vocabulary words and constructions. Second and third year students studied Caesar's Gallic Wars, Cupid, Psyche, Cicero and Ovid.

Speech students learned new techniques

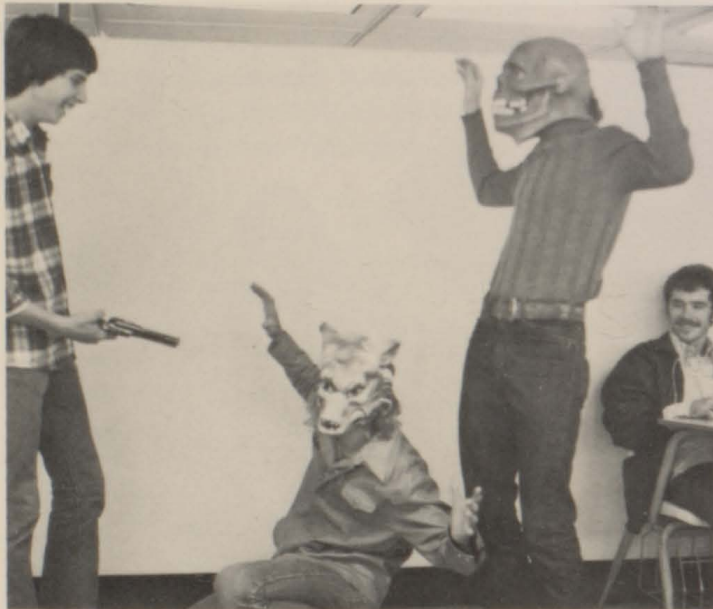

Learning to write different types of speeches was the main part of Speech I and II.

Third year students learned more about speech writings and presenting their skits and many other things.

Speech IV, actually our T.H.S. debate team, debated on national issues. They went to competitions and also held a speech festival here at school.

Drama students increased their acting ability

▲1

1. Mr. Thomas has a very interested look on his face in drama class. 2. Donna Lafferty reflects on the lecture she is being given. 3. Deana Lafferty and Les Richey are doing a drama skit.

Drama students learned the arts and trades of acting, make-up and all kinds of back stage work.

Drama I did the basics of monologues, and memorized speeches. They also did pantomimes, and put make-up on their partners in class.

Drama II students helped the juniors on their junior play during the first quarter of school.

More than better reading taught in labwork

Students learned to comprehend better by using little film projectors called controlled readers. They increased their vocabulary by using word clue books. Each morning they had a warm-up called tach-x. They also increased their hearing by using headsets. A fun aspect was called cycling. This was where each student got to use all of the materials at least once a week. All students got a free day in which they could do any labwork they enjoyed.

Journalism students kept up with the news

Beginners of journalism started the year out by studying the newspaper and their textbook.

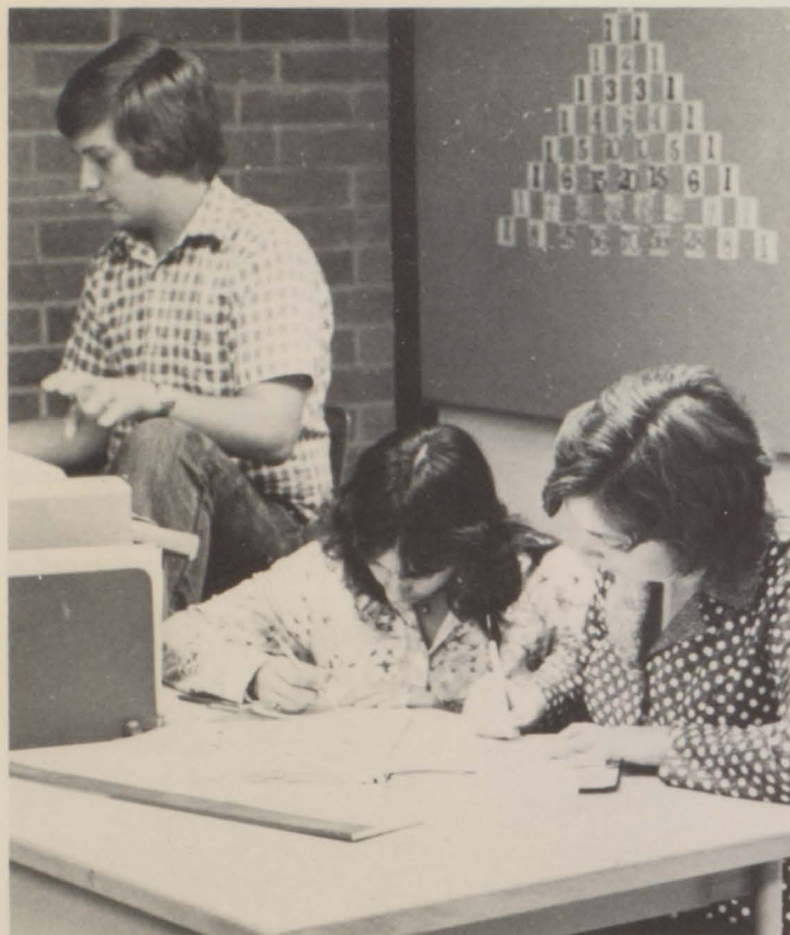

As second quarter began, first year students learned the different steps to make a newspaper. First year students prepared themselves for positions on next year's newspaper staff.

Journalism II did the bi-weekly paper. They spent many hard hours during the year taking pictures, writing copy and meeting their deadlines.

Their main objective was to keep the student body informed on what was happening around T.H.S.

1. Cheryl Thorn reflects on what she has read. 2. Senior, Mark Icenhower, reads the morning newspaper. 3. Soph., David Nobles, studies the news of the day. 4. Mrs. Eulamae Moore instructs a journalism class.

Many branches of mathematics were offered

Students took math courses for many reasons. Some studied to prepare for college or a future career. Others took courses to obtain credits toward graduation, but few studied for fun.

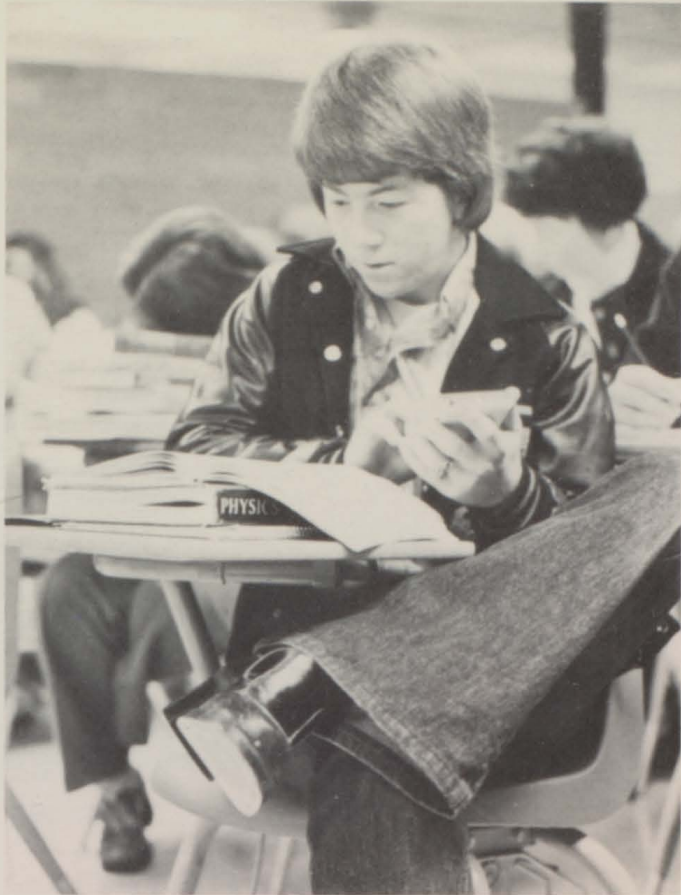

Math Department offered such courses as fundamentals of math, algebra, introductory algebra I and II, consumer math, geometry, trigonometry, analysis, or calculus.

The main objective of this year was to offer a wide variety to meet each student's need.

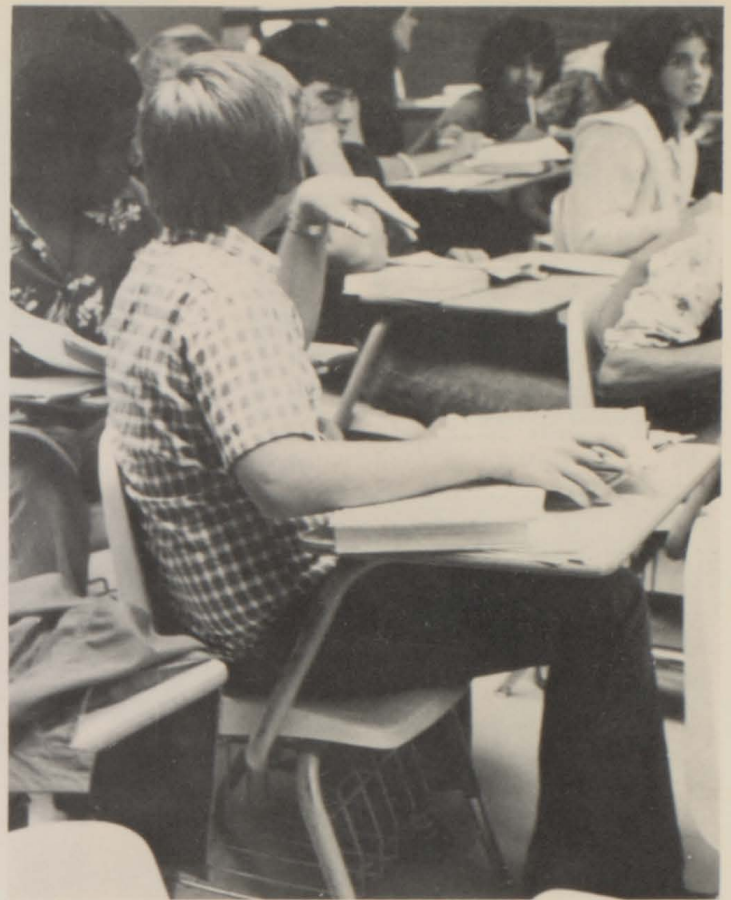

1. David Ward checks homework while Mrs. Hutson helps Julia Foster in Algebra I. 2. Paul Turner enjoys trig class. 3. Mr. Barnes demonstrates points of an angle.

Science classes observed and experimented

Although students all around the world agree on man's species as being "homo sapiens," very few have the same ideas about the origin of man.

Just as there are many different opinions about man's origin, Texas High has many science classes.

Physical science, taught by Mr. Moore and Mr. Crawford is the study of matter and energy.

Biology I taught by Mr. Jones, Mr. Reynolds, Mr. Schelkopf, and Mrs. Bratton is the study of plants and animals.

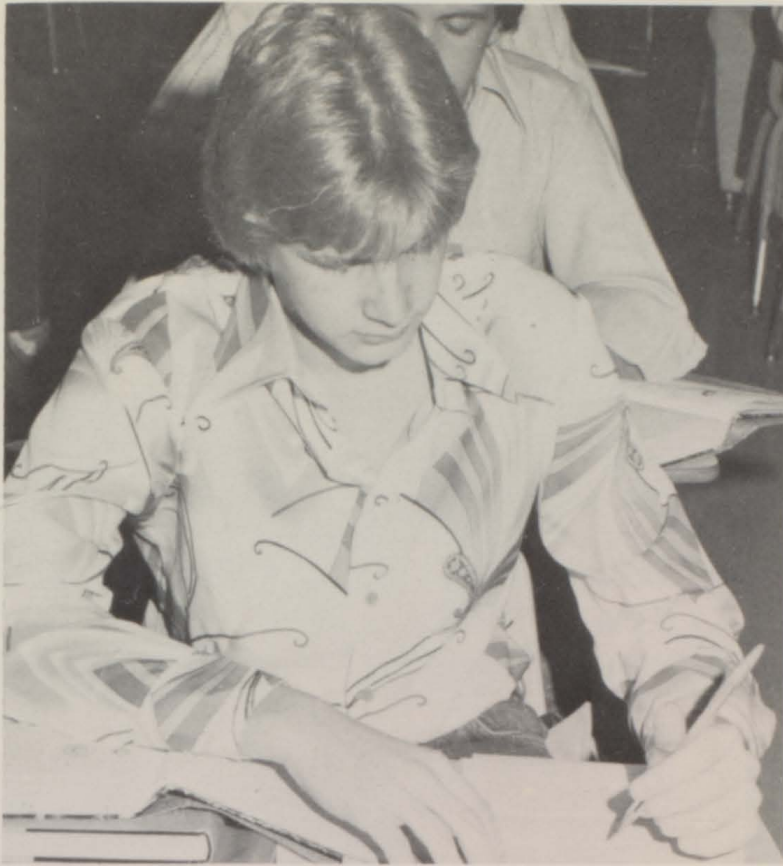

Chemistry I, taught by Mr. Crawford, is the study of composition and properties of substance.

Biology II, taught by Mr. Reynolds, is a deeper study of plants and animals.

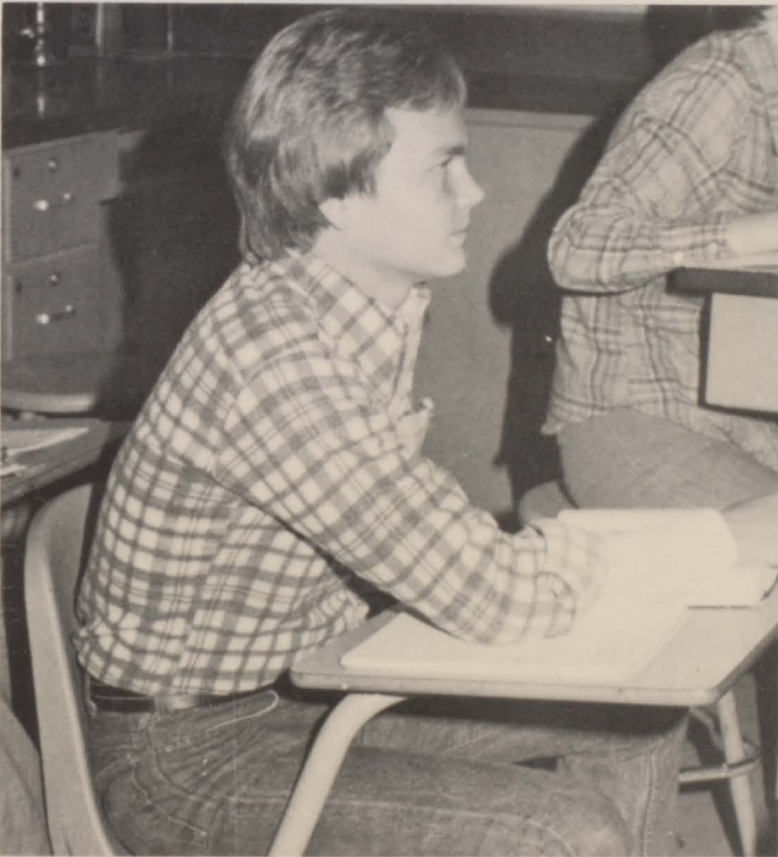

Advanced science, taught by Mr. Schelkopf, is an in depth study of college chemistry.

1. Chaula Rana and Debbie Stewart listen to Mr. Reynolds in Biology II. 2. Tom Young and Jon Northan experiment in Biology II. 3. Mr. Crawford addresses his class. 4. Tracy Bishkin and Suzanne White study chemistry problems. 5. Gary Watson studies in chemistry. 6. Randy Sutton studies during chemistry class. 7. Scott Wilson listens in his chemistry class. 8. Senior Joe Knight works hard in his science class.

Patriotism thrived in American history study

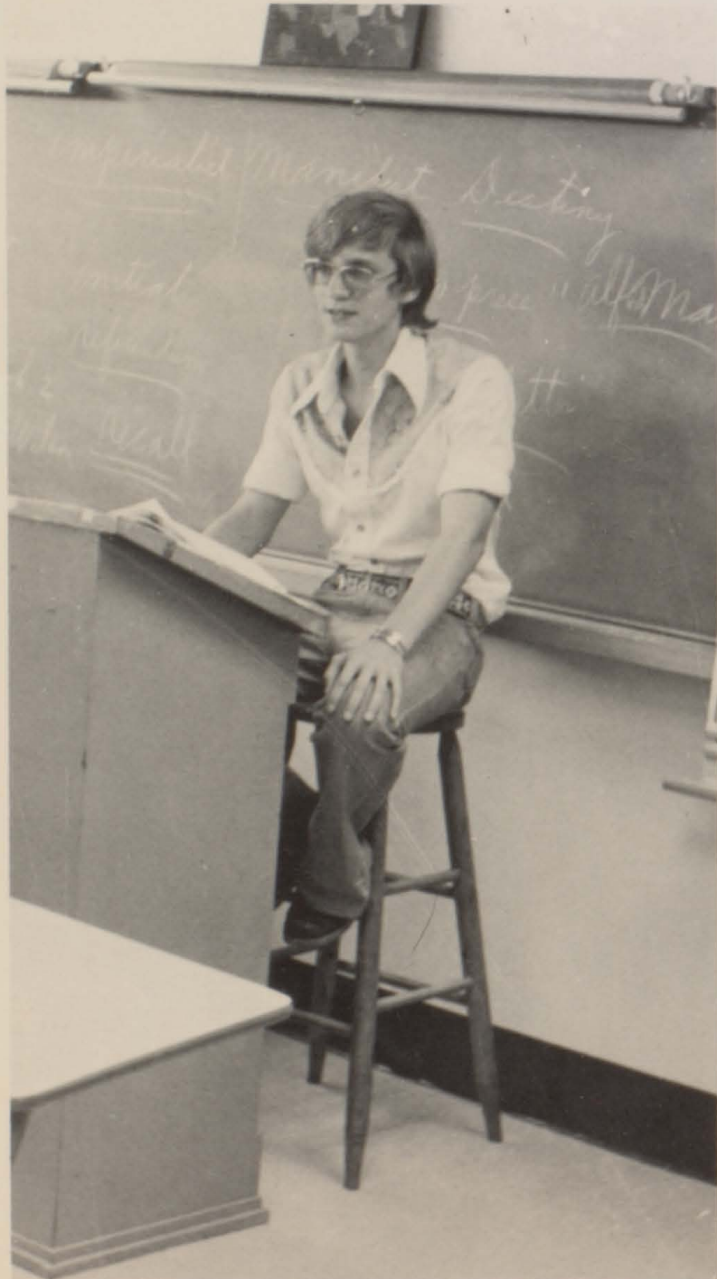

American history classes began the year fighting the Civil War. They spent the first six weeks on this study and they also did special projects.

Special films and games made the year's work go faster. Sing alongs and comedy films and fun games that taught history were enjoyed by students.

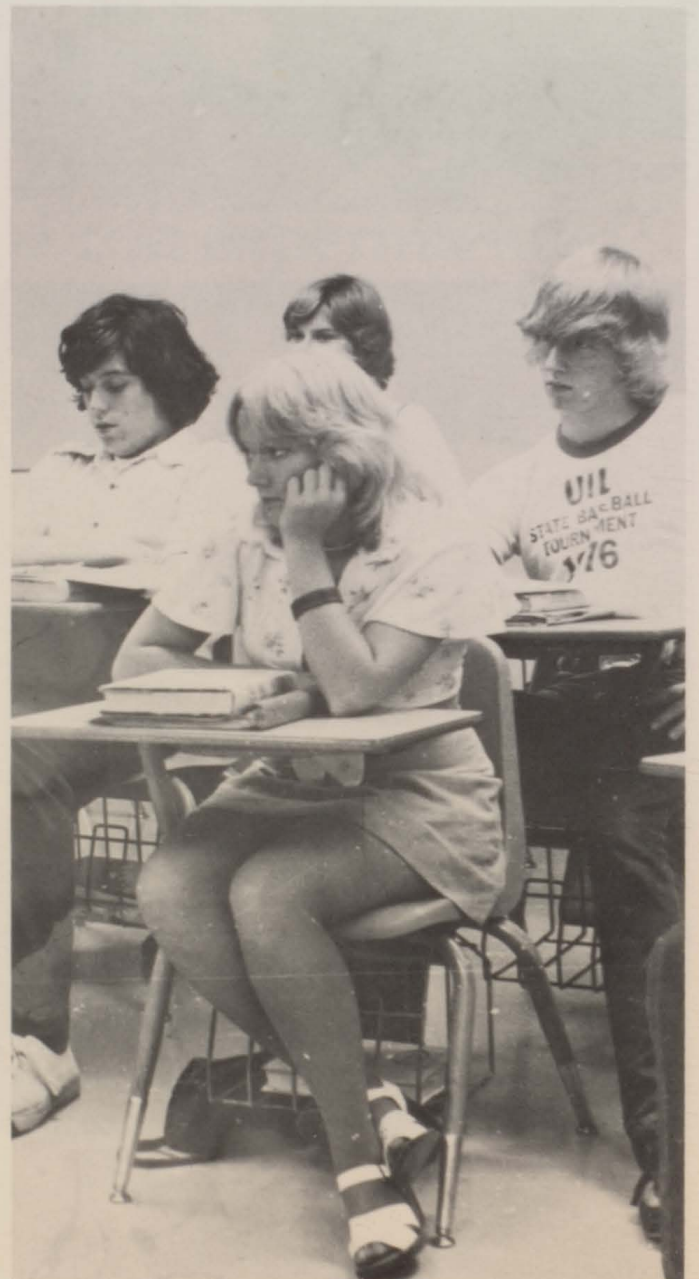

In all of the classes, the importance of patriotism was stressed as was taking pride in what America has become in these past two hundred years.

Debbie Weeks, Roland Turner, Jerry Blake and Steve Williams listen attentively to Mr. Miller's lecture. 5. Marc Junet, from Geneva, Switzerland, reads a report to his class. 6. Leslie Duclos works on her American history worksheets.

Students learned skills of business

The many different courses in business which were taught at Texas High this year were recording, bookkeeping, shorthand, typing I and II, business management, general business, data processing and office machinery. Typing teachers were Mrs. Portwood, Mrs. Nolte, Mr. Moore, Mrs. Mosely, and Mrs. Gillean.

The students in these classes learned many useful things in each of these studies. They discovered useful tricks and retained valuable knowledge.

Auto mechanics taught a skill

Auto mechanics students studied the intricacies of car engines and the skills required to work with them. First and second year students learned about automobiles in classroom instruction and they also worked on cars and overhauled engines. Their goal was an understanding of the working parts of the auto. They worked on various makes of cars to gain experience for their chosen profession.

Radio and TV developed workmanship

Radio and TV classes helped students develop the skills needed to enter employment in the field of radio and TV repair. They worked on ways that radio and TV sets could be repaired and what the cost would be. In this three hour course, the students used testing machines to find problems in sets to be repaired.

1. This is a tape player? 2. Lynn Parsons experiments with the dual-trace oscilloscope. 3. Dave Easton works on his tape player with the help of Mr. Murphy. 4. Mr. Murphy instructs Dave Easton and Mike Burnett on reading a schematic.

Students planned and constructed a frame house

Students in Building Trades learned carpentry skills under the instruction of Mr. E. Bell. They designed and built a four room house. They drew up the house plans, built scale models, and then proceeded with their construction project. The house was paneled inside and completely wired by the students. At the end of the year, the house was sold.

1. Allen Keele, Don Strong work skillfully on a scale model house built to their specifications. 2. Earl Marshall, Allen Keele, Michael Daniels, Bobby Walker listen attentively to safety instruction by Mr. Bell.

This year in Mechanical Drawing, students learned to plan and draw blueprints for future houses or other buildings.

First year students were taught the full history of mechanical drawing. They also tried to perfect their lettering and measuring of blueprints.

Second year students studied drawing perfect plans for houses and completing detailed architectural layouts. Using their knowledge and experiences from their first year, second year students each completed a project.

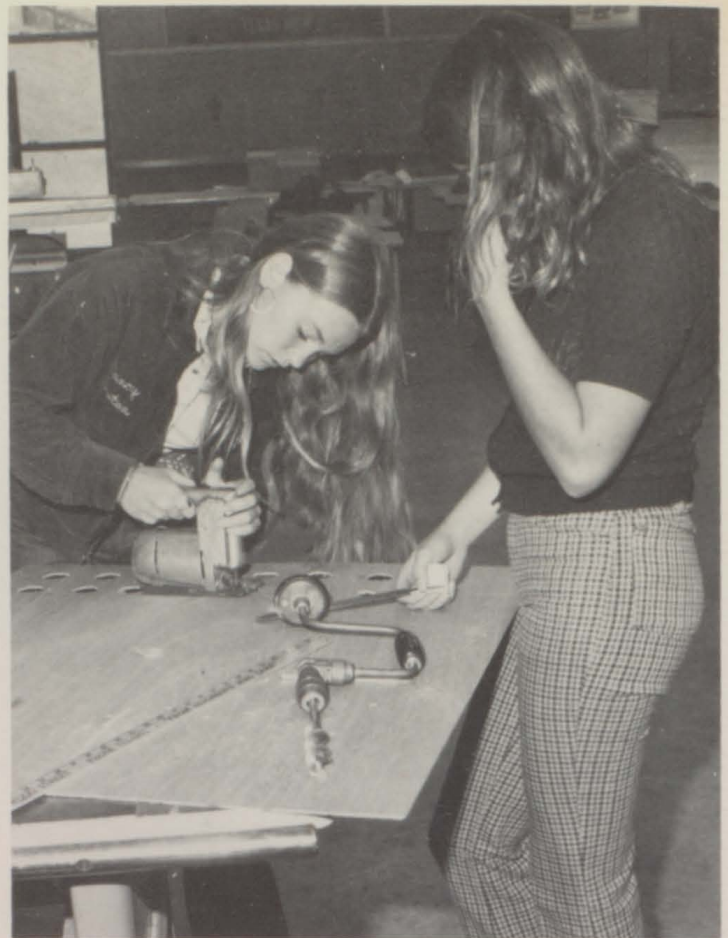

Industrial drawing and geometric designs were also studied by students.

Mechanical drawing students planned houses

1. Lester Sindsor studies plans and makes calculations. 2. Mr. Brock watches as students draw plans.

1. Stan Griffin welds an iron pipe.
2. Nancy Newton and Kim DeSellum operate a table saw.
3. Sophomore Mark Hess uses the welding equipment.

Agriculture students prepared fair exhibits

This year in Agriculture the students learned to operate many different machines such as table saws and welding equipment. Many students went to the fair to participate in the horse and cattle shows and the rodeo. Many ribbons were won. Each student was required to have a project, such as a calf or rabbit or other farm animal, for the fair. The animals were exhibited in Old MacDonald's Barnyard at the fair and were taken care of by the students who worked very hard every day. The teachers of Agriculture were Mr. Finley, Mr. Hammond and Mr. Duncan. The students often held barbeques and rodeos out at Mr. Duncan's farm.

Students had greenhouse classroom

In Horticulture, students learned to manage a greenhouse and care for plants. Repotting and transplanting flowers and bushes, and the proper feeding and watering of different types of plants were also studied. Students also learned plant science, including the structure and systems of a plant.

Floral arrangements and hanging baskets were prepared as gifts for each season. The teacher, Mr. Hammond, assisted by his students, managed the greenhouse.

1. David Horrocks adjusts the wires of a hanging basket. 2. Duane Short wrestles with a tough root. 3. Dolly Howard and Cindy Bass hang a fern basket.

Seniors received beauty licenses

Students in cosmetology strove to become good beauticians. The course was offered to juniors and seniors only. They took the course for three hours a day.

Juniors learned to give haircuts, facials and permwaves by experimenting on each other as well as on mannequins.

Tigerland Beauty Salon, which was open to the public every Wednesday night, gave seniors the needed experience to prepare them as future beauticians.

At the end of the year, the seniors travelled to Austin for state board exams. Upon passing of the state test, students were given operator's licenses.

Homemaking students learned to manage a home

In Homemaking, students were taught cooking, sewing, running an efficient home, child care and meal planning. Students were encouraged to be original in their sewing and many of their projects were entered in competition. Cooking was done often and entire meals were prepared. These were eaten by the students. Each student was required to have a special project which was entirely at home.

Creativity stressed in art

Establishing a better acquaintance between young people and various forms of art was the main objective of art.

Students were exposed to as many types of art as possible such as drawing, painting, ceramics, jewelry and sculpture.

Art I, II, III and IV were the classes offered at THS. Each year it became a little more difficult and yet students obtained a little more freedom.

Choir presented songs for all

Various members of A Cappella choir participated in the District tryouts. Those who won District were able to try out for All-Region. They then went to All-Area and All-State.

They also chose solo music to participate in the UIL, solo and ensemble contests, where they were rated on individual singing ability.

Driver's Education was filled with students eager to learn the rules for driving. Each student spent thirty-four hours in the classroom, studying the rules for driving. Eleven days were spent with driving simulators after which the written test was taken. Upon passing of the tests, students received a permit which enabled them to drive with a licensed driver over eighteen.

They had three hours of actual behind the wheel driving. Four students out of each period drove with Mr. Davis for approximately two weeks. Upon completion, students took the actual driving test given by the Texas Department of Public Safety. If the test was passed, they received their operator's license enabling them to drive when and wherever they pleased.

Students practiced driving

1. Kay Abney appears to enjoy the simulators. 2. Steve Dickson pays attention to his acceleration. 3. David Crain seems to find the simulators easy.

Library used microfiche for the first time

Along with the many reference materials used in the library this year, there was the microfiche reader. The 4x6 negative, containing greatly reduced copies of magazine pages, was placed in the microfiche reader and read or projected onto a screen. The microfiche readers were cheaper than bound volumes and took up much less space.

The library was open every Tuesday and Thursday night. Students could come to make up tests, study, and do research. The English mini-courses were also held in the library.

Students received job training

In the classes of the Vocational Adjustment Program, the students were exposed to the wide variety of jobs which are available, how to get a job, and how to keep it. They also learned skills which are needed for everyday living. Then the students worked in the community and on campus part-time or full-time. These jobs were chosen to match the individual skills and interests. This job training provided credit for graduation.

Tigerettes

spirit

Tigerettes played a big part in our school spirit. They cheered at pep rallies, home games, and out of town games. For the first time, the pep squad obtained chartered buses for the first out of town game of the season.

Each week of football season the pep squad sold ribbons, bumper stickers and hats. They also came to school on Sundays to decorate for the following week to boost our Tiger spirit.

Sponsor for the Tigerettes was Mrs. Nancy Tullos. The captains and lieutenants taught the 137 girls the words to cheers along with the correct motions and were also able to arrange the pep squad into the "T" formation for the opening ceremonies before each home game.

The 1976-77 Texas High Pep Squad was:

Tiger Band strove to achieve and was rewarded with success

Mr. Bob Ingram led the Tiger Band to a 1 in marching contest.

"It took a lot of hard work," stated the band members. "But, we made a 1 and three 1's at that."

The Tiger Band started practicing during the summer. After school started, they had section rehearsals every Monday and Tuesday, and full band rehearsal on Thursday.

The Band served as pep squad on some of the out of town games. "They have a lot of spirit," stated the cheerleaders, "and we're proud of them."

Bi-Weekly publishing an eight to ten page newspaper to keep students up to date on Tiger events was the goal of the '77 Tiger Times staff.

The Times usually consisted of letters to the editor, THS classroom comedies and specials that ranged from album write-ups to pictures of the latest on campus styles.

Leading this year's staff of '77 members was editor Boo Mitchell and sponsor Mrs. E. Moore.
